NO POWER TO ACT.

Miss Cunningham Wins Her Fight Before Judge Murphy.

CONTEMPT CASES HANDLED.

The Court Concedes a Point as Regards Doctor Cheney.

EFFORTS AT IMPEACHMENT.

Mrs. Crossett Challenged as to Her Street Car Journey.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8.—Judge Murphy today decided that he had no power to punish Miss Carrie Cunningham, a newspaper reporter, for contempt of court.

During the trial of the Durrant case last week Miss Cunningham was called to the stand by the defense and asked to tell where she obtained certain information relative to Mrs. Leak's testimony.

When Miss Cunningham first refused to answer the question Judge Murphy announced that he would send her to prison for contempt of court, but today decided that he had not the power.

He said the defense had no right to ask the question as it could not impeach Mrs. Leak's testimony.

The court also reversed the ruling made last week by which the defense was deprived of the opportunity of asking Dr. Cheney if he was not positive in his own mind that Durrant attended the lecture at Cooper Medical College on April 3rd.

The court said that while he believed the question was objectionable, as it called for the opinion of a witness, he would permit Dr. Cheney to answer it, as he desired to err on the side of the defense if he erred at all.

Dr. Cheney will be recalled to the stand today.

The defense this morning continued the calling of witnesses to show the previous good reputation of Durrant.

When Dr. Cheney took the stand the defense declined to ask the questions formally ruled out by the court.

An effort was made to impeach the testimony of Mrs. Crossett by calling to the stand Leonard Everett, a boy, who told how long it took him to ride on the street car from Sacramento and Walnut streets to Twenty-second and Valencia streets.

The purpose of the testimony was to show that Mrs. Crossett could not have made the trip between the two points on the afternoon of April 3rd, when she swore she saw Durrant and Blanche Lamont in the time given by the witness.

Everett's testimony was corroborated by Marvin Curtis.

KELLOGG'S CASE.

The Ex-Railroad Detective Secures a Reduction of His Bail.

Ex-Railroad Detective George H. Kellogg was in Judge Frick's court today for arraignment on a charge of compounding a felony, as indicted by the grand jury. Kellogg was under $4000 bonds but his attorney succeeded in having that figure lowered to $2500, which sum Kellogg says he can secure sureties. The case was continued until next Monday when Kellogg will be called upon to plead.

A TART REPLY.

Councilman Manuel Makes a Reopnse to "Old Pard."

Manuel and Bassett propose to make the meeting of the City Council tonight a lively one.

"I intend to answer tonight the attacks he has been making on me," said Manuel, "but I have nothing to say outside. He knows that when he says Pardee wrote, or had any hand in writing, the speech I made Saturday night that it is not true. What I said about his not owning a dollar's worth of stock at the present time in the so-called Davie ferry I can prove if it becomes necessary and I don't know that he ever owned a cent's worth of stock in it anyway. I dislike to fight him for when one fights such a mean despicable piece of humanity as Bassett it only brings one down to a level with him."

Bassett is rather quick to retort and he will not let remarks derogatory to himself pass unchallenged.

CUPID SHOT TWICE.

Joe Dieves and Son Will Both Be Married This Afternoon.

Joseph P. Dieves, the proprietor of the Three Mile House on the San Leandro road, will be married this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock to Miss Lillie Plitt, the youngest daughter of the owner of Plittsville Park. Their love affair has been noticed for some time and the announcement of their marriage was not unexpected. Their love laughs at difference in ages for though Mr. Dieves has turned forty-eight and Miss Plitt is but twenty-two, they are as fond of each other as a school boy and girl. The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride's parents and about fifty of their most intimate friends have been invited to be present.

The paternal example set by Dieves senior has been followed by his son Charles Isaac. When he learned that his father was about to become a benedict he rushed to the county clerk's office to join him in leaving a life of celebacy. A license was issued for Charles Isaac Dieves, aged 22, and Irene Lizzie Robb, aged 22, both of Oakland, and a quiet wedding this afternoon will keep Charlie abreast of his dad in matrimonial matters.

TRYING TECHNICALITIES.

Auditor Myron Whidden Well Primed for His Defense.

Some of the Grounds on Which He Will Oppose the Indictments.

Auditor Myron Whidden will give the courts an opportunity to test the legality of the methods by which he was recently indicted by the grand jury. The question has been raised by his attorneys, A. A. Moore and Geo. De Golia, as to the regularity of the proceedings which were followed in his case. Besides the many technical points which will be brought up in the motion to quash and set aside the indictments, Whidden will fall back upon the constitutional prerogative that a person charged with crime can not be compelled to give evidence against himself.

Today in Judge Frick's court Attorney De Golia presented an elaborately prepared motion accompanied by an affidavit from Whidden. These will be used as the basis of argument to be made within a short time.

The motion to set aside the indictment is based on a number of technical grounds. Among them are the following:

First—That the indictment was not found nor endorsed and presented in a manner prescribed by law.

Second—That the names of the witnesses examined before the grand jury, or whose depositions may have been read before them are not inserted at the foot of the indictment or endorsed thereon.

Third—That persons were permitted to be present during the session of the grand jury and when the charge embraced in the indictment was under consideration other than those permitted to be present under the law.

The motion sets forth that Whidden was not permitted the privilege of challenging the jury, or any member of the jury. That will cut an important figure in the proceedings, as the charge is made that in each of the grand jurors there existed a state of mind on his part in reference to the case of Whidden which prevented him from acting impartially and without prejudice to substantial rights of the defendant.

Whidden sets up also the plea that he had not been held to answer before the grand jury or any court and was not charged with any crime when he was subpoenaed to testify before the grand jury. He declares he was not informed that any criminal charge was pending against him. He claims that he was compelled to testify, despite his constitutional privilege.

Attorney De Golia stated that the entire grand jury would be subpoenaed with numerous other witnesses to give evidence in support of the motion to quash the indictment. Only one bill has been selected upon which to proceed. Action upon that will decide the fate of the entire number.

A FATAL STABBING.

Two Laborers Quarrel in a Marysville Saloon.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

MARYSVILLE, Cal., Oct. 7.—A stabbing affray in a saloon at midnight last night resulted in the probably fatal wounding of Tom Burns by Tim McGuire.

Both men are laborers. Burns is in the County Hospital. McGuire is in jail.

SAVAGE IN COURT.

His Case Not Ready to Be Set for Trial.

George Savage, the young man charged with grand larceny who accused Detective Kellogg with an attempt to secure $100 from him to square a case, was in the Superior Court this morning to have his case set for trial. The matter was continued until next Monday because of the inability of his attorney, Thomas Garrity, to attend the case. Attorney Garrity's wife is very ill.

SPECIAL COUNSEL.

Michael Collins to Be Prosecuted by R. B. Terry.

The case of Michael Collins, charged with the killing of Philip Boogar, was set for second trial today in the Superior Court. Another criminal case, however, that has been partially heard—that of Cornelius Stuart—interfered, and the Collins case was continued until tomorrow. Attorney Reel B. Terry has been associated with the district attorney in the prosecution of Collins.

Satisfactorily Settled.

S. M. Eastland accidentally gave a check on a bank in which he had no money and as a result a warrant was issued for his arrest. When he learned that the police were looking for him he gave himself up and so satisfactorily explained the mistake that he was allowed to go upon the payment of $5 court costs.

TWO SALOON FIGHTS.

Protests Presented to the Supervisors for Action.

M'NAMEE'S METHODS ATTACKED

Beetles Being Introduced to Combat the Black Scale.

REPORTS OF THE OFFICIALS.

Webster Street Bridge Not Under Their Full Control.

The interminable question as to the propriety of allowing McNamee the Alameda saloonkeeper, to continue in the liquor business because it was alleged he had sold liquor to minors came up again before the Supervisors this morning. All the members of the board but Mr. Johnston were present.

The attorney for McNamee asked the board to postpone action in the matter of cancelling McNamee's license. At the last meeting of the Supervisors Assistant District Attorney Church rendered an opinion that the ordinance governing the point is constitutional and the board has power to forfeit the license if the offense charged has been proven.

Supervisor Church said he had examined the books of the license collector and found that the McNamee license had not been paid for since the 15th of last month.

License Collector Ballard said that McNamee's permit is good until December 3d of this year.

In response to Supervisor Talcott, Mr. Ballard said that McNamee had not paid anything on his license beyond September 12th.

Supervisor Pelouze said that he had asked the license collector to make no collection from McNamee pending the settlement of the case by the Supervisors. He also moved that the case be continued till December 3d, at which time, if another petition should be desired protestants might file objections to grant it.

The Supervisors then went into a private consideration of the matter.

Supervisor Talcott moved as an amendment to Supervisor Pelouze's motion that the matter be continued till the next meeting of the board at 2 P. M., when both sides will be notified to be present.

Supervisor Pelouze said he would accept the amendment provided the question should be finally disposed of at that time.

It was then unanimously agreed that at the next meeting testimony would be taken to show whether or not McNamee had, as charged, sold liquor to minors. It was then agreed that, meantime the license collector was to be excused from taking any action in the premises.

ASKED AID.

Applications for relief were disposed of as follows: Fred G. Moran of 918½ Franklin street, 30 years of age, native of Illinois; referred to the hospital committee. Mrs. J. A. Armstrong, 843 Fallon street, 23 years of age, native of England, one child, deserted by her husband; referred to Supervisor Church.

Charles Wilson, aged 74 years residing at 788 Filbert street, made a written application for relief and on motion of Supervisor Pelouze he was requested to appear in person before the board.

Horticultural Commissioner Barry of Niles reported that he had distributed since his last report a number of colonies of beetles for the destruction of the black scale in Washington and Eden townships and in Irvington and Mission San Jose. He had also examined and released at railroad stations, for the season, 439,025 fruit and ornamental trees; filed.

J. L. Donovan reported his travels during the months of July, August and September as fish and game warden; filed.

J. R. Talcott reported that he had relieved 104 people during September at a cost of $171.50; filed.

The report of W. S. Pelouze for September showed that he had relieved 150 indigents at a cost of $287; filed.

Supervisor Bailey filed several reports showing how he had aided indigents during several months past as follows: January, 263 people, costing $377.50; February, 261 people, $340.50; March, 279 people, $388.50; April 280 people, $380; May, 308 people $398; June, 313 people, $382; July, 298 people, $379; August, 272 people, $387; filed.

Dr. Clark of the county infirmary reported that there were 219 patients at that institution at the close of last month and that 45 had been admitted during September. The money collected amounted to $87.50; expended, $60; due the county, $27.40; filed.

Gardiner Carey reported that he had accepted for the county 11,630 pounds of coal during the month of September; filed.

LIQUOR PERMITS.

Applications for permission to sell liquor were filed as follows: H. E. Ey, northwest corner of Thirty-ninth street and Telegraph avenue; F. Carosso, Claremont avenue and Clifton street, Temescal; I. W. Ralph, Alvarado. The applications were referred to the judiciary committee.

Requisitions for supplies were made by the assessor, the Superior judges and the gardener and referred to the building committee.

The request of Recorder Spear for several books with "patent backs" caused a little lively but good-natured friction.

Mr. Spear, in support of his request, said that the "patent backs" are a convenience and save money and that Supervisor Church was one of the men who had spoken in favor of them.

Supervisor Church said the board had started in on a line of economy and he desired to have the schedule, in the matter of supplies of the kind mentioned, followed. He said that he had not recommended "patent backs" beyond the fact that they were a convenience to clerks.

A vote on granting the request of the recorder then resulted in a tie, Supervisors Pelouze and Talcott voting in the affirmative and Supervisors Bailey and Church in the negative. The matter was finally laid over until all the members of the board should be present.

W. P. Woolsey and several others asked that Fairview avenue from Telegraph avenue to Raymond street be declared a county road. The matter was referred to the county surveyor.

Similar disposition was made of the request of J. A. Garcia and others, touching Merced avenue between Dover and Telegraph avenues.

Dr. Fisher, physician of the county jail, reported that he had rendered 125 services to prisoners during September; filed.

Permission to sell liquor was granted to John Tierney, Burch and Broadway; Charles Allen, Emeryville; B. Moran, Thirty-sixth street and San Pablo avenue; Jacob Maney, Thirty-seventh street and San Pablo avenue; L. Lehmkull, Railroad and San Pablo avenues; William Dugan, Irvington; Harry Miner, Sunol; John E. Langren, Alameda.

A protest against the granting of a liquor license to Fred Bormann at San Lorenzo Grove was read. It was signed by John Bower, Mrs. Mary Nugent, E. Lewelling and a number of others. It was based on the ground that Bormann's application for a liquor license does not contain the names of the ten citizens, freeholders and heads of families residing nearest San Lorenzo Grove; that the granting of the petition would be prejudicial to the peace and order of the public and particularly to the young people of the community.

G. T. McCollum appeared in person and made a verbal statement. He said the saloon had proven a nuisance to the people in the neighborhood. He instanced the case of one resident, a countryman of Bormann's who had said that while liquor was being sold in San Lorenzo Grove he was compelled to stand with a shotgun to protect his property from those under the influence of liquor sold at the Grove.

On motion of Supervisor Church Bormann was notified to appear before the board next Monday and show cause why his application should not be rejected. It was further agreed that if Bormann did not appear on that day the board would take action in the premises anyway.

A similar protest was filed against the granting of a liquor license to Joseph Cannon of Temescal.

Supervisor Pelouze wanted to know if the protest had been sworn to. He said that the affidavit as to its truthfulness should be made, because the applicant for his license had to swear to his statement of facts.

The clerk announced that the protest had not been sworn to. A desultory talk was then indulged in as to having the surveyor report on the matter, also of having Cannon appear in person before the board. Cannon, however, was present in the lobby, came forward and announced that he was prepared to have the county surveyor report as to whether or not his (Cannon's) application contained the names of the requisite number of neighboring freeholders. The board ordered him to produce the surveyor's certificate to that effect.

The bill of E. S. Van Court for $62 for stenographic work for the coroner in the inquest over the remains of the late Mrs. Gay, the payment of which was objected to, was reported upon by District Attorney Snook to the effect that it was allowable to pay for such work when expert opinions were taken for the coroner. Dr. Baldwin had not consulted him prior to incurring the expense. At the request of Supervisor Church the district attorney stated that at the rate of twenty cents a folio the bill is correct. Decision on the matter was deferred until after the bill shall be considered by the Finance Committee.

District Attorney Snook also announced that he had prepared a written opinion touching the subject introduced by a letter of Colonel Mendell as regards the obstruction to navigation by the Webster street bridge. He said he would hand in the opinion later, but that the substance of it is that the board is not bound to change the location of the bridge in question, but simply to regulate the opening of the draw so as not to interfere with navigation. Colonel Mendell, he said, seemed to indicate in his letter that the Secretary of War has the right to order the removal of the bridge if it interferes with navigation.

The board decided to await the district attorney's written opinion before taking action on the subject.

The matter of accepting the insurance policy on the Centerville jail was referred to the Building Committee.

NO SETTLEMENT YET.

All Depends Now on What Mrs. Whittemore Will Do.

Mrs. Louise Whittemore is not ready to start the trial of her contest against the probate of the will of the late Philip Boogar, which she claims was made through undue influence and while the old man was not mentally capable of disposing of his property.

The case was set for trial today in Judge Greene's court, but a motion to continue until next Monday was granted. This is the day set for the contest of Mrs. Boogar to the will.

Meanwhile the negotiations for a settlement of the litigation out of court are being made. Locked up in the safe of Reed & Nusbaumer is a conditional agreement to compromise on behalf of Mrs. Boogar and the executors. Before that can be of avail, however, the demands of Mrs. Whittemore, who claims the estate under a will alleged to have been made two years before the old man died, will have to be adjusted. It is probable a settlement of some kind will be reached before next Monday.

Tax Collector Barber Will Stand on the Dalton Assessment.

REDUCTIONS NOT ALLOWED.

No Offer Has Been Made by the Southern Pacific Company.

DALTON ON THE SITUATION.

An Appeal Taken From the Decision of Judge Ellsworth.

The tax rolls of Alameda county were transferred this morning by Auditor Whidden to County Tax Collector Barber. The transfer had hardly been made before Barber was served with a document by County Assessor Dalton. The context is appended. It contains the judgment and decree of Judge Ellsworth in the Buswell suit and warns Barber against accepting payment of taxes from any person other than on figures based upon the original assessment as made by Dalton.

The situation, however, has become very much simplified. In fact there is no clashing today and no disturbance of the ordinary routine. Tax Collector Barber said it made no difference to him what was said or done by others. He had decided as soon as the decree of the court reached him to refuse to accept any payment of taxes that was not in accord with the original valuations as placed upon the assessment rolls by Assessor Dalton.

Barber has had an oral opinion from the district attorney to the same purport. He has thus been doubly armed to resist any movement that may be made to avoid the payment of the original tax.

The rolls are now in the possession of Barber and the payment of taxes commenced this morning. There was the usual rush of the first day, but the large majority of visitors called not to pay but to procure their tax bills.

Speaking of the situation and the manner in which the matter had been satisfactorily adjusted pending a decision from the Supreme Court, Barber said: "District Attorney Snook has filed no written opinion with me, but I have an oral opinion from him not to accept any taxes except upon the face value as made in the original assessment. That is what I should do whether the district attorney had so advised or not."

"Has the Southern Pacific Company offered or intimated it would pay its taxes and demand a receipt on the corrected assessment?"

"No," replied Barber, "I have had no intimation that the Southern Pacific would tender payment now. That story came like many others I've from I know not where."

Assessor Dalton said today that all he had now to wait was the legal end of the fight which will shortly go to the Supreme Court. "There is one matter that may cause a bit of trouble," he said. The Southern Pacific Company may decline and probably will refuse to pay the taxes on my assessment of the Seventh street local road, on the grounds that it has been assessed by the State Board of Equalization. In such event it may be found that the road has been doubly assessed and the Tax Collector might be unable to segregate it from the main system."

The appeal to the Supreme Court has been perfected and notice was filed this morning in the County Clerk's office in behalf of County Auditor Whidden as one of the defendants to the suit.

THE NOTICE TO BARBER

The full text of the notice served upon Barber and including the judgment and decree of the court is as follows:

Oakland, Cal., Oct. 8, 1895

Mr. James B. Barber, Tax Collector of Alameda County: Dear Sir—You are hereby notified in your official capacity that in the case of E. G. Buswell, a taxpayer, vs. the Board of Supervisors of Alameda county and Myron A. Whidden as auditor of said county, the Superior Court of Alameda county on October 5, 1895, duly gave and made its judgment and decree which has been duly entered as the final judgment of said court and by which it was determined and adjudged,

That the several listings and assessments made by the county assessor for the year 1895 upon and against the items, lots, pieces and parcels of property designated and described fully and particularly in said judgment (reference to which is filed and entered in the county clerk's office of Alameda county is hereby made) were duly and legally made and entered in the assessment books or roll of said county for 1895, and are severally the lawful assessment and valuation thereof without any alteration or change.

That the Board of Equalization for Alameda county for 1895 did not and could not legally sit or act after July 15, 1895, and that there was no Board of Equalization of Alameda county on July 25, 1895, when a pretended order of reduction and change of said assessments of said property by the assessor was passed and adopted by the Board of Supervisors assuming and pretending to sit and act as a county board of equalization.

That said pretended order of said Board of date July 25, 1895, was and is wholly void.

That no order extending the time of the Board of Supervisors of Alameda county to sit as or to act as a Board of Equalization in or for the year 1895, to perform any act, was ever made by the State Board of Equalization.

That the changes made in the assessment books or rolls of Alameda county for 1895 in pursuance of said pretended order of July 25, 1895, are and that each of them was and is wholly ineffectual and void and did not and do not constitute valid or any legal changes in or upon said assessment books or roll as originally prepared and completed by said county assessor, and that all said changes are to be and shall be ignored and treated nullities by the defendants and each of them and by all officers of Alameda county having henceforth (i. e. after October 5, 1895,) anything to do with the assessment book, books or roll of the State and county taxes or the collection thereof in the County of Alameda for the fiscal year 1895-96.

That said pretended order of July 25, 1895, was cancelled and vacated and rendered of no effect and that all and singular the changes or purported changes of or on the original assessment roll prepared and completed by said county assessor concerning any items, lots, pieces or parcels of property described in this judgment and decree, whether any such changes were attempted under said order of July 25, 1895, or under any other entry, alteration or change made in pursuance of any color thereof, shall (all and singular) be ignored and disregarded by the defendant and each of them and by every other officer of Alameda county hereafter (i. e. after October 5, 1895,) having to do with the assessment books or roll or the collection of taxes of or in said county for State and county purposes for the fiscal year 1895-96.

You are further notified that said judgment and decree is now on file in the office of the county clerk of Alameda county, having been filed October 5, 1895, and that therein are specifically designated the several items, pieces, lots and parcels of property attempted to be but not affected, as to their assessment valuations, by said void and cancelled order of July 25, 1895, passed on that day by said Board of Supervisors pretending to sit and act as a Board of Equalization of Alameda county; the number of said case and its files, including said judgment and decree is 11,811, Records of Suits and Actions of and in the Superior Court of Alameda County.

You are also notified that should you fail or refuse to act in your official capacity as tax collector of Alameda county in accordance and compliance with said judgment and decree and this notice you will do so at your peril and that of your bondsmen and sureties; and you are especially cautioned and notified not to give, issue or deliver to any taxpayer or person and receipt for his, her or its taxes for 1895-96 except upon receiving first the full amount of taxes chargeable to and payable by such person or taxpayer ignoring and irrespective of said pretended order of July 25, 1895, attempted to be passed and put into effect by said Board of Supervisors on and after July 25, 1895.

And you are further enjoined and notified that said judgment and decree renders and adjudges invalid and void all entries and changes which may have been made by or upon said assessment books or rolls by the county clerk or auditor pursuing said void and cancelled order of July 25, 1895, and that when said judgment was given and made by said court against said Board of Supervisors in their official capacity and against said auditor in his official capacity, it is made by judgment and binds and concludes all other county officers of said county having to do with the taxes for State and county purposes for the fiscal year 1895-96.

Your attention is directed to the doctrine briefly stated in Freeman on Judgments to 3d edition, section 178.

E. G. BUSWELL,
Taxpayer.
HENRY P. DALTON,
County Assessor.

The matter of the appeal in the county assessment came up before the Board of Supervisors this morning.

BEFORE THE BOARD.

District Attorney Snook Is Ordered to Make an Appeal.

District Attorney Snook announced that in the case of E. G. Buswell vs. the Supervisors, the decision had been against the defendant. He wanted to know whether the supervisors desired the case to be appealed or not. Auditor Whidden, he said, had perfected his appeal and had filed a stay bond.

Supervisor Church asked whether it is not true, if the matter is not settled now that it will remain an open question for many years.

Mr. Snook said that if it be not settled now, it might mean the crippling of the tax roll of the county. No suits could be brought against delinquents until the end of the next fiscal year. He thought there is no doubt but the Supreme Court would be willing to give precedence to the suit. The tax rolls, he said, had been turned over to Tax Collector Barber and that official had informed him that he would not accept any money except on the original figures of the assessor.

Supervisor Church then said that, in order to settle the matter he would move that the district attorney be instructed to appeal the case to the Supreme Court.

The motion was seconded by Supervisor Talcott and was carried. Supervisors Bailey, Church and Talcott voting in the affirmative, Supervisor Pelouze in the negative, Supervisor Johnston being absent.

Railroad Men Anticipate a Visit From Collis P. Huntington.

Police Officer Scanlan Saves Two Lives at Sixteenth Street Depot.

WEST OAKLAND, Oct 7—Today every employe of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, from the humble position of engine wiper to the high and exalted office of division superintendent was, at his post of duty on time to the minute and many were on hand several minutes ahead of time. The cause of the promptness of the men to report for duty was due to the fact that it was stated Saturday that Collis P Huntington would make a tour of inspection of the yards and mole this morning. This story was given considerable coloring, on account of the unexpected visit yesterday of A. N Towne's successor, Julius Kruttschnitt, the new general manager, who made a close investigation of everything at the yards.

Today the employes are waiting anxiously for Mr. Huntington's appearance. They are laboring under a big strain and all want to be relieved as soon as possible. Many are afraid that the powerful magnate may wield his economical ax and throw their heads into the basket. In anticipation of what might possibly happen the men are all prepared to set in and work hard while the magnate is watching them. Nearly all are armed with a couple of handkerchiefs which they will draw from their pockets to wipe the perspiration from their brows which will necessarily flow. If they do not melt the handkerchiefs will be put in operation anyway

A trip through the yards this morning showed that every employe was active, much more so than they have been prior to Mr. Huntington's appearance in San Francisco. The men could scarcely make time to talk. Master Mechanic McKenzie was on deck attired apparently in his best suit of clothes. An elegant watch chain decorated his breast and as he walked through the yards he carried a newspaper in his right hand. As a matter of fact, he was taken by some of the machinists for the much-feared Mr. Huntington When he got within close range, however, the men realized their mistake, but postponed the cracking of jokes over the matter until the dinner hour as Mr. Huntington might accidentally happen to appear and then there would be trouble.

Down in Master Car Repairer Ludlow's department the subordinates could be seen through the office window working as industriously as bees in a hive.

In the carpenter department Superintendent Dan Robertson was on the jump all the morning and if Mr Huntington had happened along he could not say that Mr. Robertson had a sinecure.

Probably the most remarkable incident of the day occurred in Mr. McKenzie's office. It appeared that Operator John Hickey had not heard of the expected arrival of the Southern Pacific president, and so he came to work without a clean collar. When he was told what was expected he was almost thunderstruck. He was afraid to go home and after doing some thinking he concluded to take a little salt and try to erase the dirt from his collar. The remedy worked to perfection and Mr. Hickey of course felt satisfied. The boys in the office, however, could not find time to laugh.

BADLY BEATEN.

The Imperial baseball club went to San Francisco yesterday and played the Young Pacifics at Golden Gate park. The Pacific's won easy by a score of 17 to 4. They batted Wallace McKinnon's pitching without any trouble and before the game was over the Imperials had to get another twirler. The contest was for $15 a side and a great deal of outside betting was done. A number of West Oakland sports lost quite heavily on the favorites. The Imperials defeated the Pacifics in Oakland a week ago by a score of 11 to 10 and yesterday they thought they could repeat it, but the Pacifics turned the tables.

GONE TO FRESNO.

Miss Nellie Walsh, chief of honor of Dawn of Hope Lodge, No. 1, Degree of Honor, left this morning for Fresno, where she will spend a few weeks vacation. Miss Walsh was accompanied to the train at Sixteenth street depot by a large number of friends.

THE MORTGAGE IS DUE.

The German Savings and Loan Society of San Francisco has sued John S. Martin, Ellen F. Martin and J. H. Bishop to foreclose a $2000 mortgage on a piece of land on the southeast corner of Cedar and Short streets. The mortgage was given in San Francisco on October 12, 1891, as security for the payment of a promissory note for $2000.

Y. M. I. WILL ENTERTAIN.

American Council, Young Men's Institute, will give an entertainment and dance at Fraternity hall, corner Seventh and Peralta streets this evening. Extensive arrangements have been made and the affair promises to be a fine success.

SAVED TWO LIVES.

Police Officer Jack Scanlan performed an act last evening at Sixteenth street depot which probably saved the lives of a mother and her daughter. A woman and young girl boarded the 4:30 Berkeley local, which they mistook for the Sacramento train, but they did not discover their error until the train commenced to pull out on its journey to Berkeley. The woman, as soon as she found she was on the wrong train, ran to the door, followed by her daughter and jumped from the train. She was caught by Officer Scanlan just as she was rolling under the wheels. The girl in alighting fell into the officers arms and escaped injury. The mother was slightly injured from the fall, but recovered in time to get the train for the capital. The woman positively refused to give her name, but heartily thanked the officer for his gallant act.

FOR IRELAND'S FREEDOM.

John Redmond, in Case of War, Would Sing the "Marseillaise."

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

DUBLIN, Oct. 7.—At the convention of the Parnell party the usual resolutions regarding Home Rule and amnesty for political prisoners were passed.

John Redmond said unless the freedom of Ireland is granted in case of war it would be to the tune of "Marseillaise" they would march, and not to that of "God Save the Queen."

NOAH WEBSTER'S DISWAY.

Heartbroken Because His Dictionary Was Put Up at Auction.

H. S. Parsons, formerly of this city, but now living in South Hadley Falls, Mass., is visiting relatives in Hartford. Mr. Parsons, who is a well preserved man of seventy-five years, came to Hartford when a lad in 1834, and for several years was employed in the book store of Belknap & Hammersley. Noah Webster was a daily visitor to the bookstore. When Mr. Webster had his dictionary placed on the market the success of his effort was problematical, and much to his dismay he saw an advertisement in a New Haven paper offering to sell it at auction among other articles. This had a disheartening effect on Mr. Webster. He went to the store of Mr. Booth, the bookseller in New Haven.

"Are you Mr. Booth?" said Webster.

"Yes, sir," said Booth.

"Is it true," said Mr. Webster, in a trembling voice, with eyes very moist, "that you are selling my dictionaries at auction."

"Are you Mr. Webster?" said Booth.

"I am."

"Well now, Mr. Webster," said Booth, "I'll tell you all about it. I only bought one copy, for which I paid the full retail price. I thought I might work off a lot of unsalable stuff by putting into my sale one of your books. I expected to lose money on that, but I thought I could make it up on the others." The relief that Mr. Webster experienced can be imagined.—Hartford Courant.

A rose geranium leaf dropped in each tumbler of apple jelly is said by a good housekeeper to impart a peculiarly delicious flavor. It is true that Westerners have by no means achieved the art of utilizing flower life in their sweetmeats. As prepared in the Orient, these concoctions are most delicious. The Armenian women and their neighbors, but not friends, the Turkish wives, excel in the compounding of such confections.—New York Times.

COULD NOT CHANGE.

Important Decision Bearing Upon Beneficiary Organizations.

Societies Have Control Over the Certificates Issued to Members.

M. C. Chapman, the attorney for the Supreme Council of the Portuguese Union of the State of California, was notified today of an important decision in his favor by the Supreme court. The suit is one brought by Manuel Joaquin da Silva and wife against the Union to recover on a certificate. The suit was decided in the lower court against the Union, but the Supreme Court remands it for a new trial.

The decision has an important bearing on many of the beneficiary organizations of the State. These societies generally have no rules or regulations prescribing how a member may change his beneficiaries. The Supreme Court decides that in the absence of such rules and regulations they cannot be changed by will, but can only be changed by a surrender of the certificate of membership and the issuance of a new certificate with other beneficiaries named therein, because no change in the beneficiaries can be made without the consent of the society issuing the certificate of membership.

This membership was tried in the Superior Court of this county about a year ago before Judge Henshaw and resulted in a judgment of $940 in favor of Frank Silva, who, when he found that the Union had been sued upon the certificate, intervened, claiming the money due, under a will. The defendant Portuguese Union disclaimed any interest in this money further than that it was ready and willing to turn it over to the intervenor or to the plaintiffs as the court should decide.

Some three years since the father-in-law of the plaintiff, Manuel Dutra, died. About six weeks prior to his death he became a member of the Portuguese Union and had issued to him a certificate of membership and named as his beneficiaries the plaintiffs. The plaintiffs were entitled under the certificate to receive one dollar from each member in good standing in Council No 1 of the Union. There were 940 such members at the time of Dutra's death. Subsequently to the time of taking out such certificate and just before his death, Dutra attempted, without a surrender of his certificate to the union, to change his beneficiaries by will, under the provisions of which he devised the proceeds of the certificate to the intervenor. So that the real issue of the case was whether the beneficiaries under the will or the beneficiaries named in the certificate were entitled to the money. In the Superior Court trial Judge Henshaw held that the deceased had changed his beneficiaries by will, and that he had a legal right so to do, and accordingly gave judgment against the plaintiffs. The plaintiffs then appealed the case to the Supreme court, contending that there was no provision in the constitution and by-laws of the Union could change his beneficiaries except by a surrender and cancellation of the certificate. This had not been done and the Supreme Court, in deciding the case in favor of the plaintiffs has practically held that no provision was made in the certificate of membership for a change in the beneficiaries, and the record showing no rules of the Union in respect to such change, the attempt to do so by will was futile.

EDITORS IN CONVENTION.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

MARYSVILLE, Cal., Oct. 7.—The Sacramento Valley Press League met this afternoon. A number of papers were read and strong resolutions for river improvements were presented.

Over fifty members were present and fifteen more applications for membership were received.

The morning was spent in driving the editors through the fruit orchards and on the levees.

A Row Over a Sign.

J. W. Kershner was arrested this afternoon on a charge of disturbing the peace. He was employed by an electrician named Herrick to clean the signs from off a shop which Herrick had recently sold. The new proprietor did not care to have the work done, and as Kershner refused to stop when he was requested to do so, police aid was called.

A citizen with a swollen jaw was hastening along the principal streets of the city, when a sign in front of a tall building caught his attention. It was as follows: "Painless extraction of teeth free." He stopped long enough to note the number of the floor on which the business indicated by the sign was carried on and then hurried inside and made his way to the dental parlors. "Is this the place where you pull teeth without pain free?" he inquired. "Yes, sir," said one of the painless extractors on duty. "Well, I've got a grinder that has been giving me a great deal of trouble. I wish you'd yank it out." The sufferer took his place in the chair and opened his mouth. The operator, after applying to the swollen gum a pungent lotion of some sort, speedily relieved him of the offending molar. "Thanks," said the caller climbing down and picking up his hat. "That will be fifty cents," remarked the dentist. "Fifty cents?" echoed the other. "I thought it was free. That's what you told me a minute ago, and it is what you say on your sign." "Just so. Did it hurt you any?" "Yes, it hurt a little." "That's right. We do our painless extraction free, exactly as we claim. When it hurts we charge for it. Fifty cents, please." —Chicago Tribune.

CHICAGO IS BARRED.

The Reliance Football Team Not to Visit the Windy City.

The Reliance football team will not go to Chicago. The lateness of organizing and the difficulty of getting remunerative terms in the Windy City have induced the management to decide not to go so far East.

"The team may go as far East as Omaha or Denver," said President L. M. Fitzgerald of the Reliance Club this morning, "but they will not go beyond. Chicago was not disposed to give us good terms and we cut them out. The team will go on the northern circuit and then East. The men are in good trim and play well together, but there will not be enough money in going to Chicago to warrant the trip.

"That team, however, is making negotiations to come out here, but we are not disposed to grant them any better terms than they offer us, and so the plan may fall through."

IN A PARENT'S PLACE.

Noble Work Is Being Done at the Fred Finch Home.

Good Judgment Is Shown in the Selection of the Managers.

The board of directors of the managers of the Fred Finch Orphanage held a meeting in the Fruitvale Home yesterday. The association owns its own buildings and grounds and is entirely free from debt.

Treasurer L. J. Truman's report showed that $31,781.79 had been received since the opening of the home in 1892. Of this $15,440.60 has been contributed by the State and the balance by private subscription. The running expenses for the past year were $12,328.36.

There are now 96 inmates of the institution, 80 of whom attend the public schools, and if the efforts of the directors prove availing some of the children will soon attend the Wilmerding Trades school, for the managers of the home are making efforts to secure the new school for this district. As an argument for the location of the school there they set forth that there has never been a death in the orphanage, and hence the location must be a healthy one.

The following is a list of officers as elected yesterday: Directors, R. Bently, D. D., president; F. R. Dille, D. D., secretary; H. B. Heacock, D. D., vice-president; L. J. Truman, treasurer; John Kirby, D. D.; C. B. Perkins and Joseph F. Forderer.

Those to serve on the advisory board are: Bishop Goodsell, John Coyle, D. D., Rev. A. T. Needham, Rev. John Kirby, Rev. F. J. Masters, Rev. M. C. Harris, Rev. George Gunn, Rev. C. J. Larsen, and Rev. J. A. Henderson.

The board of managers consists of Mrs. D. B. Finch, Mrs. Wm. Jones, Mrs. T. O. Lewis, Mrs. John Lackey, Mrs. M. D. Witt, Mrs. Augustus Dow, Mrs. M. A. Freese, Mrs. L. J. Truman, Mrs. R. The Port of Entry Law for Oakland Is Not Yet in Effect

The Oakland Board of Trade is going to resume the matter of making Oakland a port of entry. The act giving the privilege to Oakland was passed mainly through the efforts of Congressman English, but it has not been put into effect because no appropriation was made for carrying out its provisions. This defect the Board of Trade will try to have remedied when Congress again meets.

"With all the trade from abroad," said the president of the Board of Trade today, "Oakland still has to receive all her goods through the San Francisco clearing house. This necessitates that a merchant must cross the bay to swear to his manifest and must pay his duty just the same as when there were less than a thousand people living on this side of the bay. All the cargoes discharged at Long Wharf or at the city wharves that are dutiable have to be weighed and inspected by officers from San Francisco, when as a matter of justice all that business should be kept in this city. It seems only natural that Congress should readily make an appropriation after passing the act creating the port, and this we hope will be done. The improvements on the water front that must naturally follow the settlement of that old question of title make it the more imperative that Oakland should at once be made a port of entry in fact, as she now is in name."

Abandoned His Saloon

There was a walk-out at J. J. Collins' saloon at Seventh and Washington streets this morning. The proprietor walked out and locked the door after him.

"There is no use continuing the business any longer," he said. "There is no money in it, and Oakland landlords want what there is for rent, so I just walked out to prevent the sheriff walking in." Mr. Collins is the lessee of the Oakland theater, and he will hereafter devote all his time to building up that house.

WELCOME RELIEF.

Wonderful Effects of a Brief Treatment by Dr. Wulff.

Oakland, September 17, 1895.

To Whom It May Concern: I called on Dr. J. M. Wulff at the Galindo hotel today at 2 30 P. M., suffering from intense pain from rheumatism in my hips, left leg and left foot and hardly able to walk. The doctor explained his treatment and I tried same right then and there and now at 4 o'clock I feel that I am relieved of the pain and I can walk. I am satisfied that by using the electric appliance which the doctor furnishes I will get cured. I have had the rheumatism about four months, have been at the springs and it did me no good. I have taken all kinds of medicine prescribed by physicians but found no relief.

I can be seen at my place of business by anyone who is desirous of knowing about Dr. Wulff's treatment.

Very truly,
M. SPIES,
250 Park avenue, East Oakland.

Dr. J. M. Wulff, treats rheumatism, lumbago, nervous headache, in fact all nervous diseases, without medicine.

J. M. Wulff, Oakland: Dear Sir: I believe that your Endless Chain Battery will work wonders for rheumatism. It is applied immediately to the part affected and it looks to me like a practical and scientific method of applying electricity to the various diseases of the nervous system.

TUESDAY, ...OCTOBER 8, 1895.

Now that we learn more about the Montana railroad that was coming down straight to tide water right here in Oakland, we begin to suspect that there are nine parts of fiction to one that has the color of truth. A million or two are not picked up in San Francisco by any adventurer who can get an airing in the newspapers, and the thirty millions that were forthcoming seem to have melted away in an "iridescent" dream.

There is a neat little sarcasm in this paragraph which has been spiced by an exchange: "Judge Albion W. Tourgee has undertaken a crusade against books with uncut leaves, which he pronounces 'a senseless and snobbish fad.' The busy man and the lazy man will join in wishing Judge Tourgee success, but according to Zangwell, the novelist, reviewers will oppose the change, as under the present system they save much time by merely reading the leaves that open of themselves. There are books and books, and it would be much better for the reading public if some volumes were published with the pages hermetically sealed."

The New York World assumes that General Harrison has withdrawn as a candidate because he has fallen a victim to the bosses. But he may come to the front in spite of them. In Pennsylvania he encounters the hostility of Quay, who has just captured the Republican party of that State. In New York he will encounter the hostility of Platt, who simply prefers Morgan and such chances as may come to him after Morgan is laid out. In Iowa Clarkson will work for Allison, while in Ohio Foraker will work quietly for McKinley. But it does not follow that there might not be a fusion of these diverse elements and an agreement finally to take up Harrison. While the prospects of the latter are not as bright as they were six months ago he has not gone under the cloud to be seen no more.

Some of the impelling forces that drive people away from the country are shown in a summary of replies recently given to the question addressed to a great number of persons who had occupied farms. Some left because of unprofitable farming, some because it was impossible to obtain good help in the house and on the farm, some because of the superior social and educational advantages of the cities, and some in the hope of more remunerative employment. As one report puts it, "The farmer's wife rebels at longer providing food, washing and shelter for foreign laborers who receive every cent the farmer earns. He cannot live on the basis of the foreigner, who furnishes his wife and daughters with but one calico dress a year. His sons refuse to take the farm as a gift, if they must work it. Heartbroken and discouraged, he moves to town and rents his farm to the foreigner."

Another speaks of the "lack of adequate remuneration for labor and the isolation of the farm home—no provision for satisfying the cravings of the young people for having good social times."

Canal or Railroad?

The Fresno Republican argues that that city will never be just what it ought to be until a canal connects it with the San Joaquin river. For one-tenth of what a canal would cost a double track electric railroad could be constructed and equipped that would have all the facilities for transportation that a canal could have. No satisfactory seaport can ever be made at Fresno. But that city, by means of a double track railroad and some improvements of the San Joaquin river, could have the advantage of that waterway the year round.

San Jose is now moving for the improvement of the Alviso creek so that vessels of large size could enter from the bay and land a short distance up the creek. Then an electric railroad for ten miles or so would put that city in direct communication with a waterway that would insure the cheapest transportation. What San Jose is taking the first steps to do Fresno could do with almost equal results. It is no use to talk about a canal to connect Fresno with the river. A railroad once constructed and in satisfactory operation there would be no need of a ditch for standing water. Fresno is developing a great electric power from a mountain stream. It ought to be ample for an electric railroad to the river.

And the Dumb Speak.

Warring Wilkinson, principal of the Deaf and Dumb Blind Institution at Berkeley, leaves for the Eastern States this week. His purpose is to visit three or four of the most notable kindred institutions to learn what progress has been made in oral instruction. There is one notable institution in Pennsylvania, another in Central New York, and a famous one at Northampton, Mass., where the oral system is exclusively taught.

Wonderful reports of progress come from these institutions. All the pupils learn to talk very much as people who have no infirmity of deafness. The art is acquired so thoroughly that the sign language is dropped out of the curriculum. Of course people who talk understandingly have very little use for an arbitrary system of signs. But heretofore the deaf and dumb have in most instances acquired no more than a rudimentary speech. There are two teachers in the institution at Berkeley among a number of others who are deaf mutes. One of these graduated from the University and afterwards took a course at Johns Hopkins University. The other is highly educated and is an instructor in art. Neither of these accomplished teachers can speak a word. They do not try to speak, and could not at this time in their lives profit by oral instruction. And yet it is probable that both of them, if oral instruction had begun exclusively at the age of seven years, would now have quite about the same facilities of speech as any other persons.

The new method of oral instruction has been made quite prominent within the last few years. It was carried so far in some of the institutions in Europe that the sign language was either dropped or was given a subordinate place. Finally oral instruction was exclusively given. Such remarkable results were obtained that similar instruction was adopted at a number of schools in this country where results have been obtained quite as satisfactory as in any of the European institutions. Many may yet remember the wonderful results obtained by a female teacher in Pennsylvania (a sister of Mr. Charles Wilkinson) who took dumb pupils at seven years of age and taught them to speak with great facility. She took thirty of these pupils to the World's Fair at Chicago and there gave many interesting exhibitions of their proficiency. Her sad and sudden death in a moment of mental aberration did in some sense accentuate her work.

The method of instruction at Berkeley embraces both systems, viz., the sign language and oral teaching. The aim is to obtain as far as possible all the advantages of both methods. Thus there are pupils entering the institution at such an advanced age that the opportunity for oral instruction has been well nigh lost. They never can gain any great facility of speech. A few words can be spoken and something of lip language can be learned. Then there are younger pupils who have oral instruction and make very good progress in articulation. But most of these are also taught the sign language lest their facilities of speech might not always serve them to the best advantage. Naturally the principal and directors want to know if anything more can be done for these defective pupils. The dumb have been taught to speak as far as seemed practicable and all have been taught the sign language, which all the pupils seem to prefer to speech.

It is reasonably clear now that to get the best results of the oral method it must be followed exclusively with a given number of pupils. That is the basis of instruction in the institutions cited. It is held that speech is before all other methods of communication and that if pupils are taken early enough speech can be acquired and perfected. It is well known that deaf and dumb children are not speechless on account of any defect of the vocal organs, for there are none, but it is because dumb children have no idea of sound, especially as it is employed in articulation. The miracle of instruction is to take a child who has never heard a sound and never will, and learn that child to talk with a good degree of modulation, as if its ears were open to all sounds.

That is substantially what is claimed for oral instruction as it is given at Northampton and other institutions. The sign language is set aside as interfering with what is claimed to be a more perfect system. In many of the largest and most important institutions the double system of instruction is maintained as it is at Berkeley, the latter institution standing confessedly in the first rank of all those which adhere to the dual system. It is probable that if the reports are sustained of the progress made in oral instruction in some of these institutions, some time in the future classes may be formed at the Berkeley institution in which only oral instruction will be given.

The present inquiry is as to whether that method exclusively would be justified by the results that could be obtained. There is no remedy for congenital deafness, nor for that which has been totally lost by disease, although many floating reports have been made to the contrary. But there is such a thing as the almost complete restoration of speech if the work of oral instruction begins at a very early age. This is comparatively a new theory. It is claimed that it is clearly demonstrated at a number of institutions in Europe and in this country.

A Fighting Chance.

For the encouragement of agriculture and other languishing industries in Nevada the directors of the Agricultural Association at Carson, the capital of the State, have offered a premium of $100,000 to have the Corbett-Fitzsimmons prizefight come off in that city. Since the mint was raided by thieves it was not supposed that there was as much money lying round loose in that place. But the thieves and gamblers may be able to scrape that amount together. Nevada at present sustains the position of the poor relation in the family of States. It is the rotten borough, and has often challenged contempt on that account.

Prizefighting having been outlawed in nearly all the States and in the Indian territory, the State Agricultural Society of Nevada has come to the rescue as an exponent of the moral uses of dark things. A bloody and brutal prizefight might be a great help to agriculture by way of fertilizing the soil and encouraging better breeds of cattle. It is true that such an exhibition would not be allowed in the Indian Territory because while the Indians do occasionally kill each other, the type of civilization is sufficiently elevated there to shut out the brutalities of the ring.

Nevada has an elastic statute for the maintenance of "athletic, historic, scientific and literary societies designed to promote the diffusion of useful knowledge." It is a handy law. What I wanted in Nevada is the promotion of useful knowledge. The agricultural society, that ornament of the State is evidently hungering and thirsting after useful knowledge. It wants also to diffuse it lest a concentration of it in Carson might be too much for one small town to hold. It is now "diffusing" the knowledge to all the world that Nevada might be made the very paradise of outlaws, pugs and all the disputable elements that ever congregated where a prizefight was held. That is why the Agricultural Association is moving. It is quite unwilling that such an opportunity for distinction should be lost. It has probably paid a premium on prize hogs this very year. It is ready to scratch up another premium for hogs that grove in other pens. What Nevada appears to be seeking just now is additional reputation. For a long time past it had not much to lose especially in other parts of the country. But the "diffusion" of the knowledge that a hundred thousand dollars would be paid as a premium for a prizefight in the capital city would add immensely to the reputation of that State.

NOTES AND EXCERPTS.

Little Axe and Petie Washington, two Indian policemen were sent to evict a man who settled on a claim in Oklahoma to which he had no title. The squatter's 16-year-old daughter, who is quite handy with a revolver, told the "reds" she would shoot the first man who attempted to dispossess her father of his land, and that settled it. The Indians beat a retreat, and the girl and her father hold the fort.

A footman in an English nobleman's house testified recently that his regular pay was $250 a year. He also testified that his average "tips" amounted to $3,000 a year. The scale was tipped in his favor with phenomenal liberality.

Though not as portly as the President, Miss Rose Cleveland is what might be called stout. She has come out as a great canoeist this season, and in a fashionable gown which harmonizes with her gray hair, she cuts decidedly a fine figure.

Longstreet as he appears today is a tall man, somewhat bent, with stooped shoulders, lustreless eyes, balling step and scant white hair. He dresses in loose-fitting black clothes, with no traces of color about him, and he looks not unlike a country preacher.

H. N. Pillsbury, the chess expert, says that the difference between English players and Americans is that the latter are always trying to improve their game, while the former are satisfied with a fair average. This distinction between the English and the Americans has a much wider application than Mr. Pillsbury gives it. Americans are discontented. The English are self-satisfied. Hence our victories.

The homes of few of the world's great men have been as carefully preserved as Goethe's at Weimar. Nothing has been disturbed, and in his sleeping-room, where he died, the same spread covers the bed, and his drinking-cup, sponge and wash-basin are in the same position as he left them. The old man who once in the poet's lifetime repaired his coach still visits it periodically to see if it needs attention.

There are many English aristocrats who stand in sore need of wealthy wives. Last week a son of the late Duke of Roxburghe appeared before the Bankruptcy Court for the fourth time. The Earl of Ancaster is selling his Welsh estate in small lots. Viscount Hill has been obliged to sell his family heirlooms to meet his demands of creditors. There is nothing left for certain blue-blooded Englishmen to do but to make a pilgrimage to America.

It was the late Daguerreotypist Hesler, of Chicago, who inspired Longfellow to write "Hiawatha." Mr. Hesler was one of the most eminent of his profession, and in 1851 the London World's Fair awarded him the prize medal for daguerreotypes. One of them, a picture of the Falls of Minnehaha, came into the poet's possession and furnished immediate inspiration for the poem. In testimony of his debt to Mr. Hesler, Longfellow sent his signature and compliments on the fly-leaf.

Making Aluminum at Niagara.

The manufacture of aluminum from bauxite by process of electrolysis was given a practical test at Niagara Falls recently, the necessary electrical current being supplied from one of the new dynamos. The process is described as follows: In a large reduction room the pots, in which the oxide of aluminum or alumina, is changed into pure aluminum are arranged in long rows. Each pot is lined with carbon, the lining forming the negative electrode in the process of reduction. Into the pots from above extend rows of copper rods, each terminating in a huge carbon anode, the positive pole of the circuit. In the pot the oxide, in a pulverized state, looking like flour, is placed, the carbon anodes extending through the mass, the current, which is carried by great copper rods through the entire length of the row of pots, is turned on. Then there is nothing to do but to wait until the electricity has completed its work, which requires about twenty-four hours after which the pure aluminum is drawn out and cast into ingots. By the new process the aluminum, which is separated from the ore by the action of the electricity and the fluxes which are used to facilitate melting, accumulates about the negative electrode, which in this case is the carbon-lined bottom of the pot. The tremendous current heats the carbon of both the lining and the anodes to the point of whiteness, and the melting of the ore by this heart is an important factor in the manufacture of the metal. As it is ladled from the pots, it looks like ordinary lead heated to a red heat, but when poured into the moulds it glistens with the whiteness of silver, and the roughly cast ingots thus produced have a luster that silver itself cannot exhibit without polishing. The present capacity of the works of Niagara Falls is about 5,000 pounds of pure aluminum a day, but this will be increased as rapidly as more pots can be set in position, until 10,000 pounds of the pure metal, worth in small quantities 50 cents a pound, is being turned out daily.

The Dullness at Patti's Castle.

One has heard so much of the magnificence of the hospitality dispensed at Craig-y-Nos by the great Patti that it is curious to read the following opinion of one who, some time since, stayed beneath the roof of the castle: "To be entertained by Mme. Patti at Craig-y-Nos doesn't amount to much. You hear a good many folks boasting that they have enjoyed La Diva's hospitality, and read accounts thereof in the papers. If the general public knew how absolutely uninteresting a visit to Mme. Patti's house is, the notoriety seekers would have less to say on the subject. As a matter of fact you might just as well be in a hotel where you knew nobody.

"You arrive unwelcomed by host and hostess, and you are shown into your room. There you generally stay until mealtime, when you seek the dining-room. Madame Patti generally has breakfast in her own apartments and is frequently absent from luncheon. You see her at dinner-time, but she is inaccessible, though she were dining on the stage of Covent Garden while you were in the audience. Of course, you have a few words with her later on, and probably you hear her sing, but as for any familiar intercourse it is quite impossible. Time drags; you feel you have wasted valuable moments and you leave Craig-y-Nos without a gleam of triumph." Doesn't sound cheerful, does it?

The Squirrels and Birds Were Her Friends

For the past three months the park police and visitors to Central Park have become accustomed to the spectacle of a young, plainly-dressed girl, black-haired and rosy-cheeked, who walked at will through the shrubbery and lawns, about whom the park squirrels gathered fearlessly and the English sparrows seemed to regard her as their especial friend and protectress. Sometimes, when spoken to by a park policeman and warned off the grass, she would smile upon the law's guardian, break out in song or laughter and go her way, ignoring all injunctions.

As the girl seemed harmless, she was not molested. It was a curious sight to see her as she halted at the edge of a wood and whistled a peculiar combination of shrill notes in response to which dozens of squirrels and swarms of birds would flock to her side. She would feed the animals and birds and they would frisk around her.

At the sale of an important private library at New York this week most of the books sold very low, including some that lately have been bringing fancy prices. The most hotly contested rarity in the collection appears to have been Jay Gould's history of Delaware county, which brought $12.

A CHALLENGE

To the Contra Costa Water Company, Oakland:

Some time ago I had occasion to make a microscopical analysis of the water furnished to the city of Oakland by your company, coming from Lakes Temescal and Chabot.

At your instance I am informed this analysis has been questioned and my reputation placed in a doubtful position.

In order that I may prove to your satisfaction and to that of the general public of the city of Oakland, the absolute correctness of my conclusions that the water supplied by your compauy IS UNFIT FOR HUMAN CONSUMPTION, I now make the following proposition:

I will meet any expert appointed by you and proceed to Lakes Temescal and Chabot, where we will procure samples of water from each lake, under the usual precautions taken relative to any analysis under dispute. Having obtained the samples, we will proceed to some proper place in the city of Oakland, fitted up as a laboratory, to be selected by your expert and myself—your expert to provide the necessary material for his investigation, and I will do likewise; both investigations to be conducted simultaneously and in the presence of each other. And daily upon leaving the operating room we will seal it up with the dual seals of the experts and place a watchman in charge, that there may be no opportunity for fraud or chicanery by anybody.

The expense of these investigations to be mutual, each side to pay their own expert, and any extra expenses to be divided. I will undertake to establish without cavil the absolute correctness of my previous analysis of the waters from Lakes Temescal and Chabot, whereby it was proven without the reason of any doubt to unbiased people that SAID WATERS FROM LAKES TEMESCAL AND CHABOT ARE ABSOLUTELY UNWHOLESOME, UNHEALTHY AND UNFIT FOR HUMAN CONSUMPTION.

In event of your refusing to accept or consider this challenge I shall make a proposition to the authorities of Oakland to name a committee, that I may establish to it the correctness of my previous conclusions regarding the unfitness for human consumption of the water which comes from either Lake Temescal or Chabot.

Respectfully,

THOMAS BOWHILL,
F. R. C. V. S. F. R. P. S. Edinb.

A CHANCE FOR CRANE.

Fifty Thousand Dollars for a Trip to South Africa.

He is Only to Play a Month's Engagement at the Cape.

By Associated Press to The Tribune

NEW YORK Oct 8—The Herald to day says

A very flattering proposition for a theatrical engagement has been made to William Crane through his manager Joseph Brooks

The offer was made by James F Belmont who represents a combination of business men in Cape Town South Africa and who want Mr Crane to go there and play

The offer made by Mr Belmont is said to be $50,000 in cash tickets to Cape Town and return from New York for the entire company and the living expenses of the company while there

The engagement is to be for twenty performances covering something over a month

It is estimated that it will take about fourteen weeks to make the trip

The details of the trip have not been discussed at all It is not even known yet if the company will go by way of London or San Francisco if it goes at all

In all probability however Mr Crane will accept the offer It is stipulated that four plays shall be given and the plays that are now in Mr Crane's repertoire

Three have practically been settled upon They are The Senator My Son John and My Wife's Father

The company will open in Cape Town only where there is a very pretty little theater

Mr Belmont says it is not a money making scheme in the least and that on the contrary he and his associates are willing to lose a little on the venture

Mr Belmont and his brother in Cape Town have recently made some very successful deals in the Chicago wheat market

Queen Victoria as a Spinner

A Western writer who is not so near to the throne as some others, but who may speak correctly for all that, declares that Queen Victoria has recently taken again to spinning an accomplishment in which she at one time used to be an adept, and that during her recent stay at Osborn she seems to have interested the Princess of Wales and the latter's daughters therein Arrangements have just been made for the starting of a spinning class at Sandringham, choice Southdown wool and fine flax having been sent to the Princess country home for the purpose It is curious that the Queen has never shown any taste for sewing or embroidery, whereas she is very clever with the knitting kneedles or with crochet work.—Buffalo Express.

ALL READY TO RESPOND.

The North Atlantic Squadron May Be Needed at Cuba.

Affairs at Venezuela, Too, May Be the Cause of a Row

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

ST LOUIS Oct —A special from Washington D C to the Globe Democrat says

The winter plans for the North Atlantic squadron are important and very significant in view of the situation in Cuba and the attitude this country has assumed toward British encroachment in Venezuela

The North Atlantic squadron is to be greatly strengthened

Transfers are to be made so as to assemble in that squadron about all the best vessels in the navy and instead of sending the squadron south for the winter they will continue it in southern water

An impressive demonstration of force will thus be made but it will be under the guise of practice drills

The excuse for adding vessels to the squadron and going into those waters will be that it is desirable that every one of the new vessels should have practice in squadron drilling and that it is necessary to continue the practice during the winter

These evolutions without question are to be carried on for the purpose of having the powerful fleet in the vicinity of the trouble if trouble occurs and should occasion arise as it is expected it may for something more than display in the Venezuelan or Cuban matter

A powerful fleet will be within an hour's communication of Washington and at the same time within twenty four hours sailing distance of the probable scene of the trouble

It is also asserted that the Secretary contemplates holding the South Pacific squadron in the vicinity of Valparaiso where in case of need they could be readily communicated with by cable

CHILDREN IN DANGER.

Cyclists Must Not Carry Them on Their Handle Bars

The many instances in which bicycle riders are carrying their little ones strapped to the handle bars of their machines has been brought to the notice of Mrs Sanford secretary of the Humane Society and it is possible that some arrests may be made on the ground that the practice is exposing a child to danger contrary to the provisions of the State law

In San Francisco General McComb has issued an order that no carrying of children on bicycles will be permitted and he has threatened with arrest any who so expose their children The increasing number of accidents between wheelmen and vehicles especially street cars makes the practice which is growing rapidly a very dangerous one and several cases have been reported on Broadway and Washington streets where the father of a child has had to dismount hurriedly to avoid his child's life The many chuck holes in the road and the shortness of the blocks in the center of the city have been put forth as arguments why the carrying of babies should be prohibited

I am examining the law in regard to the matter said Mrs Sanford this morning and I shall be guided accordingly I am the agent of the San Francisco society and I shall communicate with General McComb and see just what he has done I have noticed some instances where women have been riding with their babies on their wheels and it looks very dangerous If one baby should be killed the whole community would at once denounce the practice I shall try if it cannot be stopped without the loss of any little one's life and if the practice is growing there will surely be an accident before long

Should there not be anything in the State law that seems to cover the case the City Council will probably be asked to pass an ordinance making the carrying of helpless children on wheels a misdemeanor

A MINERS' MEETING.

Call to the Members of the Local Organization

An important meeting of the Alameda County Miners Association will be held in the council chamber tomorrow night at which a large attendance of members is expected A great deal of business is to be considered and among other things delegates will be selected to attend the State Miners convention which is to be held in San Francisco beginning on the 14th and continuing till the 18th inst The Alameda County Association has over 100 members and there is a disposition on the part of many of these to pay a great deal more attention to the objects of the association than they have done in the past The meeting for tomorrow night is called by President Chappellet

Sixty thousand complaints from sixty million people have been received at the Post Office in Washington during the past year but this is a small average of things going wrong It is curious that exactly the same number of postmasters (576) died in the United States during the fiscal year lately ended as during the preceding year

AS OTHERS SEE US.

County division has been discussed here for years, just as we discuss the probabilities of the earth at some time becoming dead, like the moon, but the matter is not considered as a living issue and nothing at present gives evidence that it will be for some time to come. The Examiner also represents San Leandro as favoring, next to itself, any place but Hayward for the prospective county seat. This is mere imagination. San Leandro is not in the field for the county seat, its geographical location precluding such an idea; neither has it any objection to having the county seat located at Hayward On the contrary it would be better for San Leandro, in the event of a division of the county, that Hayward should be the capital. San Leandro and Hayward are credited with a mutual jealousy that we do not believe exists. Only fools are subject to these feelings of petty local jealousy and we do not believe that either San Leandro or Hayward is largely populated by narrow-minded people.—San Leandro Standard.

Investigations by members of the State Bureau of Highways have shown that Santa Clara county has the best roads in the State, with Alameda a good second. The mountain county of Alpine, with a road fund of only $1100 a year, has roads that are a credit to its road overseers and put to shame many of the large, populous counties. If Santa Clara county manages to maintain the finest road system in the State there is no reason Alameda should not share this distinction with it. The natural conditions prevailing in that county do not give it any advantage over this county, but intelligent effort has been directed towards making its roads what they are Road work there is done by competent men in a scientific manner. The looseness which characterizes road work in so many counties does not prevail there, for if it did the roads would not be any better than those of other counties.—Hayward Review.

Messrs. Guttenberg, Brandt & Roth, all of Sacramento, arrived here today noon to examine the street car automatic indicator invented by C. E Larabee of Oakland and introduced in the Stockton street car system as an experiment. The gentlemen were accompanied on the trip over the road by W. Goodfriend, who is financially interested in the invention. The intention is to form a joint stock company to introduce the device elsewhere. The apparatus will probably be manufactured in this city.—Stockton Mail.

The company which is building an electric road from Oakland to Livermore valley is having an easy time in securing right-of-way. The owners of the rich farms in the valley are coming forward with generous offers, and thus the problem of the road has been greatly simplified.—Santa Cruz Sentinel. Yes, the people along the route are not obstructionists by any means, they are thoroughly alive to their own interests and are not backward in assisting a worthy enterprise.—Livermore Herald.

We have it from a reliable source that if Senator Earl of Oakland does not seek a re-election and ex-Mayor Pardee will not allow his name to go before the convention Mr. J. B. Richardson, a prominent attorney and partner of Judge Nye, will be a candidate. From what we can learn that gentleman would make a most excellent representative in the upper house of the legislature.—Livermore Herald.

Something has been said and written on the subject of division of Alameda county lately, and recently the Examiner considered the matter worthy of about a column of its valuable space. That some of the statements contained therein had no foundation in fact apparently cut no figure. In the future Alameda county will no doubt be divided, the city of Oakland and contiguous territory uniting to form one municipality; but there is no indication that such a result will be brought about at once. Of course when the question comes up Hayward will be a candidate for the county seat, but the selection of a seat of government is a secondary matter to the main question of the division of the county; and there is, therefore, no occasion to get excited over the matter at this time.—Haywards Review.

Mrs. Mabel Holmes-Mills, Oakland's champion bloomer girl, who was recently married to a San Jose lawyer by contract, has been sued for money due on diamonds she had purchased.—Santa Cruz Sentinel.

EVENING CLASSES.

An Enterprising Innovation by the Y. M. C. A.

The Young Men's Christian Association of this city has provided a splendid array of education advantages for its members, and any respectable young man may become a member. Beginning October 18th the evening educational classes will be inaugurated in the following branches: Bookkeeping, penmanship, shorthand, business, law, arithmatic, elocution, vocal music, mechanical and architectural drawing, German, mandolin, guitar and electricity. The class in electricity will be taught by J. E. Strachan, a graduate of the State university, and will be under the special patronage of Prof. Cory of the electrical engineering department of the university. Suitable apparatus will be provided for experiments and instruction. Competent instruction will be provided for each class. The opening exercises take place Friday evening, October 18th, when the general public is invited to attend. Young men are invited to call at the buildings Twelfth and Clay street, and learn particulars.

THREATENING TO BOLT.

Much Dissatisfaction Among Conservative Hebrew Church-Goers.

Strenuous Opposition Continues to Meet the Movements of the Reformers.

The controversy at the First Hebrew Congregational church has not diminished in its intensity with the annual election of officers. There are two factions in the church the conservative and the one favoring reform. The former wish to retain the time-honored customs and ceremonies, while the latter wish to keep pace with modern progression and institute reform.

From time immemorial it has been the custom in Hebrew worship to have the Rabbi face the altar while praying and for the prayers to be in the Hebrew tongue. Music at the feasts was also prohibited.

But now one faction headed by Dr. Friedlander wish a change. They say that the prayers should partly be in English, and that the priest should at times face the people, as other ministers do. Music they say is the highest form of worship and is in no sense irreverent

The innovations shock the elder members who look upon the violation of the old rites as gross heresy.

Ill feeling runs high and many sharp speeches have been indulged in by both factions. The conservative party have gone so far as to quote Rabbi Friedlander as using unbecoming language in the pulpit. This charge was promptly and emphatically denied by the minister and his friends and so the hostilities raged until they culminated in the annual election.

The reform party was the strongest and succeeded in electing a majority in the board of trustees. The reform party even went so far as to try to have women admitted into the congregation. In this however they failed, the reform being too sweeping even for those who were willing to have the prayers in English. This party now claims that everything is running smoothly and that ten new members were elected last week.

The opposing force says that the innovations detract from the beauty and solemnity of the worship and if they are continued they will leave the church and seek some other place of worship.

Both Food and Drink.

Nothing can interfere with the popularity of the Oakland Chowder House, kept by Charley Appeldorn on Washington street immediately north of the entrance to the Newland House at the corner of Seventh street. It is crowded day and night. The finest wine and beer sell for five cents a glass and there is an excellent lunch all day.

WELL PLEASED AUDIENCES.

"The Magistrate" Meets With Much Approval at the Macdonough.

Bright Shows Brought to the Coast for the Leading Theaters.

The Coghlan-Stockwell Company presented Pinero's "The Magistrate" before a large house at the Macdonough last night.

"The Magistrate" originally produced by Augustin Daly, is one of the most popular comedies on the stage today. There is a laugh in every line. Mr. Stockwell carries off the impersonation of the Magistrate to perfection. His droll, quaint humor makes him a favorite with all the audiences before which he plays and he has a certain freshness of manner that is always with him. He plays the role with his usual aptitude where the temptation is to be pronounced and is altogether exceedingly successful.

Miss Rose Coghlan, than whom no better actress appears upon the English-speaking stage at the present time, is at her best in the character of Mrs. Posket, and her brilliant costumes and handsome presence serve to add perfection to what seems to be already perfect.

Miss Margaret Craven is an actress of exceptional ability. This will, in all probability be her last appearance in America, before her departure for Europe.

Miss Maude Winter is the possessor of beauty and talent and is an ornament to the cast.

Miss Coghlan appeared in a number of new and beautiful costumes.

There will be only one more performance.

Next Monday Henry E. Dixey will appear for one night only. He will present his interesting monologue, interspersed with select vaudeville. Seats are now ready.

THE BALDWIN.

The Palmer Company commenced its second week of "Trilby" to a crowded house last night at the Baldwin. The magnificent production is one of the greatest artistic efforts of the American stage today. It surpasses anything that has been witnessed on a California stage for many months. The Baldwin is not spacious enough to accommodate those who desire to witness the play.

THE COLUMBIA.

Tonight the Columbia will be the center of attraction for many hundreds of San Francisco theater goers. The Bostonians, with their entire repertoire will commence a short season. All the favorite members of this superb organization will again appear. The opening opera will be "Robin Hood," with all its tuneful airs and dainty music. In the company are Jessie Bartlett Davis, Henry Clay Barnabee, William H. McDonald, Helen Bertram, Eugene Cowles, Harold Blake, Josephine Bartlett, George Frothingham and others as well known. The chorus will be a feature of the productions.

MOROSCO'S.

Milton Noble commenced his third week at Morosco's last evening in "Bertha, the Sewing Machine Girl," a startling drama picturing a sad side of life in the great metropolis of the nation. The dramatization was done by the popular author-actor, who has won added laurels during his present engagement.

THE TIVOLI.

"La Traviata," Verdi's wonderful operatic creation, was the bill last evening at the Tivoli. The opera was sung to a packed house. Ida Valerga and Laura Millard will alternate during the week as Violetta. The next opera will be "Il Trovatore."

THE ORPHEUM.

The four Schrode Brothers gave a marvelous entertainment at the Orpheum last night. They are new features on a programme already crowded with bright and clever novelties. The team, however, eclipse anything in the acrobatic line that has been witnessed in a San Francisco theater for many weeks. Murphy and Mack do a very funny character sketch and altogether the bill is exceptionall good.

THE ALCAZAR.

Leonard Grover Jr. has demonstrated his ability to please the public in a manner that is satisfactory both to his patrons and himself. The bright comedy, "My Son-in-law," has been seen before, but it loses none of its flavor. The attractive features were well handled last evenig and the big audience signified its approval.

ANGRY CYCLISTS.

Reno Rules That Are Arousing a Fierce Storm of Indignation.

It has remained for the commissioners of Washoe county to propose the most superbly absurd set of ordinances regarding bicycles that was ever concocted in the brain of man. The ideas are so ridiculous that it is difficult to believe that the ordinances are not intended as a mammoth joke, but we are assured that the commissioners are in "dead earnest." Just listen to this:

Section 49. Every male person who shall practice the art of learning to ride a bicycle on the streets of Reno shall first obtain a license to do so.

The amount of the license is fixed at $10 per quarter for practicing on Virginia street or Commercial Row; $5 per quarter for practicing on the back streets.

Why do they not require a license from the "green" firemen on a locomotive? He might accidentally heave a stick of wood or a shovelful of coal over the tender and kill a passerby, but he does not often do so; neither does a "practicing" cyclist commit many murderous deeds.

But the crowning absurdity is the following section:

"Any female person clad in the garb or costume commonly know as 'bloomers' riding a bicycle within the limits of the town of Reno shall first obtain a license so to do, and shall pay therefor the sum of $10 per quarter."

We shall next hear that these jocular gentlemen will ordain that the woman who pays a tax on her watch will have to take out a license if she should desire to carry that useful piece of jewelry when she is attired in a Mother Hubbard wrapper.

Or, a man who owns a coach and pair will be compelled to appear in conventional full dress whenever he wishes to take a pleasure drive.

Are the male tennis players of Reno permitted to cross the town in their tennis flannels?

Will the young ladies be allowed to wear undressed kid gloves?

What is the limit of power, or has a commissioner full sway in his county? If he has unqualified power, we thank our lucky stars that we do not live in Washoe county.

The Reno cyclists should register a mighty and unanimous "kick" against the proposed ordinance.—Reno Morning News.

One of the smaller New England colleges has for janitor a colored man, who has filled that position to the satisfaction of all concerned for over 25 years. Like many of his race, he is possessed of much wit, and it is not often that the students get the laugh on "Sam," as they familiarly and affectionately call him. One autumn day, just after the college year had begun, when he was overseeing the burning over of part of the campus, a freshman coming along cried: "Well, Sam, that's most as black as you are!" "Yes, sah," promptly replied Sam; and next spring it will be 'most as green as you are!"—Youth's Companion.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. DAVIE VETOES IT.

The Tax Levy Ordinance Now Confronted With a Hard Fight.

UGLY COMPLICATIONS AWAIT.

The Mayor Thinks That the Calculations Are in Error.

IT WILL COME UP TONIGHT.

Some Sarcastic Comments on the Governing of the City

The star municipal conundrum of the world was in need of being propounded at the City Hall today but up to now no political Napoleon had been found who has the least hope of solving it. Yesterday was a holiday and presumably the city officials enjoyed themselves. This morning the official head ached, work was ... and everybody went to work against ... might.

The ... was ... in the mayor's office ... the ... Then ... this morning was a requisition for 1,000 feet of lumber ... mayor ... rushed into the city engineer's office but Mr. Wilson was not there. It was only ... eight and the engineer does not arrive ... When he did ... the mayor ... to know ... lumber could be put in ... Oakland. Mr. Wilson replied ... ply was like ... crosswalks.

Crosswalks ... mayor. Do you not know that it is illegal to lay crosswalks ... Do you not know that ... the law provides that the district ... improvements ... for such ... I know ... the ... measurements of ... the little talk.

Then the mayor went into his office again and took up Councilman Manuel's message ... Manuel never ... a single word of that message, said His Honor. It is Pardee's ... and ... After a few more ... voice ... the mayor paused for breath.

How do I know it was Pardee who wrote that message? For the same reason that I know Manuel did not even read it before he read it to the Council. Here is my proof ... as follows: "If I am ... informed the mayor a few months ago ... the issuance of two million dollars in bonds for public improvements. Now look at ... the Council ... the ... message ... Now he would ... have spoken ... what I said ... only one ... this ... phrase ... I ... that man is Mayor ... F.

During all this time the mayor had amused himself by dipping his pen in the ink bottle. He ... It was not the effect of the holiday because the mayor was at his office as usual yesterday. A minute later it was all explained.

In came Deputy City Clerk Holland with the tax levy ordinance.

He placed it ... on the mayor's desk as though ... it might explode and ... at a hasty retreat. Expert Kaufman ... retired for a few moments. So did Stuart McMullin and the Tribune man. When the expert went back into the room Mayor Davie said ... take that vetoed ordinance back to the city clerk. Something else was said but it cut no figure in the official proceeding of vetoing that ordinance and can be omitted.

At last, said the mayor, now that it is vetoed, and they can amuse themselves by thinking how they can get over that little difficulty. One dollar eighteen—preposterous. One dollar eighteen—horrible atrocious ... There is one salient point in the levy, added the mayor, ... the Council has overlooked. They persist in saying that the general fund will be ... $5,000. That is not so and shows ... ignorance on their part. That $5,000 is only the amount of the general fund and is only the amount raised by direct taxation. The fund is increased ... ten per cent of all the moneys collected from licenses and this means an additional $ ... and is provided for by ... and not a single one of our ... has said a word about it. Manuel's letter persists in talking ... and simply shows he is talking through his hat.

THE NEXT MOVE

The tax ordinance will be brought up at tonight's meeting of the City Council and an attempt will be made to pass it ... the mayor's veto. It is certain that ... to support the ordinance ... will stick. Then will commence one of the ... exhibitions of ... and kicking ever seen ...

School Superintendent McClymonds is the ... to the mayor's ... McClymonds had a grudge against the mayor and his Scotch blood would not cool until it was satisfied. Yesterday the mayor ordered the school department ... and the superintendent was not at all pleased at hearing orders given on a public holiday especially affecting the school department. So this morning Mr. McClymonds remembered that there was a hole in the roof of a school in North Oakland and that a requisition to repair it had been made on the mayor several weeks ago and had not been returned. The superintendent informed the mayor of the fact and then felt better.

Mr. McClymonds is not one of the genius men who take their hats off when they enter the mayor's office.

If whole business is a farce, finally ... the mayor in despair. Pardee and ... to reform the Board of Works ... remind me of the man ... to kill the rats. I think I ... a message as mayor to the Board of Works advising them how ... on the city government. After it ... Mr. Wilson can move that it be ... Mr. Fenton can ... me and I will decline to vote on the ground that I wrote the communication myself.

A River Steamer Goes on the Bar Just Below Cincinnati

By Associated Press to The Tribune

CINCINNATI, Oct. 8.—The steamer B. S. Rhea left this city yesterday and grounded at Cummins bar, six miles down the river.

The steamer plies between this city and Madison, Ind., and was heavily loaded with passengers for Madison and intermediate points.

The steamer was badly wrecked in trying to pull off the bar but no lives were lost.

No boat was in harbor at the time of the accident and the passengers had to remain at the bar until a late hour.

A CREED OF MANLINESS.

Rev. Dr. Rader on Conditions That We Must Meet.

He Makes Another Earnest Appeal in Behalf of Sunday Closing.

The attendance at the session of the Prohibition conference in Hamilton hall last night did not fill the apartment but it was larger than that of the afternoon at the same place.

Rev. Dr. Kummer acted as chairman.

Mrs. Rose French delivered a speech in which she said among other things that she does not believe the Lord can relieve the sufferings of this world as long as the liquor traffic is allowed to exist on earth.

Rev. Mr. Rader, in whose honor the demonstration was given, said that while he is not wholly in sympathy with the ideas of the Prohibitionists, he is heartily in sympathy with the temperance work. His address was based upon the idea of Labor and the Liquor Traffic.

We are passing through a ... he said. The labor ... brings to this reform a very significant ... It has great possibilities and is capable of great evils.

THE SILVER STRUGGLE.

Senator Warren Says That the Republicans Must Stand Together.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 8.—United States Senator Francis E. Warren, who has returned from Washington, says he believes the only hope for silver is in a fight within the Republican party lines.

Questioned as to what the Republican party of Wyoming would probably do if the national organization declared against the white metal he said that there was little use of any one or several States antagonizing the national organization on any subject whatever.

Asked to what he himself would do in case his party definitely arrayed itself against silver, the Senator said that he thought that he could do more good for silver within his party ranks than he could do without them.

Senator Warren was elected to succeed Senator Carey by the Republican party of Wyoming solely on the issue that Mr. Warren was an aggressive silver man while Mr. Carey was equally aggressive as a gold advocate.

LOOKING FOR SUNRISE

A Schooner Whose Absence Is Creating Much Alarm.

By Associated Press to The Tribune

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—The schooner Sunrise, which left Alpena for Chicago three weeks ago, has not been heard from since that time and there are many inquiries daily around the lumber market from people who are interested in it, or who have relatives abroad.

The Sunrise passed the Straits of Mackinac long before the gale of a week ago and should have been in port within a week after that time.

Schooners that left Alpena after the Sunrise did are all right.

The schooner was commanded by Captain Duncan Buchanan, who is known as a skilful mariner.

A Fleet of Pirates Are Plying in the Vicinity of St. Johns

By Associated Press to The Tribune

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Oct. 8.—The government is taking steps to prosecute the smugglers whose traffic extends half round the islands.

The steamer Iona was despatched to Placentia Bay to seize a number of schooners whose men are implicated in the smuggling and against whom the customs department has sufficient evidence to secure a conviction.

The board of revenue is having a controversy with the government press over the proper course to be pursued toward persons charged with smuggling.

Once seated she will not move until she takes her leave. Anyone who wishes to meet her must play Mohammet to her mountain. No matter who it be she never rises or changes her position.

NO POWER TO ACT.

Miss Cunningham Wins Her Fight Before Judge Murphy.

CONTEMPT CASES HANDLED.

The Court Concedes a Point as Regards Doctor Cheney.

EFFORTS AT IMPEACHMENT.

Mrs. Crossett Challenged as to Her Street Car Journey.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8.—Judge Murphy today decided that he had no power to punish Miss Carrie Cunningham, a newspaper reporter, for contempt of court.

During the trial of the Durrant case last week Miss Cunningham was called to the stand by the defense and asked to tell where she obtained certain information relative to Mrs. Leak's testimony.

When Miss Cunningham first refused to answer the question Judge Murphy announced that he would send her to prison for contempt of court, but today decided that he had not the power.

He said the defense had no right to ask the question, as it could not impeach Mrs. Leak's testimony.

The court also reversed the ruling made last week by which the defense was deprived of the opportunity of asking Dr. Cheney if he was not positive in his own mind that Durrant attended the lecture at Cooper Medical College on April 3rd.

The court said that while he believed the question was objectionable, as it called for the opinion of a witness, he would permit Dr. Cheney to answer it, as he desired to err on the side of the defense if he erred at all.

Dr. Cheney will be recalled to the stand today.

The defense this morning continued the calling of witnesses to show the previous good reputation of Durrant.

When Dr. Cheney took the stand the defense declined to ask the questions formally ruled out by the court.

An effort was made to impeach the testimony of Mrs. Crossett by calling to the stand Leonard Everett, a boy, who told how long it took him to ride on the street car from Sacramento and Walnut streets to Twenty-second and Valencia streets.

The purpose of the testimony was to show that Mrs. Crossett could not have made the trip between the two points on the afternoon of April 3rd, when she swore she saw Durrant and Blanche Lamont in the time given by the witness.

Everett's testimony was corroborated by Marvin Curtis.

KELLOGG'S CASE.

The Ex-Railroad Detective Secures a Reduction of His Bail.

Ex-Railroad Detective George H Kellogg was in Judge Frick's court today for arraignment on a charge of compounding a felony, as indicted by the grand jury. Kellogg was under $4000 bonds but his attorney succeeded in having that figure lowered to $2500, which sum Kellogg says he can secure surelies. The case was continued until next Monday when Kellogg will be called upon to plead.

A TART REPLY.

Councilman Manuel Makes a Reoponse to "Old Pard."

Manuel and Bassett propose to make the meeting of the City Council tonight a lively one.

"I intend to answer tonight the attacks he has been making on me," said Manuel, "but I have nothing to say outside. He knows that when he says Pardee wrote, or had any hand in writing, the speech I made Saturday night that it is not true. What I said about his not owning a dollar's worth of stock at the present time in the so-called Davie ferry I can prove if it becomes necessary and I don't know that he ever owned a cent's worth of stock in it anyway. I dislike to fight him for when one fights such a mean despicable piece of humanity as Bassett it only brings one down to a level with him."

Bassett is rather quick to retort and he will not let remarks derogatory to himself pass unchallenged.

CUPID SHOT TWICE.

Joe Dieves and Son Will Both Be Married This Afternoon.

Joseph P. Dieves, the proprietor of the Three Mile House on the San Leandro road, will be married this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock to Miss Lillie Pitt, the youngest daughter of the owner of Pittsville Park. Their love affair has been noticed for some time and the announcement of their marriage was not unexpected. Their love laughs at difference in ages for though Mr. Dieves has turned forty-eight and Miss Pitt is but twenty-two, they are as fond of each other as a school boy and girl. The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride's parents and about fifty of their most intimate friends have been invited to be present.

The paternal example set by Dieves senior has been followed by his son Charles Isaac. When he learned that his father was about to become a Benedict he rushed to the county clerk's office to join him in leaving a life of celebacy. A license was issued for Charles Isaac Dieves, aged 22, and Irene Lizzie Robb, aged 22, both of Oakland, and a quiet wedding this afternoon will keep Charlie abreast of his dad in matrimonial matters.

TRYING TECHNICALITIES.

Auditor Myron Whidden Well Primed for His Defense.

Some of the Grounds on Which He Will Oppose the Indictments.

Auditor Myron Whidden will give the courts an opportunity to test the legality of the methods by which he was recently indicted by the grand jury. The question has been raised by his attorneys, A. A. Moore and Geo. De Golia, as to the regularity of the proceedings which were followed in his case. Besides the many technical points which will be brought up in the motion to quash and set aside the indictments, Whidden will fall back upon the constitutional prerogative that a person charged with crime can not be compelled to give evidence against himself.

Today in Judge Frick's court Attorney De Golia presented an elaborately prepared motion accompanied by an affidavit from Whidden. These will be used as the basis of argument to be made within a short time.

The motion to set aside the indictment is based on a number of technical grounds. Among them are the following:

First—That the indictment was not found nor endorsed and presented in a manner prescribed by law.

Second—That the names of the witnesses examined before the grand jury, or whose depositions may have been read before them are not inserted at the foot of the indictment or endorsed thereon.

Third—That persons were permitted to be present during the session of the grand jury and when the charge embraced in the indictment was under consideration other than those permitted to be present under the law.

The motion sets forth that Whidden was not permitted the privilege of challenging the jury, or any member of the jury. That will cut an important figure in the proceedings, as the charge is made that in each of the grand jurors there existed a state of mind on his part in reference to the case of Whidden which prevented him from acting impartially and without prejudice to substantial rights of the defendant.

Whidden sets up also the plea that he had not been held to answer before the grand jury or any court and was not charged with any crime when he was subpoenaed to testify before the grand jury. He declares he was not informed that any criminal charge was pending against him. He claims that he was compelled to testify, despite his constitutional privilege.

Attorney De Golia stated that the entire grand jury would be subpoenaed with numerous other witnesses to give evidence in support of the motion to quash the indictment. Only one bill has been selected upon which to proceed. Action upon that will decide the fate of the entire number.

His Case Not Ready to Be Set for Trial.

George Savage, the young man charged with grand larceny who accused Detective Kellogg with an attempt to secure $100 from him to square a case, was in the Superior Court this morning to have his case set for trial. The matter was continued until next Monday because of the inability of his attorney, Thomas Garrity, to attend the case. Attorney Garrity's wife is very ill.

TWO SALOON FIGHTS.

Protests Presented to the Supervisors for Action.

M'NAMEE'S METHODS ATTACKED

Beetles Being Introduced to Combat the Black Scale.

REPORTS OF THE OFFICIALS.

Webster Street Bridge Not Under Their Full Control.

The interminable question as to the propriety of allowing McNamee, the Alameda saloonkeeper, to continue in the liquor business because it was alleged he had sold liquor to minors came up again before the Supervisors this morning. All the members of the board but Mr. Johnston were present.

The attorney for McNamee asked the board to postpone action in the matter of cancelling McNamee's license. At the last meeting of the Supervisors Assistant District Attorney Church rendered an opinion that the ordinance governing the point is constitutional and the board has power to forfeit the license if the offense charged has been proven.

Supervisor Church said he had examined the books of the license collector and found that the McNamee license had not been paid for since the 13th of last month.

License Collector Ballard said that McNamee's permit is good until December 3d of this year.

In response to Supervisor Talcott Mr. Ballard said that McNamee had not paid anything on his license beyond September 13th.

Supervisor Pelouze said that he had asked the license collector to make no collection from McNamee pending the settlement of the case by the Supervisors. He also moved that the case be continued till December 3d at which time, if another petition should be desired, protestants might file objections to grant it.

The Supervisors then went into a private consideration of the matter.

Supervisor Talcott moved as an amendment to Supervisor Pelouze's motion that the matter be continued till the next meeting of the board at 2 P. M., when both sides will be notified to be present.

Supervisor Pelouze said he would accept the amendment provided the question should be finally disposed of at that time.

It was then unanimously agreed that at the next meeting testimony would be taken to show whether or not McNamee had, as charged, sold liquor to minors. It was then agreed that, meantime the license collector was to be excused from taking any action in the premises.

ASKED AID.

Applications for relief were disposed of as follows: Fred G. Moran of 918½ Franklin street, 30 years of age, native of Illinois; referred to the hospital committee. Mrs. J. A. Armstrong, 813 Fallon street, 28 years of age, native of England, one child, deserted by her husband; referred to Supervisor Church.

Charles Wilson, aged 74 years, residing at 733 Filbert street, made a written application for relief and on motion of Supervisor Pelouze he was requested to appear in person before the board.

Horticultural Commissioner Barry of Niles reported that he had distributed since his last report a number of colonies of beetles for the destruction of the black scale in Washington and Eden townships and in Irvington and Mission San Jose. He had also examined and released at railroad stations, for the season, 439,025 fruit and ornamental trees; filed.

J. L. Donovan reported his travels during the months of July, August and September as fish and game warden; filed.

J. R. Talcott reported that he had relieved 104 people during September at a cost of $111.50; filed.

The report of W. S. Pelouze for September showed that he had relieved 150 indigents at a cost of $287; filed.

Supervisor Bailey filed several reports showing how he had aided indigents during several months past as follows: January, 263 people, costing $377 50; February, 261 people, $390.50; March, 279 people, $388.50; April, 290 people, $389; May 308 people, $398; June, 313 people, $382; July, 298 people, $379; August, 272 people, $397; filed.

Dr. Clark of the county infirmary reported that there were 218 patients at that institution at the close of last month and that 45 had been admitted during September. The money collected amounted to $87 50; expended, $60; due the county $27.40; filed.

Gardiner Carey reported that he had accepted for the county 11,630 pounds of coal during the month of September; filed.

LIQUOR PERMITS.

Applications for permission to sell liquor were filed as follows: H. E. Ey, northwest corner of Thirty-ninth street and Telegraph avenue, P. Carosso, Claremont avenue and Clifton street, Temescal; I. W. Ralph, Alvarado. The applications were referred to the judiciary committee.

Requisitions for supplies were made by the assessor, the Superior judges and the gardener and referred to the building committee.

The request of Recorder Spear for several books with "patent backs" caused a little lively but good-natured friction.

Mr. Spear, in support of his request, said that the "patent backs" are a convenience and save money and that Supervisor Church was one of the men who had spoken in favor of them.

Supervisor Church said the board had started in on a line of economy and he desired to have the schedule, in the matter of supplies of the kind mentioned, followed. He said that he had not recommended "patent back" books beyond the fact that they were a convenience to clerks.

A vote on granting the request of the recorder then resulted in a tie, Supervisors Pelouze and Talcott voting in the affirmative and Supervisors Bailey and Church in the negative. The matter was finally laid over until all the members of the board should be present.

W. P. Woolsey and several others asked that Fairview avenue from Telegraph avenue to Raymond street be declared a county road. The matter was referred to the county surveyor.

Similar disposition was made of the request of J. A. Garcia and others, touching Merced avenue between Dover and Telegraph avenues.

Dr. Fisher, physician of the county jail, reported that he had rendered 125 services to prisoners during September, filed.

Permission to sell liquor was granted to John Tierney, Burch and Broadway; Charles Allen, Emeryville; B. Moran, Thirty-sixth street and San Pablo avenue; Jacob Maney, Thirty-seventh street and San Pablo avenue; L. Lehmkull, Railroad and San Pablo avenues; William Dugan, Irvington; Harry Miner, Sunol; John E. Langren, Alameda.

A protest against the granting of a liquor license to Fred Bormann at San Lorenzo Grove was read. It was signed by John Bower, Mrs. Mary Nugent, E. Lewelling and a number of others. It was based on the ground that Bormann's application for a liquor license does not contain the names of the ten citizens, freeholders and heads of families residing nearest San Lorenzo Grove; that the granting of the petition would be prejudicial to the peace and order of the public and particularly to the young people of the community.

G. T. McCollum appeared in person and made a verbal statement. He said the saloon had proven a nuisance to the people in the neighborhood. He instanced the case of one resident, a countryman of Bormann's who had said that while liquor was being sold in San Lorenzo Grove he was compelled to stand with a shotgun to protect his property from those under the influence of liquor sold at the Grove.

On motion of Supervisor Church Bormann was notified to appear before the board next Monday and show cause why his application should not be rejected. It was further agreed that if Bormann did not appear on that day the board would take action in the premises anyway.

A similar protest was filed against the granting of a liquor license to Joseph Cannon of Temescal.

Supervisor Pelouze wanted to know if the protest had been sworn to. He said that the affidavit as to its truthfulness should be made, because the applicant for his license had to swear to his statement of facts.

The clerk announced that the protest had not been sworn to. A desultory talk was then indulged in as to having the surveyor report on the matter, also of having Cannon appear in person before the board. Cannon, however, was present in the lobby, came forward and announced that he was prepared to have the county surveyor report as to whether or not his (Cannon's) application contained the names of the requisite number of neighboring freeholders. The board ordered him to produce the surveyor's certificate to that effect.

The bill of E. S. Van Court for $62 for stenographic work for the coroner in the inquest over the remains of the late Mrs. Gay, the payment of which was objected to, was reported upon by District Attorney Snook to the effect that it was allowable to pay for such work when expert opinions were taken for the coroner. Dr. Baldwin had not consulted him prior to incurring the expense. At the request of Supervisor Church the district attorney stated that at the rate of twenty cents a folio the bill is correct. Decision on the matter was deferred until after the bill shall be considered by the Finance Committee.

District Attorney Snook also announced that he had prepared a written opinion touching the subject introduced by a letter of Colonel Mendell, as regards the obstruction to navigation by the Webster street bridge. He said he would hand in the opinion later, but that the substance of it is that the board is not bound to change the location of the bridge in question, but simply to regulate the opening of the draw so as not to interfere with navigation. Colonel Mendell, he said, seemed to indicate in his letter that the Secretary of War has the right to order the removal of the bridge if it interferes with navigation.

The board decided to await the district attorney's written opinion before taking action on the subject.

The matter of accepting the insurance policy on the Centerville jail was referred to the Building Committee.

NO SETTLEMENT YET.

All Depends Now on What Mrs. Whittemore Will Do.

Mrs. Louise Whittemore is not ready to start the trial of her contest against the probate of the will of the late Philip Boogar, which she claims was made through undue influence and while the old man was not mentally capable of disposing of his property.

The case was set for trial today in Judge Greene's court, but a motion to continue until next Monday was granted. This is the day set for the contest of Mrs. Boogar to the will.

Meanwhile the negotiations for a settlement of the litigation out of court are being made. Locked up in the safe of Reed & Nusbaumer is a conditional agreement to compromise on behalf of Mrs. Boogar and the executors. Before that can be of avail, however, the demands of Mrs. Whittemore, who claims the estate under a will alleged to have been made two years before the old man died, will have to be adjusted. It is probable a settlement of some kind will be reached before next Monday.

Tax Collector Barber Will Stand on the Dalton Assessment.

DALTON ON THE SITUATION.

An Appeal Taken From the Decision of Judge Ellsworth.

The tax rolls of Alameda county were transferred this morning by Auditor Whidden to County Tax Collector Barber. The transfer had hardly been made before Barber was served with a document by County Assessor Dalton. The context is appended. It contains the judgment and decree of Judge Ellsworth in the Buswell suit and warns Barber against accepting payment of taxes from any person other than on figures based upon the original assessment as made by Dalton.

The situation, however, has become very much simplified. In fact there is no clashing today and no disturbance of the ordinary routine. Tax Collector Barber said it made no difference to him what was said or done by others. He had decided as soon as the decree of the court reached him to refuse to accept any payment of taxes that was not in accord with the original valuations as placed upon the assessment rolls by Assessor Dalton.

Barber has had an oral opinion from the district attorney to the same purport. He has thus been doubly armed to resist any movement that may be made to avoid the payment of the original tax.

The rolls are now in the possession of Barber and the payment of taxes commenced this morning. There was the usual rush of the first day, but the large majority of visitors called not to pay but to procure their tax bills.

Speaking of the situation and the manner in which the matter had been satisfactorily adjusted pending a decision from the Supreme Court, Barber said: "District Attorney Snook has filed no written opinion with me, but I have an oral opinion from him not to accept any taxes except upon the face value as made in the original assessment. That is what I should do whether the district attorney had so advised or not."

"Has the Southern Pacific Company offered or intimated it would pay its taxes and demand a receipt on the corrected assessment?"

"No," replied Barber, "I have had no intimation that the Southern Pacific would tender payment now. That story came like many others have from I know not where."

Assessor Dalton said today that all he had now to watch was the legal end of the fight which will shortly go to the Supreme Court. "There is one matter that may cause a bit of trouble," he said. The Southern Pacific Company may decline and probably will refuse to pay the taxes on my assessment of the Seventh street local road, on the grounds that it has been assessed by the State Board of Equalization. In such event it may be found that the road has been doubly assessed and the Tax Collector might be unable to segregate it from the main system."

The appeal to the Supreme Court has been perfected and notice was filed this morning in the County Clerk's office in behalf of County Auditor Whidden as one of the defendants to the suit.

THE NOTICE TO BARBER.

The full text of the notice served upon Barber and including the judgment and decree of the court is as follows:

Oakland, Cal., Oct. 8, 1895.

Mr. James B. Barber, Tax Collector of Alameda County: Dear Sir—You are hereby notified in your official capacity that in the case of E. G. Buswell, a taxpayer, vs. the Board of Supervisors of Alameda county and Myron A. Whidden as auditor of said county, the Superior Court of Alameda county on October 5, 1895, duly gave and made its judgment and decree which has been duly entered as the final judgment of said court and by which it was determined and adjudged.

That the several listings and assessments made by the county assessor for the year 1895 upon and against the items, lots, pieces and parcels of property designated and described fully and particularly in said judgment (reference to which is filed and entered in the county clerk's office of Alameda county is hereby made) were duly and legally made and entered in the assessment books or roll of said county for 1895, and are severally the lawful assessment and valuation thereof without any alteration or change.

That the Board of Equalization for Alameda county for 1895 did not and could not legally sit or act after July 15, 1895, and that there was no Board of Equalization of Alameda county on July 25, 1895, when a pretended order of reduction and change of said assessments of said property by the assessor was passed and adopted by the Board of Supervisors assuming and pretending to sit and act as a county board of equalization.

That said pretended order of said Board of date July 25, 1895, was and is wholly void.

That no order extending the time of the Board of Supervisors of Alameda county to sit as or to act as a Board of Equalization in or for the year 1895, to perform any act, was ever made by the State Board of Equalization.

That the changes made in the assessment books or rolls of Alameda county for 1895 in pursuance of said pretended order of July 25, 1895, are and that each of them was and is wholly ineffectual and void and did not and do not constitute valid or any legal changes in or upon said assessment books or roll as originally prepared and completed by said county assessor, and that all said changes are to be and shall be ignored and treated nullities by the defendants and each of them and by all officers of Alameda county having hereforth (i. e. after October 5, 1895,) anything to do with the assessment book, books or roll of the State and county taxes or the collection thereof in the County of Alameda for the fiscal year 1895-96.

That said pretended order of July 25, 1895, was cancelled and vacated and rendered of no effect and that all and singular the changes or purported changes of or on the original assessment roll prepared and completed by said county assessor concerning any items, lots, pieces or parcels of property described in this judgment and decree, whether any such changes were attempted under said order of July 25, 1895, or under any other entry, alteration or change made in pursuance of any color thereof, shall (all and singular) be ignored and disregarded by the defendants and each of them and by every other officer of Alameda county hereafter (i. e. after October 5, 1895,) having to do with the assessment books or roll or the collection of taxes of or in said county for State and county purposes for the fiscal year 1895-96.

You are further notified that said judgment and decree is now on file in the office of the county clerk of Alameda county, having been filed October 5, 1895, and that therein are specifically designated the several items, pieces, lots and parcels of property attempted to be but not affected, as to their assessment valuations, by said void and cancelled order of July 25, 1895, passed on that day by said Board of Supervisors pretending to sit and act as a Board of Equalization of Alameda county; the number of said case and its files, including said judgment and decree is 11,111, Records of Suits and Actions of and in the Superior Court of Alameda County.

You are also notified that should you fail or refuse to act in your official capacity as tax collector of Alameda county in accordance and compliance with said judgment and decree and this notice you will do so at your peril and that of your bondsmen and sureties; and you are especially cautioned and notified not to give, issue or deliver to any taxpayer or person and receipt for his, her or its taxes for 1895-96 except upon receiving first the full amount of taxes chargeable to and payable by such person or taxpayer ignoring and irrespective of said pretended order of July 25, 1895, attempted to be passed and put into effect by said Board of Supervisors on and after July 25, 1895.

And you are further cautioned and notified that said judgment and decree renders and adjudges invalid and void all entries and changes which may have been made by or upon said assessment book or rolls by the county clerk or auditor pursuing said void and cancelled order of July 25, 1895 and that when said judgment was given and made by said court against said Board of Supervisors in their official capacity and against said auditor in his official capacity, it is notice by judgment and binds and concludes all other county officers of said county having to do with the taxes for State and county purposes for the fiscal year 1895-96.

Your attention is directed to the doctrine briefly stated in Freeman on Judgments to 2d edition, section 178.

E. G. BUSWELL,
Taxpayer.
HENRY P. DALTON,
County Assessor.

The matter of the appeal in the county assessment came up before the Board of Supervisors this morning.

BEFORE THE BOARD.

District Attorney Snook Is Ordered to Make an Appeal.

District Attorney Snook announced that in the case of E. G. Buswell vs. the Supervisors, the decision had been against the defendant. He wanted to know whether the supervisors desired the case to be appealed or not. Auditor Whidden, he said, had perfected his appeal and had filed a stay bond.

Supervisor Church asked whether it is not true, if the matter is not settled now that it will remain an open question for many years.

Mr. Snook said that if it be not settled now, it might mean the crippling of the tax roll of the county. No suits could be brought against delinquents until the end of the next fiscal year. He thought there is no doubt that the Supreme Court would be willing to give precedence to the suit. The tax rolls, he said, had been turned over to Tax Collector Barber and that official had informed him that he would not accept any money except on the original figures of the assessor.

Supervisor Church then said that, in order to settle the matter he would move that the district attorney be instructed to appeal the case to the Supreme Court.

The motion was seconded by Supervisor Talcott and was carried, Supervisors Bailey, Church and Talcott voting in the affirmative, Supervisor Pelouze in the negative, Supervisor Johnston being absent.

NO POWER TO ACT.

Miss Cunningham Wins Her Fight Before Judge Murphy.

CONTEMPT CASES HANDLED.

The Court Concedes a Point as Regards Doctor Cheney.

EFFORTS AT IMPEACHMENT.

Mrs. Crossett Challenged as to Her Street Car Journey.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8.—Judge Murphy today decided that he had no power to punish Miss Carrie Cunningham, a newspaper reporter, for contempt of court.

During the trial of the Durrant case last week Miss Cunningham was called to the stand by the defense and asked to tell where she obtained certain information relative to Mrs. Leak's testimony.

When Miss Cunningham first refused to answer the question Judge Murphy announced that he would send her to prison for contempt of court, but today decided that he had not the power.

He said the defense had no right to ask the question, as it could not impeach Mrs. Leak's testimony.

The court also reversed the ruling made last week by which the defense was deprived of the opportunity of asking Dr. Cheney if he was not positive in his own mind that Durrant attended the lecture at Cooper Medical College on April 3rd.

The court said that while he believed the question was objectionable, as it called for the opinion of a witness, he would permit Dr. Cheney to answer it, as he desired to err on the side of the defense if he erred at all.

Dr. Cheney will be recalled to the stand today.

The defense this morning continued the calling of witnesses to show the previous good reputation of Durrant.

When Dr. Cheney took the stand the defense declined to ask the questions formally ruled out by the court.

An effort was made to impeach the testimony of Mrs. Crossett by calling to the stand Leonard Everett, a boy, who told how long it took him to ride on the street car from Sacramento and Walnut streets to Twenty-second and Valencia streets.

The purpose of the testimony was to show that Mrs. Crossett could not have made the trip between the two points on the afternoon of April 3rd, when she swore she saw Durrant and Blanche Lamont in the time given by the witness.

Everett's testimony was corroborated by Marvin Curtis.

KELLOGG'S CASE.

The Ex-Railroad Detective Secures a Reduction of His Bail.

Ex-Railroad Detective George H. Kellogg was in Judge Frick's court today for arraignment on a charge of compounding a felony, as indicted by the grand jury. Kellogg was under $4000 bonds but his attorney succeeded in having that figure lowered to $2500, which sum Kellogg says he can secure sureties. The case was continued until next Monday when Kellogg will be called upon to plead.

A TART REPLY.

Councilman Mannel Makes a Reoponse to "Old Pard."

Manuel and Bassett propose to make the meeting of the City Council tonight a lively one.

"I intend to answer tonight the attacks he has been making on me," said Manuel, "but I have nothing to say outside. He knows that when he says Pardee wrote, or had any hand in writing, the speech I made Saturday night that it is not true. What I said about his not owning a dollar's worth of stock at the present time in the so-called Davie ferry I can prove if it becomes necessary and I don't know that he ever owned a cent's worth of stock in it anyway. I dislike to fight him for when one fights such a mean despicable piece of humanity as Bassett it only brings one down to a level with him."

Bassett is rather quick to retort and he will not let remarks derogatory to himself pass unchallenged.

CUPID SHOT TWICE.

Joe Dieves and Son Will Both Be Married This Afternoon.

Joseph P. Dieves, the proprietor of the Three Mile House on the San Leandro road, will be married this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock to Miss Lillie Plitt, the youngest daughter of the owner of Plittsville Park. Their love affair has been noticed for some time and the announcement of their marriage was not unexpected. Their love laughs at difference in ages for though Mr. Dieves has turned forty-eight and Miss Plitt is but twenty-two, they are as fond of each other as a school boy and girl. The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride's parents and about fifty of their most intimate friends have been invited to be present.

The paternal example set by Dieves senior has been followed by his son Charles Isaac. When he learned that his father was about to become a Benedict he rushed to the county clerk's office to join him in leaving a life of celebacy. A license was issued for Charles Isaac Dieves, aged 22, and Irene Lizzie Robb, aged 22, both of Oakland, and a quiet wedding this afternoon will keep Charlie abreast of his dad in matrimonial matters.

TRYING TECHNICALITIES.

Auditor Myron Whidden Well Primed for His Defense.

Some of the Grounds on Which He Will Oppose the Indictments.

Auditor Myron Whidden will give the courts an opportunity to test the legality of the methods by which he was recently indicted by the grand jury. The question has been raised by his attorneys, A. A. Moore and Geo. De Golia, as to the regularity of the proceedings which were followed in his case. Besides the many technical points which will be brought up in the motion to quash and set aside the indictments, Whidden will fall back upon the constitutional prerogative that a person charged with crime can not be compelled to give evidence against himself.

Today in Judge Frick's court Attorney De Golia presented an elaborately prepared motion accompanied by an affidavit from Whidden. These will be used as the basis of argument to be made within a short time.

The motion to set aside the indictment is based on a number of technical grounds. Among them are the following:

First—That the indictment was not found nor endorsed and presented in a manner prescribed by law.

Second—That the names of the witnesses examined before the grand jury, or whose depositions may have been read before them are not inserted at the foot of the indictment or endorsed thereon.

Third—That persons were permitted to be present during the session of the grand jury and when the charge embraced in the indictment was under consideration other than those permitted to be present under the law.

The motion sets forth that Whidden was not permitted the privilege of challenging the jury, or any member of the jury. That will cut an important figure in the proceedings, as the charge is made that in each of the grand jurors there existed a state of mind on his part in reference to the case of Whidden which prevented him from acting impartially and without prejudice to substantial rights of the defendant.

Whidden sets up also the plea that he had not been held to answer before the grand jury or any court and was not charged with any crime when he was subpoenaed to testify before the grand jury. He declares he was not informed that any criminal charge was pending against him. He claims that he was compelled to testify, despite his constitutional privilege.

Attorney De Golia stated that the entire grand jury would be subpoenaed with numerous other witnesses to give evidence in support of the motion to quash the indictment. Only one bill has been selected upon which to proceed. Action upon that will decide the fate of the entire number.

SAVAGE IN COURT.

His Case Not Ready to Be Set for Trial.

George Savage, the young man charged with grand larceny who accused Detective Kellogg with an atempt to secure $100 from him to square a case, was in the Superior Court this morning to have his case set for trial. The matter was continued until next Monday because of the inability of his attorney, Thomas Garrity, to attend the case. Attorney Garrity's wife is very ill.

SPECIAL COUNSEL.

Michael Collins to Be Prosecuted by R. B. Terry.

The case of Michael Collins, charged with the killing of Philip Boogar, was set for second trial today in the Superior Court. Another criminal case, however, that his been partially heard—that of Cornelius Stuart—interfered, and the Collins case was continued until tomorrow. Attorney Reel B. Terry has been associated with the district attorney in the prosecution of Collins.

TWO SALOON FIGHTS.

Protests Presented to the Supervisors for Action.

M'NAMEE'S METHODS ATTACKED

Beetles Being Introduced to Combat the Black Scale.

REPORTS OF THE OFFICIALS.

Webster Street Bridge Not Under Their Full Control.

The interminable question as to the propriety of allowing McNamee, the Alameda saloonkeeper, to continue in the liquor business because it was alleged he had sold liquor to minors came up again before the Supervisors this morning. All the members of the board but Mr. Johnston were present.

The attorney for McNamee asked the board to postpone action in the matter of cancelling McNamee's license. At the last meeting of the Supervisors Assistant District Attorney Church rendered an opinion that the ordinance governing the point is constitutional and the board has power to forfeit the license if the offense charged has been proven.

Supervisor Church said he had examined the books of the license collector and found that the McNamee license had not been paid for since the 13th of last month.

License Collector Ballard said that McNamee's permit is good until December 3d of this year.

In response to Supervisor Talcott, Mr. Ballard said that McNamee had not paid anything on his license beyond September 13th.

Supervisor Pelouze said that he had asked the license collector to make no collection from McNamee pending the settlement of the case by the Supervisors. He also moved that the case be continued till December 3d, at which time, if another petition should be desired, protestants might file objections to grant it.

The Supervisors then went into a private consideration of the matter.

Supervisor Talcott moved as an amendment to Supervisor Pelouze's motion that the matter be continued till the next meeting of the board at 2 P. M., when both sides will be notified to be present.

Supervisor Pelouze said he would accept the amendment provided the question should be finally disposed of at that time.

It was then unanimously agreed that at the next meeting testimony would be taken to show whether or not McNamee had, as charged, sold liquor to minors. It was then agreed that, meantime the license collector was to be excused from taking any action in the premises.

ASKED AID.

Applications for relief were disposed of as follows: Fred C. Moran of 918½ Franklin street, 30 years of age, native of Illinois; referred to the hospital committee. Mrs. J. A. Armstrong, 813 Fallon street, 23 years of age, native of England, one child, deserted by her husband; referred to Supervisor Church.

Charles Wilson, aged 74 years, residing at 733 Filbert street, made a written application for relief and on motion of Supervisor Pelouze he was requested to appear in person before the board.

Horticultural Commissioner Barry of Niles reported that he had distributed since his last report a number of colonies of beetles for the destruction of the black scale in Washington and Eden townships and in Irvington and Mission San Jose. He had also examined and released at railroad stations, for the season, 439,025 fruit and ornamental trees; filed.

J. L. Donovan reported his travels during the months of July, August and September as fish and game warden; filed.

J. R. Talcott reported that he had relieved 104 people during September at a cost of $111.50; filed.

Supervisor Bailey filed several reports showing how he had aided indigents during several months past as follows: January, 263 people, costing $377.50; Febraury, 261 people, $399.50; March, 279 people, $388.50; April, 290 people, $389; May, 308 people, $398; June, 313 people, $382; July, 298 people, $379; August, 272 people, $387; filed.

Dr. Clark of the county infirmary reported that there were 219 patients at that institution at the close of last month and that 45 had been admitted during September. The money collected amounted to $57.50; expended, $60; due the county, $27.40; filed.

Gardiner Carey reported that he had accepted for the county 11,630 pounds of coal during the month of September; filed.

LIQUOR PERMITS.

Applications for permission to sell liquor were filed as follows: H. E. Ey, northwest corner of Thirty-ninth street and Telegraph avenue; P. Carosso, Claremont avenue and Clifton street, Temescal; I. W. Ralph, Alvarado. The applications were referred to the judiciary committee.

Requisitions for supplies were made by the assessor, the Superior judges and the gardener and referred to the building committee.

The request of Recorder Spear for several books with "patent backs" caused a little lively but good-natured friction.

Mr. Spear, in support of his request, said that the "patent backs" are a convenience and save money and that Supervisor Church was one of the men who had spoken in favor of them.

Supervisor Church said the board had started in on a line of economy and he desired to have the schedule, in the matter of supplies of the kind mentioned, followed. He said that he had not recommended "patent back" books beyond the fact that they were a convenience to clerks.

A vote on granting the request of the recorder then resulted in a tie, Supervisors Pelouze and Talcott voting in the affirmative and Supervisors Bailey and Church in the negative. The matter was finally laid over until all the members of the board should be present.

W. P. Woolsey and several others asked that Fairview avenue from Telegraph avenue to Raymond street be declared a county road. The matter was referred to the county surveyor.

Similar disposition was made of the request of J. A. Garcia and others, touching Merced avenue between Dover and Telegraph avenues.

Dr. Fisher, physician of the county jail, reported that he had rendered 125 services to prisoners during September; filed.

Permission to sell liquor was granted to John Tierney, Burch and Broadway; Charles Allen, Emeryville; B. Moran, Thirty-sixth street and San Pablo avenue; Jacob Maney, Thirty-seventh street and San Pablo avenue; L. Lehmkull, Railroad and San Pablo avenues; William Dugan, Irvington; Harry Miner, Sunol; John E. Langren, Alameda.

A protest against the granting of a liquor license to Fred Bormann at San Lorenzo Grove was read. It was signed by John Bower, Mrs. Mary Nugent, E. Lewelling and a number of others. It was based on the ground that Bormann's application for a liquor license does not contain the names of the ten citizens, freeholders and heads of families residing nearest San Lorenzo Grove; that the granting of the petition would be prejudicial to the peace and order of the public and particularly so the young people of the community.

G. T. McCollum appeared in person and made a verbal statement. He said the saloon had proven a nuisance to the people in the neighborhood. He instanced the case of one resident, a countryman of Bormann's who had said that while liquor was being sold in San Lorenzo Grove he was compelled to stand with a shotgun to protect his property from those under the influence of liquor sold at the Grove.

On motion of Supervisor Church Bormann was notified to appear before the board next Monday and show cause why his application should not be rejected. It was further agreed that if Bormann did not appear on that day the board would take action in the premises anyway.

A similar protest was filed against the granting of a liquor license to Joseph Cannon of Temescal.

Supervisor Pelouze wanted to know if the protest had been sworn to. He said that the affidavit as to its truthfulness should be made, because the applicant for his license had to swear to his statement of facts.

The clerk announced that the protest had not been sworn to. A desultory talk was then indulged in as to having the surveyor report on the matter, also of having Cannon appear in person before the board. Cannon, however, was present in the lobby, came forward and announced that he was prepared to have the county surveyor report as to whether or not his (Cannon's) application contained the names of the requisite number of neighboring freeholders. The board ordered him to produce the surveyor's certificate to that effect.

The bill of E. S. Van Court for $62 for stenographic work for the coroner in the inquest over the remains of the late Mrs. Gay, the payment of which was objected to, was reported upon by District Attorney Snook to the effect that it was allowable to pay for such work when expert opinions were taken for the coroner. Dr. Baldwin had not consulted him prior to incurring the expense. At the request of Supervisor Church the district attorney stated that at the rate of twenty cents a folio the bill is correct. Decision on the matter was deferred until after the bill shall be considered by the Finance Committee.

District Attorney Snook also announced that he had prepared a written opinion touching the subject introduced by a letter of Colonel Mendell, as regards the obstruction to navigation by the Webster street bridge. He said he would hand in the opinion later, but that the substance of it is that the board is not bound to change the location of the bridge in question, but simply to regulate the opening of the draw so as not to interfere with navigation. Colonel Mendell, he said, seemed to indicate in his letter that the Secretary of War has the right to order the removal of the bridge if it interferes with navigation.

The board decided to await the district attorney's written opinion before taking action on the subject.

The matter of accepting the insurance policy on the Centerville jail was referred to the Building Committee.

NO SETTLEMENT YET.

All Depends Now on What Mrs. Whittemore Will Do.

Mrs. Louise Whittemore is not ready to start the trial of her contest against the probate of the will of the late Philip Boogar, which she claims was made through undue influence and while the old man was not mentally capable of disposing of his property.

The case was set for trial today in Judge Greene's court, but a motion to continue until next Monday was granted. This is the day set for the contest of Mrs. Boogar to the will.

Meanwhile the negotiations for a settlement of the litigation out of court are being made. Locked up in the safe of Reed & Nusbaumer is a conditional agreement to compromise on behalf of Mrs. Boogar and the executors. Before that can be of avail, however, the demands of Mrs. Whittemore, who claims the estate under a will alleged to have been made two years before the old man died, will have to be adjusted. It is probable a settlement of some kind will be reached before next Monday.

Tax Collector Barber Will Stand on the Dalton Assessment.

REDUCTIONS NOT ALLOWED.

No Offer Has Been Made by the Southern Pacific Company.

DALTON ON THE SITUATION.

An Appeal Taken From the Decision of Judge Ellsworth.

The tax rolls of Alameda county were transferred this morning by Auditor Whidden to County Tax Collector Barber. The transfer had hardly been made before Barber was served with a document by County Assessor Dalton. The context is appended. It contains the judgment and decree of Judge Ellsworth in the Buswell suit and warns Barber against accepting payment of taxes from any person other than on figures based upon the original assessment as made by Dalton.

The situation, however, has become very much simplified. In fact there is no clashing today and no disturbance of the ordinary routine. Tax Collector Barber said it made no difference to him what was said or done by others. He had decided as soon as the decree of the court reached him to refuse to accept any payment of taxes that was not in accord with the original valuations as placed upon the asessment rolls by Assessor Dalton.

Barber has had an oral opinion from the district attorney to the same purport. He has thus been doubly armed to resist any movement that may be made to avoid the payment of the original tax.

The rolls are now in the possession of Barber and the payment of taxes commenced this morning. There was the usual rush of the first day, but the large majority of visitors called not to pay but to procure their tax bills.

Speaking of the situation and the manner in which the matter had been satisfactorily adjusted pending a decision from the Supreme Court, Barber said: "District Attorney Snook has filed no written opinion with me, but I have an oral opinion from him not to accept any taxes except upon the face value as made in the original assessment. That is what I should do whether the district attorney had so advised or not."

"Has the Southern Pacific Company offered or intimated it would pay its taxes and demand a receipt on the corrected assessment?"

"No!" replied Barber, "I have had no intimation that the Southern Pacific would tender payment now. That story came like many others have from I know not where."

Assessor Dalton said today that all he had now to watch was the legal end of the fight which will shortly go to the Supreme Court. "There is one matter that may cause a bit of trouble," he said. The Southern Pacific Company may decline and probably will refuse to pay the taxes on my assessment of the Seventh street local road, on the grounds that it has been assessed by the State Board of Equalization. In such event it may be found that the road has been doubly assessed and the Tax Collector might be unable to segregate it from the main system."

The appeal to the Supreme Court has been perfected and notice was filed this morning in the County Clerk's office in behalf of County Auditor Whidden as one of the defendants to the suit.

THE NOTICE TO BARBER.

The full text of the notice served upon Barber and including the judgment and decree of the court is as follows:

Oakland, Cal., Oct. 8, 1895.

Mr. James B. Barber, Tax Collector of Alameda County: Dear Sir—You are hereby notified in your official capacity that in the case of E. G. Buswell, a taxpayer, vs. the Board of Supervisors of Alameda county and Myron A. Whidden as auditor of said county, the Superior Court of Alameda county on October 5, 1895, duly gave and made its judgment and decree which has been duly entered as the final judgment of said court and by which it was determined and adjudged.

That the several listings and assessments made by the county assessor for the year 1895 upon and against the items, lots, pieces and parcels of property designated and described fully and particularly in said judgment (reference to which is filed and entered in the county clerk's office of Alameda county is hereby made) were duly and legally made and entered in the assessment books or roll of said county for 1895, and are severally the lawful assessment and valuation thereof without any alteration or change.

That the Board of Equalization for Alameda county for 1895 did not and could not legally sit or act after July 15, 1895, and that there was no Board of Equalization of Alameda county on July 25, 1895, when a pretended order of reduction and change of said assessments of said property by the assessor was passed and adopted by the Board of Supervisors assuming and pretending to sit and act as a county board of equalization.

That said pretended order of said Board of date July 25, 1895, was and is wholly void.

That no order extending the time of the Board of Supervisors of Alameda county to sit as or to act as a Board of Equalization in or for the year 1895, to perform any act, was ever made by the State Board of Equalization.

That the changes made in the assessment books or rolls of Alameda county for 1895 in pursuance of said pretended order of July 25, 1895, are and that each of them was and is wholly ineffectual and void and did not and do not constitute valid or any legal changes in or upon said assessment books or roll as originally prepared and completed by said county assessor, and that all said changes are to be and shall be ignored and treated nullities by the defendants and each of them and by all officers of Alameda county having henceforth (i. e. after October 5, 1895,) anything to do with the assessment book, books or roll of the State and county taxes or the collection thereof in the County of Alameda for the fiscal year 1895-96.

That said pretended order of July 25, 1895, was cancelled and vacated and rendered of no effect and that all and singular the changes or purported changes of or on the original assessment roll prepared and completed by said county assessor concerning any items, lots, pieces or parcels of property described in this judgment and decree, whether any such changes were attempted under said order of July 25, 1895, or under any other entry, alteration or change made in pursuance of any color thereof, shall (all and singular) be ignored and disregarded by the defendants and each of them and by every other officer of Alameda county hereafter (i. e. after October 5, 1895,) having to do with the assessment books or roll or the collection of taxes of or in said county for State and county purposes for the fiscal year 1895-96.

You are further notified that said judgment and decree is now on file in the office of the county clerk of Alameda county, having been filed October 5, 1895, and that therein are specifically designated the several items, pieces, lots and parcels of property attempted to be but not affected, as to their assessment valuations, by said void and cancelled order of July 25, 1895, passed on that day by said Board of Supervisors pretending to sit and act as a Board of Equalization of Alameda county; the number of said case and its files, including said judgment and decree is 11,411, Records of Suits and Actions of and in the Superior Court of Alameda County.

You are also notified that should you fail or refuse to act in your official capacity as tax collector of Alameda county in accordance and compliance with said judgment and decree and this notice you will do so at your peril and that of your bondsmen and sureties; and you are especially cautioned and notified not to give, issue or deliver to any taxpayer or person and receipt for his, her or its taxes for 1895-96 except upon receiving first the full amount of taxes chargeable to and payable by such person or taxpayer ignoring and irrespective of said pretended order of July 25, 1895, attempted to be passed and put into effect by said Board of Supervisors on and after July 25, 1895.

And you are further cautioned and notified that said judgment and decree renders and adjudges invalid and void all entrees and changes which may have been manully put upon said assessment books or rolls by the county clerk or auditor pursuing said void and cancelled order of July 25, 1895, and that when said judgment was given and made by said court against said Board of Supervisors in their official capacity and against said auditor in his official capacity, it is notice by judgment and binds and concludes all other county officers of said county having to do with the taxes (for State and county purposes) for the fiscal year 1895-96.

Your attention is directed to the doctrine briefly stated in Freeman on Judgments to 3d edition, section 178.

E. G. BUSWELL,
Taxpayer.
HENRY P. DALTON,
County Assessor.

The matter of the appeal in the county assessment came up before the Board of Supervisors this morning.

BEFORE THE BOARD.

District Attorney Snook Is Ordered to Make an Appeal.

District Attorney Snook announced that in the case of E. G. Buswell vs. the Supervisors, the decision had been against the defendant. He wanted to know whether the supervisors desired the case to be appealed or not. Auditor Whidden, he said, had perfected his appeal and had filed a stay bond.

Supervisor Church asked whether it is not true, if the matter is not settled now that it will remain an open question for many years.

Mr. Snook said that if it be not settled now, it might mean the crippling of the tax roll of the county. No suits could be brought against delinquents until the end of the next fiscal year. He thought there is no doubt that the Supreme Court would be willing to give precendence to the suit. The tax rolls, he said, had been turned over to Tax Collector Barber and that official had informed him that he would not accept any money except on the original figures of the assessor.

Supervisor Church then said that, in order to settle the matter he would move that the district attorney be instructed to appeal the case to the Supreme Court.

The motion was seconded by Supervisor Talcott and was carried, Supervisors Bailey, Church and Talcott voting in the affirmative, Supervisor Pelouze in the negative, Supervisor Johnston being absent.

Railroad Men Anticipate a Visit From Collis P. Huntington.

Police Officer Scanlan Saves Two Lives at Sixteenth Street Depot.

WEST OAKLAND, Oct. 7.—Today every employe of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, from the humble position of engine wiper to the high and exalted office of division superintendent was, at his post of duty on time to the minute and many were on hand several minutes ahead of time. The cause of the promptness of the men to report for duty was due to the fact that it was stated Saturday that Collis P. Huntington would make a tour of inspection of the yards and mole this morning. This story was given considerable coloring on account of the unexpected visit yesterday of A. N. Towne's successor, Julius Kruttschnitt, the new general manager, who made a close investigation of everything at the yards.

Today the employes are waiting anxiously for Mr. Huntington's appearance. They are laboring under a big strain and all want to be relieved as soon as possible. Many are afraid that the powerful magnate may wield his economical ax and throw their heads into the basket. In anticipation of what might possibly happen the men are all prepared to set in and work hard while the magnate is watching them. Nearly all are armed with a couple of handkerchiefs which they will draw from their pockets to wipe the perspiration from their brows which will necessarily flow. If they do not melt the handkerchiefs will be put in operation anyway.

A trip through the yards this morning showed that every employe was active, much more so than they have been prior to Mr. Huntington's appearance in San Francisco. The men could scarcely make time to talk. Master Mechanic McKenzie was on deck attired apparently in his best suit of clothes. An elegant watch chain decorated his breast and as he walked through the yards he carried a newspaper in his right hand. As a matter of fact, he was taken by some of the machinists for the much-feared Mr. Huntington. When he got within close range, however, the men realized their mistake, but postponed the cracking of jokes over the matter until the dinner hour as Mr. Huntington might accidentally happen to appear and then there would be trouble.

Down in Master Car Repairer Ludlow's department the subordinates could be seen through the office window working as industriously as bees in a hive.

In the carpenter department Superintendent Dan Robertson was on the jump all the morning and if Mr. Huntington had happened along he could not say that Mr. Robertson had a sinecure.

Probably the most remarkable incident of the day occurred in Mr. McKenzie's office. It appeared that Operator John Hickey had not heard of the expected arrival of the Southern Pacific president, and so he came to work without a clean collar. When he was told what was expected he was almost thunderstruck. He was afraid to go home and after doing some thinking he concluded to take a little salt and try to erase the dirt from his collar. The remedy worked to perfection and Mr. Hickey of course felt satisfied. The boys in the office, however, could not find time to laugh.

BADLY BEATEN.

The Imperial baseball club went to San Francisco yesterday and played the Young Pacifics at Golden Gate park. The Pacific's won easy by a score of 17 to 4. They batted Wallace McKinnon's pitching without any trouble and before the game was over the Imperials had to get another twirler. The contest was for $15 a side and a great deal of outside betting was done. A number of West Oakland sports lost quite heavily on the favorites. The Imperials defeated the Pacifics in Oakland a week ago by a score of 11 to 10 and yesterday they thought they could repeat it, but the Pacifics turned the tables.

GONE TO FRESNO.

Miss Nellie Walsh, chief of honor of Dawn of Hope Lodge, No. 1, Degree of Honor, left this morning for Fresno, where she will spend a few weeks vacation. Miss Walsh was accompanied to the train at Sixteenth street depot by a large number of friends.

THE MORTGAGE IS DUE.

The German Savings and Loan Society of San Francisco has sued John S. Martin, Ellen F. Martin and J. H. Bishop to foreclose a $2000 mortgage on a piece of land on the southeast corner of Cedar and Short streets. The mortgage was given in San Francisco on October 12, 1891, as security for the payment of a promissory note for $2000.

Y. M. I. WILL ENTERTAIN.

American Council, Young Men's Institute, will give an entertainment and dance at Fraternity hall, corner Seventh and Peralta streets this evening. Extensive arrangements have been made and the affair promises to be a fine success.

SAVED TWO LIVES.

Police Officer Jack Scanlan performed an act last evening at Sixteenth street depot which probably saved the lives of a mother and her daughter. A woman and young girl boarded the 4:30 Berkeley local, which they mistook for the Sacramento train, but they did not discover their error until the train commenced to pull out on its journey to Berkeley. The woman, as soon as she found she was on the wrong train, ran to the door, followed by her daughter and jumped from the train. She was caught by Officer Scanlan just as she was rolling under the wheels. The girl in alighting fell into the officers arms and escaped injury. The mother was slightly injured from the fall, but recovered in time to get the train for the capital. The woman positively refused to give her name, but heartily thanked the officer for his gallant act.

NOAH WEBSTER'S DISMAY.

Heartbroken Because His Dictionary Was Put Up at Auction.

H. S. Parsons, formerly of this city, but now living in South Hadley Falls, Mass., is visiting relatives in Hartford. Mr. Parsons, who is a well preserved man of seventy-five years, came to Hartford when a lad in 1834, and for several years was employed in the book store of Belknap & Hammersley. Noah Webster was a daily visitor to the bookstore. When Mr. Webster had his dictionary placed on the market the success of his effort was problematical, and much to his dismay he saw an advertisement in a New Haven paper offering to sell it at auction among other articles. This had a disheartening effect on Mr. Webster. He went to the store of Mr. Booth, the bookseller in New Haven.

"Are you Mr. Booth?" said Webster.

"Yes, sir," said Booth.

"Is it true," said Mr. Webster, in a trembling voice, with eyes very moist, "that you are selling my dictionaries at auction."

"Are you Mr. Webster?" said Booth.

"I am."

"Well now, Mr. Webster," said Booth, "I'll tell you all about it. I only bought one copy, for which I paid the full retail price. I thought I might work off a lot of unsalable stuff by putting into my sale one of your books. I expected to lose money on that, but I thought I could make it up on the others." The relief that Mr. Webster experienced can be imagined.—Hartford Courant.

COULD NOT CHANGE.

Important Decision Bearing Upon Beneficiary Organizations.

Societies Have Control Over the Certificates Issued to Members.

M. C. Chapman, the attorney for the Supreme Council of the Portuguese Union of the State of California, was notified today of an important decision in his favor by the Supreme court. The suit is one brought by Manuel Joaquin da Silva and wife against the Union to recover on a certificate. The suit was decided in the lower court against the Union, but the Supreme Court remands it for a new trial.

The decision has an important bearing on many of the beneficiary organizations of the State. These societies generally have no rules or regulations prescribing how a member may change his beneficiaries. The Supreme Court decides that in the absence of such rules and regulations they cannot be changed by will, but can only be changed by a surrender of the certificate of membership and the issuance of a new certificate with other beneficiaries named therein, because no change in the beneficiaries can be made without the consent of the society issuing the certificate of membership.

This membership was tried in the Superior Court of this county about a year ago before Judge Henshaw and resulted in a judgment of $940 in favor of Frank Silva, who, when he found that the Union had been sued upon the certificate, intervened, claiming the money due, under a will. The defendant Portuguese Union disclaimed any interest in this money further than that it was ready and willing to turn it over to the intervenor or to the plaintiffs as the court should decide.

Some three years since the father-in-law of the plaintiff, Manuel Dutra, died. About six weeks prior to his death he became a member of the Portuguese Union and had issued to him a certificate of membership and named as his beneficiaries the plaintiffs. The plaintiffs were entitled under the certificate to receive one dollar from each member in good standing in Council No. 1 of the Union. There were 340 such members at the time of Dutra's death. Subsequently to the time of taking out such certificate and just before his death, Dutra attempted, without a surrender of his certificate to the union, to change his beneficiaries by will, under the provisions of which he devised the proceeds of the certificate to the intervenor. So that the real issue of the case was whether the beneficiaries under the will or the beneficiaries named in the certificate were entitled to the money. In the Superior Court trial Judge Henshaw held that the deceased had changed his beneficiaries by will, and that he had a legal right so to do, and accordingly gave judgment against the plaintiffs. The plaintiffs then appealed the case to the Supreme court, contending that there was no provision in the constitution and by-laws of the Union could change his beneficiaries except by a surrender and cancellation of the certificate. This had not been done and the Supreme Court, in deciding the case in favor of the plaintiffs has practically held that no provision was made in the certificate of membership for a change in the beneficiaries, and the record showing no rules of the Union in respect to such change, the attempt to do so by will was futile.

He stopped long enough to note the number of the floor on which the business indicated by the sign was carried on and then hurried inside and made his way to the dental parlors. "Is this the place where you pull teeth without pain free?" he inquired. "Yes, sir," said one of the painless extractors on duty. "Well, I've got a grinder that has been giving me a great deal of trouble. I wish you'd yank it out." The sufferer took his place in the chair and opened his mouth. The operator, after applying to the swollen gum a pungent lotion of some sort, speedily relieved him of the offending molar. "Thanks," said the caller, climbing down and picking up his hat. "That will be fifty cents," remarked the dentist. "Fifty cents?" echoed the other. "I thought it was free. That's what you told me a minute ago, and it is what you say on your sign." "Just so. Did it hurt you any?" "Yes, it hurt a little." "That's right. We do our painless extraction free, exactly as we claim. When it hurts we charge for it. Fifty cents, please." —Chicago Tribune.

The suit is one brought by Manuel Joaquin da Silva and wife against the Union to recover on a certificate. The suit was decided in the lower court against the Union, but the Supreme Court remands it for a new trial.

The decision has an important bearing on many of the beneficiary organizations of the State. These societies generally have no rules or regulations prescribing how a member may change his beneficiaries. The Supreme Court decides that in the absence of such rules and regulations they cannot be changed by will, but can only be changed by a surrender of the certificate of membership and the issuance of a new certificate with other beneficiaries named therein, because no change in the beneficiaries can be made without the consent of the society issuing the certificate of membership.

The defendant Portuguese Union disclaimed any interest in this money further than that it was ready and willing to turn it over to the intervenor or to the plaintiffs as the court should decide.

Some three years since the father-in-law of the plaintiff, Manuel Dutra, died. About six weeks prior to his death he became a member of the Portuguese Union and had issued to him a certificate of membership and named as his beneficiaries the plaintiffs. The plaintiffs were entitled under the certificate to receive one dollar from each member in good standing in Council No. 1 of the Union. There were 940 such members at the time of Dutra's death. Subsequently to the time of taking out such certificate and just before his death, Dutra attempted, without a surrender of his certificate to the union, to change his beneficiaries by will, under the provisions of which he devised the proceeds of the certificate to the intervenor. "Well, I've got a grinder that has been giving me a great deal of trouble. I wish you'd yank it out." The sufferer took his place in the chair and opened his mouth. The operator, after applying to the swollen gum a pungent lotion of some sort, speedily relieved him of the offending molar. "Thanks," said the caller, climbing down and picking up his hat. "That will be fifty cents," remarked the dentist. "Fifty cents?" echoed the other. "I thought it was free. That's what you told me a minute ago, and it is what you say on your sign." "Just so. Did it hurt you any?" "Yes, it hurt a little." "That's right. We do our painless extraction free, exactly as we claim. When it hurts we charge for it. Fifty cents, please."—Chicago Tribune.

CHICAGO IS BARRED.

The Reliance Football Team Not to Visit the Windy City.

The Reliance football team will not go to Chicago. The lateness of organizing and the difficulty of getting remunerative terms in the Windy City have induced the management to decide not to go so far East.

"The team may go as far East as Omaha or Denver," said President H. M. Fitzgerald of the Reliance Club this morning, "but they will not go beyond. Chicago was not disposed to give us good terms and we cut them out. The team will go on the northern circuit and then East. The men are in good trim and play well together, but there will not be enough money in sight to go to Chicago to warrant the trip.

"That team, however, is making negotiations to come out here, but we are not disposed to grant them any better terms than they offer us, and so the plan may fall through."

IN A PARENT'S PLACE.

Noble Work Is Being Done at the Fred Finch Home.

Good Judgment Is Shown in the Selection of the Managers.

The board of directors of the managers of the Fred Finch Orphanage held a meeting in the Fruitvale Home yesterday. The association owns its own buildings and grounds and is entirely free from debt.

Treasurer I. J. Truman's report showed that $31,781.79 had been received since the opening of the home in 1892. Of this $13 140.60 has been contributed by the State and the balance by private subscription. The running expenses for the past year were $12,325.56.

There are now 96 inmates of the institution, 80 of whom attend the public schools, and if the efforts of the directors prove availing some of the children will soon attend the Wilmerding Trades school, for the managers of the home are making efforts to secure the new school for this district. As an argument for the location of the school there they set forth that there has never been a death in the orphanage, and hence the location must be a healthy one.

The following is a list of officers as elected yesterday: Directors, H. Bently, D. D., president; F. R. Dille, D. D., secretary, H. B. Hemcock, D. D., vice-president; I. J. Truman, treasurer, John Kirby, D. D., C. B. Perkins and Joseph F. Fordeter.

Those to serve on the advisory board are Bishop Goodsell, John Coyle, D. D., Rev. A. T. Needham, Rev. John Kirby, Rev. F. J. Masters, Rev. M. C. Harris, Rev. George Booth, Rev. C. J. Larsen, and Rev. J. A. Peterson.

The board of managers consists of Mrs. D. F. Finch, Mrs. Wm. Johns, Mrs. T. O. Lewis, Mrs. John Lackey, Mrs. M. D. Wild, Mrs. Augustus Dow, Mrs. M. A. Freese, Mrs. I. J. Truman, Mrs. R. McElroy, Mrs. E. D. Bovard, Mrs. P. G. Buchman, Mrs. A. Kummer, Mrs. P. D. Blaisdell, Mrs. S. Buckley, Mrs. S. Gorick, Mrs. J. M. Lombard, Mrs. W. B. Carr, Mrs. G. T. Watterson, Mrs. R. V. Watt, Mrs. I. B. Robinson, Mrs. S. J. Carroll, Miss Collins, Mrs. R. Bently, Mrs. C. H. Holl, Mrs. Harriet Rothfield, A. Kummer, D. D., E. D. Bovard, D. D., S. J. Carroll, D. D., W. W. Case, D. D., Rev. W. H. Lafourette, Rev. Geo. W. Beatty, Rev. G. H. Jones, Rev. I. Morgan, Mrs. I. J. Harris, Mrs. C. H. Perkins, Mrs. H. C. Gibbons, Mrs. Willis Hale, ex-Governor Perkins, Mrs. John Thurston, Mrs. W. A. Louise, Rev. I. Dwight Stevens, Rev. Enoch, Rev. Thomas Filben, and Mrs. Eliza Schwan.

The Part of Every Law for Oakland Is Not Yet In Effect

The Oakland Board of Trade is going to resume the matter of making Oak and Front of entry. The act giving the privilege to Oakland was passed mainly through the efforts of Congressman Engle, but it has not been put into effect because no appropriation was made for carrying out its provisions. This defect the Board of Trade will try to have remedied when Congress again meets.

"With all the trade from abroad," said the president of the Board of Trade today, "Oakland still has to receive all her goods through the San Francisco clearing house. This necessitates that a merchant must cross the bay to swear to his manifest and must pay his duty just the same as when there were less than a thousand people living on this side of the bay. All the cargoes discharged at Long Wharf or at the city wharves that are dutiable have to be weighed and inspected by officers from San Francisco, which as a matter of justice all that business should be kept in this city. It seems only natural that Congress should readily make an appropriation after passing the act creating the port, and this we hope will be done. The improvements on the water front that must naturally follow the settlement of that old question of title make it the more imperative that Oakland should at once be made a port of entry in fact, as she now is in name."

Abandoned His Saloon

There was a walk-out at J. J. Collins' saloon at Seventh and Washington streets this morning. The proprietor walked out and locked the door after him.

"There is no use continuing the business any longer," he said. "There is no money in it, and Oakland landlords want what there is for rent, so I just walked out to prevent the sheriff walking in." Mr. Collins is the lessee of the Oakland theater, and he will hereafter devote all his time to building up that house.

WELCOME RELIEF.

Wonderful Effects of a Brief Treatment by Dr. Wulff.

Oakland, September 17, 1895.

To Whom It May Concern: I called on Dr. J. M. Wulff at the Galindo hotel today at 2 P. M., suffering from intense pain from rheumatism in my hips, left leg and left foot and hardly able to walk. The doctor explained his treatment and I tried same right then and there and now at 4 o'clock I feel that I am relieved of the pain and I can walk. I am satisfied that by using the electric appliance which the doctor furnishes I will get cured. I have had the rheumatism about four months, have been at the springs and it did me no good. I have taken all kinds of medicine prescribed by physicians but found no relief.

I can be seen at my place of business by anyone who is desirous of knowing about Dr. Wulff's treatment.

Very truly,
M. SPIES,
259 Park avenue, East Oakland.

Dr. J. M. Wulff, treats rheumatism, lumbago, nervous headache, in fact all nervous diseases, without medicine.

Offices Galindo Hotel, Oakland.
Parlors 30, 31.
Office hours: 10 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M., 6 to 7 P. M.

Berkeley, Cal., Aug. 11, 1895.

J. M. Wulff, Oakland: Dear Sir: I believe that your Endless Chain Battery will work wonders for rheumatism. It is applied immediately to the part affected and it looks to me like a practical and scientific method of applying electricity to the various diseases of the nervous system.

Respectfully yours,
ALBERT FOUCH, M. D.

CHICAGO IS BARRED.

The Reliance Football Team Not to Visit the Windy City.

The Reliance football team will not go to Chicago. The lateness of organizing and the difficulty of getting remunerative terms in the Windy City have induced the management to decide not to go so far East.

"The team may go as far East as Omaha or Denver," said President E. M. Fitzgerald of the Reliance Club this morning, "but they will not go beyond. Chicago was not disposed to give us good terms and we cut them out. The team will go on the northern circuit and then East. The men are in good trim and play well together, but there will not be enough money in going to Chicago to warrant the trip.

"That team, however, is making negotiations to come out here, but we are not disposed to grant them any better terms than they offer us, and so the plan may fall through."

IN A PARENT'S PLACE.

Noble Work Is Being Done at the Fred Finch Home.

Good Judgment Is Shown In the Selection of the Managers.

The board of directors of the managers of the Fred Finch Orphanage held a meeting in the Fruitvale Home yesterday. The association owns its own buildings and grounds and is entirely free from debt.

Treasurer I. J. Truman's report showed that $41,781.79 had been received since the opening of the home in 1892. Of this $13,440.60 has been contributed by the State and the balance by private subscription. The running expenses for the past year were $12,328.36.

There are now 96 inmates of the institution, 80 of whom attend the public schools, and if the efforts of the directors prove availing some of the children will soon attend the Wilmerding Trades school, for the managers of the home are making efforts to secure the new school for this district. As an argument for the location of the school there they set forth that there has never been a death in the orphanage, and hence the location must be a healthy one.

The following is a list of officers as elected yesterday: Directors, R. Bently, D. D., president; E. R. Dille, D. D., secretary; H. B. Heacock, D. D., vice-president; I. J. Truman, treasurer; John Kirby, D. D., C. B. Perkins and Joseph F. Forderer.

Those to serve on the advisory board are: Bishop Goodsell, John Coyle, D. D., Rev. A. T. Needham, Rev. John Kirby, Rev. F. J. Masters, Rev. M. C. Harris, Rev. George Geeth, Rev. C. J. Larsen, and Rev. J. A. Peterson.

The board of managers consists of Mrs. D. R. Finch, Mrs. Wm. Johns, Mrs. T. O. Lewis, Mrs. John Larkey, Mrs. M. D. Witt, Mrs. Augustus Dow, Mrs. M. A. Freese, Mrs. I. J. Truman, Mrs. R. The Port of Entry Law for Oakland Is Not Yet in Effect

The Oakland Board of Trade is going to resume the matter of making Oakland a port of entry. The act giving the privilege to Oakland was passed mainly through the efforts of Congressman English, but it has not been put into effect because no appropriation was made for carrying out its provisions. This defect the Board of Trade will try to have remedied when Congress again meets.

"With all the trade from abroad," said the president of the Board of Trade today, "Oakland still has to receive all her goods through the San Francisco clearing house. This necessitates that a merchant must cross the bay to swear to his manifest and must pay his duty just the same as when there were less than a thousand people living on this side of the bay. All the cargoes discharged at Long Wharf or at the city wharves that are dutiable have to be weighed and inspected by officers from San Francisco, when as a matter of justice all that business should be kept in this city. It seems only natural that Congress should readily make an appropriation after passing the act creating the port, and this we hope will be done. The improvements on the water front that must naturally follow the settlement of that old question of title make it the more imperative that Oakland should at once be made a port of entry in fact, as she now is in name."

Abandoned His Saloon

There was a walk-out at J. J. Collins' saloon at Seventh and Washington streets this morning. The proprietor walked out and locked the door after him.

"There is no use continuing the business any longer," he said. "There is no money in it, and Oakland landlords want what there is for rent, so I just walked out to prevent the sheriff walking in." Mr. Collins is the lessee of the Oakland theater, and he will hereafter devote all his time to building up that house.

WELCOME RELIEF.

Wonderful Effects of a Brief Treatment by Dr. Wulff.

Oakland, September 17, 1895.

To Whom It May Concern: I called on Dr. J. M. Wulff at the Gallindo hotel today at 2:30 P. M., suffering from intense pain from rheumatism in my hips, left leg and left foot and hardly able to walk. The doctor explained his treatment and I tried same right then and there and now at 4 o'clock I feel that I am relieved of the pain and I can walk. I am satisfied that by using the electric appliance which the doctor furnishes I will get cured. I have had the rheumatism about four months, have been at the springs and it did me no good. I have taken all kinds of medicine prescribed by physicians but found no relief.

I can be seen at my place of business by anyone who is desirous of knowing about Dr. Wulff's treatment.

Very truly,
M. SPIES,
250 Park avenue, East Oakland.

Dr. J. M. Wulff, treats rheumatism, lumbago, nervous headache, in fact all nervous diseases, without medicine.
Offices Gallindo Hotel, Oakland.
Parlors 30, 31.
Office hours: 10 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M., 6 to 7 P. M.

Berkeley, Cal., Aug. 11, 1895.

J. M. Wulff, Oakland: Dear Sir: I believe that your Endless Chain Battery will work wonders for rheumatism. It is applied immediately to the part affected and it looks to me like a practical and scientific method of applying electricity to the various diseases of the nervous system.

Respectfully yours,
ALBERT FOUCH, M. D.

TUESDAY.....OCTOBER 8, 1895.

Now that we learn more about the Montana railroad that was coming down straight to tide water right here in Oakland, we begin to suspect that there are nine parts of fiction to one that has the color of truth. A million or two are not picked up in San Francisco by any adventurer who can get an airing in the newspapers, and the thirty millions that were forthcoming seem to have melted away in an "irridescent" dream.

There is a neat little sarcasm in this paragraph which has been spiced by an exchange: "Judge Albion W. Tourgee has undertaken a crusade against books with uncut leaves, which he pronounces 'a senseless and snobbish fad.' The busy man and the lazy man will join in wishing Judge Tourgee success, but according to Zangwell, the novelist, reviewers will oppose the change, as under the present system they save much time by merely reading the leaves that open of themselves. There are books and books, and it would be much better for the reading public if some volumes were published with the pages hermetically sealed."

The New York World assumes that General Harrison has withdrawn as a candidate because he has fallen a victim to the bosses. But he may come to the front in spite of them. In Pennsylvania he encounters the hostility of Quay, who has just captured the Republican party of that State. In New York he will encounter the hostility of Platt, who simply prefers Morgan and such chances as may come to him after Morgan is laid out. In Iowa Clarkson will work for Allison, while in Ohio Foreaker will work quietly for McKinley. But it does not follow that there might not be a fusion of these diverse elements, and an agreement finally to take up Harrison. While the prospects of the latter are not as bright as they were six months ago, he has not gone under the cloud to be seen no more.

Some of the impelling forces that draw people away from the country are shown in a summary of replies recently given to the question addressed to a great number of persons who had occupied farms. Some left because of unprofitable farming, some because it was impossible to obtain good help in the house and on the farm, some because of the superior social and educational advantages of the cities, and some in the hope of more remunerative employment. As one report puts it, "the farmer's wife rebels at longer providing food, washing and shelter for foreign laborers who receive every cent the farmer earns. He cannot live on the basis of the foreigner, who furnishes his wife and daughters with but one calico dress a year. His sons refuse to take the farm as a gift, if they must work it. Heartbroken and discouraged, he moves to town and rents his farm to the foreigner."

Another speaks of the "lack of adequate remuneration for labor and the isolation of the farm home—no provision for satisfying the cravings of the young people for having good social times."

Canal or Railroad?

The Fresno Republican argues that that city will never be just what it ought to be until a canal connects it with the San Joaquin river. For one-tenth of what a canal would cost a double track electric railroad could be constructed and equipped that would have all the facilities for transportation that a canal could have. No satisfactory seaport can ever be made at Fresno. But that city, by means of a double track railroad and some improvements of the San Joaquin river, could have the advantage of that waterway the year round.

San Jose is now moving for the improvement of the Alviso creek so that vessels of large size could enter from the bay and land a short distance up the creek. Then an electric railroad for ten miles or so would put that city in direct communication with a waterway that would insure the cheapest transportation. What San Jose is taking the first steps to do Fresno could do with almost equal results. It is nonsense to talk about a canal to connect Fresno with the river. A railroad once constructed and in satisfactory operation there would be no need of a ditch for standing water. Fresno is developing a great electric power from a mountain stream. It ought to be ample for an electric railroad to the river.

And the Dumb Speak.

Warring Wilkinson, principal of the Deaf and Dumb Blind Institution at Berkeley, leaves for the Eastern States this week. His purpose is to visit three or four of the most notable kindred institutions to learn what progress has been made in oral instruction. There is one notable institution in Pennsylvania, another in Central New York, and a famous one at Northampton, Mass., where the oral system is exclusively taught.

Wonderful reports of progress come from these institutions. All the pupils learn to talk very much as people who have no infirmity of deafness. The art is acquired so thoroughly that the sign language is dropped out of the curriculum. Of course people who talk understandingly have very little use for an arbitrary system of signs. But heretofore the deaf and dumb have in most instances acquired no more than a rudimentary speech. There are two teachers in the institution at Berkeley among a number of others who are deaf mutes. One of these graduated from the University and afterwards took a course at Johns Hopkins University. The other is highly educated and is an instructor in art. Neither of these accomplished teachers can speak a word. They do not try to speak, and could not at this time in their lives profit by oral instruction. And yet it is probable that both of them, if oral instruction had begun exclusively at the age of seven years, would now have just about the same facilities of speech as any other persons.

The new method of oral instruction has been made quite prominent within the last few years. It was carried so far in some of the institutions in Europe that the sign language was either dropped or was given a subordinate place. Finally oral instruction was exclusively given. Such remarkable results were obtained that similar instruction was adopted at a number of schools in this country where results have been obtained quite as satisfactory as in any of the European institutions. Many may yet remember the wonderful results obtained by a female teacher in Pennsylvania (a sister of Mr. Charles Wilkinson) who took dumb pupils at seven years of age and taught them to speak with great facility. She took thirty of these pupils to the World's Fair at Chicago and there gave many interesting exhibitions of their proficiency. Her sad and sudden death in a moment of mental aberration did in some sense accentuate her work.

The method of instruction at Berkeley embraces both systems, viz., the sign language and oral teaching. The aim is to obtain as far as possible all the advantages of both methods. Thus there are pupils entering the institution at such an advanced age that the opportunity for oral instruction has been well nigh lost. They never can gain any great facility of speech. A few words can be spoken and something of lip language can be learned. Then there are younger pupils who have oral instruction and make very good progress in articulation. But most of these are also taught the sign language lest their facilities of speech might not always serve them to the best advantage. Naturally the principal and directors want to know if anything more can be done for these defective pupils. The dumb have been taught to speak as far as seemed practicable and all have been taught the sign language, which all the pupils seem to prefer to speech.

It is reasonably clear now that to get the best results of the oral method it must be followed exclusively with a given number of pupils. That is the basis of instruction in the institutions cited. It is held that speech is before all other methods of communication; and that if pupils are taken early enough speech can be acquired and perfected. It is well known that deaf and dumb children are not speechless on account of any defect of the vocal organs, for there are none, but it is because dumb children have no idea of sound, especially as it is employed in articulation. The miracle of instruction is to take a child who has never heard a sound and never will, and learn that child to talk with a good degree of modulation, as if its ears were open to all sounds.

That is substantially what is claimed for oral instruction as it is given at Northampton and other institutions. The sign language is set aside as interfering with what is claimed to be the more perfect system. In many of the largest and most important institutions the double system of instruction is maintained as it is at Berkeley, the latter institution standing confessedly in the first rank of all those which adhere to the dual system. It is probable that if the reports are sustained of the progress made in oral instruction in some of these institutions, some time in the future classes may be formed at the Berkeley institution in which only oral instruction will be given.

The present inquiry is as to whether that method exclusively would be justified by the results that could be obtained. There is no remedy for congenital deafness, nor for that which has been totally lost by disease, although many flouting reports have been made to the contrary. But there is such a thing as the almost complete restoration of speech if the work of oral instruction begins at a very early age. This is comparatively a new theory. It is claimed that it is clearly demonstrated at a number of institutions in Europe and in this country.

A Fighting Chance.

For the encouragement of agriculture and other languishing industries in Nevada the directors of the Agricultural Association at Carson, the capital of the State, have offered a premium of $100,000 to have the Corbett-Fitzsimmons prizefight come off in that city. Since the mint was raided by thieves it was not supposed that there was as much money lying round loose in that place. But the thieves and gamblers may be able to scrape that amount together. Nevada at present sustains the position of the poor relation in the family of States. It is the rotten borough, and has often challenged contempt on that account.

Prizefighting having been outlawed in nearly all the States and in the Indian territory, the State Agricultural Society of Nevada has come to the rescue as an exponent of the moral uses of dark things. A bloody and brutal prizefight might be a great help to agriculture by way of fertilizing the soil and encouraging better breeds of cattle. It is true that such an exhibition would not be allowed in the Indian Territory because while the Indians do occasionally kill each other, the type of civilization is sufficiently elevated there to shut out the brutalities of the ring.

Nevada has an elastic statute for the maintenance of "athletic, historic, scientific and literary societies designed to promote the diffusion of useful knowledge." It is a handy law. What is wanted in Nevada is the promotion of useful knowledge. The agricultural society, that ornament of the State, is evidently hungering and thirsting after useful knowledge. It wants also to diffuse it lest a concentration of it in Carson might be too much for one small town to hold. It is now "diffusing" the knowledge to all the world that Nevada might be made the very paradise of outlaws, pugs and all the disreputable elements that ever congregated where a prizefight was held. That is why the Agricultural Association is moving. It is quite unwilling that such an opportunity for distinction should be lost. It has probably paid a premium on prize hogs this very year. It is ready to scratch up another premium for hogs that grovel in other pens. What Nevada appears to be seeking just now is additional reputation. For a long time past it had not much to lose especially in other parts of the country. But the "diffusion" of the knowledge that a hundred thousand dollars would be paid as a premium for a prizefight in the capital city would add immensely to the reputation of that State.

NOTES AND EXCERPTS.

Little Axe and Petie Washington, two Indian policemen were sent to evict a man who settled on a claim in Oklahoma to which he had no title. The squatter's 16-year-old daughter, who is quite handy with a revolver, told the "reds" she would shoot the first man who attempted to dispossess her father of his land, and that settled it. The Indians beat a retreat, and the girl and her father hold the fort.

A footman in an English nobleman's house testified recently that his regular pay was $250 a year. He also testified that his average "tips" amounted to $3,000 a year. The scale was tipped in his favor with phenomenal liberality.

Though not as portly as the President, Miss Rose Cleveland is what might be called stout. She has come out as a great canoeist this season, and in a fashionable gown which harmonizes with her gray hair, she cuts decidedly a fine figure.

Longstreet as he appears today is a tall man, somewhat bent, with stooped shoulders, lustreless eyes, halting step and scant white hair. He dresses in loose-fitting black clothes, with no traces of color about him, and he looks not unlike a country preacher.

H. N. Pillsbury, the chess expert, says that the difference between English players and Americans is that the latter are always trying to improve their game, while the former are satisfied with a fair average. This distinction between the English and the Americans has a much wider application than Mr. Pillsbury gives it. Americans are discontented. The English are self-satisfied. Hence our victories.

The homes of few of the world's great men have been as carefully preserved as Goethe's at Weimar. Nothing has been disturbed, and in his sleeping-room, where he died, the same spread covers the bed, and his drinking-cup, sponge and wash-basin are in the same position as he left them. The old man who once in the poet's lifetime repaired his coach still visits it periodically to see if it needs attention.

There are many English aristocrats who stand in sore need of wealthy wives. Last week a son of the late Duke of Roxburghe appeared before the Bankruptcy Court for the fourth time. The Earl of Ancaster is selling his Welsh estate in small lots. Viscount Hill has been obliged to sell his family heirlooms to meet his demands of creditors. There is nothing left certain blue-blooded Englishmen to do but to make a pilgrimage to America.

It was the late Daguerreotypist Hesler, of Chicago, who inspired Longfellow to write "Hiawatha." Mr. Hesler was one of the most eminent of his profession, and in 1851 the London World's Fair awarded him the prize medal for daguerreotypes. One of them, a picture of the Falls of Minnehaha, came into the poet's possession and furnished immediate inspiration for the poem. In testimony of his debt to Mr. Hesler, Longfellow sent his signature and compliments on the flyleaf.

Making Aluminum at Niagara.

The manufacture of aluminum from bauxite by process of electrolysis was given a practical test at Niagara Falls recently, the necessary electrical current being supplied from one of the new dynamos. The process is described as follows: In a large reduction room the pots, in which the oxide of aluminum or alumina, is changed into pure aluminum are arranged in long rows. Each pot is lined with carbon, the lining forming the negative electrode in the process of reduction. Into the pots from above extend rows of copper rods, each terminating in a huge carbon anode, the positive pole of the circuit. In the pot the oxide, in a pulverized state, looking like flour, is placed, the carbon anodes extending through the mass, the current, which is carried by great copper rods through the entire length of the row of pots, is turned on. Then there is nothing to do but to wait until the electricity has completed its work, which requires about twenty-four hours after which the pure aluminum is drawn out and cast into ingots. By the new process the aluminum, which is separated from the ore by the action of the electricity and the fluxes which are used to facilitate melting, accumulates about the negative electrode, which in this case is the carbon-lined bottom of the pot. The tremendous current heats the carbon of both the lining and the anodes to the point of whiteness, and the melting of the ore by this heart is an important factor in the manufacture of the metal. As it is ladled from the pots, it looks like ordinary lead heated to a red heat, but when poured into the moulds it glistens with the whiteness of silver, and the roughly cast ingots thus produced have a luster that silver itself cannot exhibit without polishing. The present capacity of the works of Niagara Falls is about 5,000 pounds of pure aluminum a day, but this will be increased as rapidly as more pots can be set in position, until 10,000 pounds of the pure metal, worth in small quantities 50 cents a pound, is being turned out daily.

The Dullness at Patti's Castle.

One has heard so much of the magnificence of the hospitality dispensed at Craig-y-Nos by the great Patti that it is curious to read the following opinion of one who, some time since, stayed beneath the roof of the castle: "To be entertained by Mme. Patti at Craig-y-Nos doesn't amount to much. You hear a good many folks boasting that they have enjoyed La Diva's hospitality, and read accounts thereof in the papers. If the general public knew how absolutely uninteresting a visit to Mme. Patti's house is, the notoriety seekers would have less to say on the subject. As a matter of fact you might just as well be in a hotel where you knew nobody.

"You arrive unwelcomed by host and hostess, and you are shown into your room. There you generally stay until mealtime, when you seek the dining-room. Madame Patti generally has breakfast in her own apartments and is frequently absent from luncheon. You see her at dinner-time, but she is inaccessible, though she were dining on the stage of Covent Garden while you were in the audience. Of course, you have a few words with her later on, and probably you hear her sing, but as for any familiar intercourse it is quite impossible. Time drags; you feel you have wasted valuable moments and you leave Craig-y-Nos without a gleam of triumph." Doesn't sound cheerful, does it?

The Squirrels and Birds Were Her Friends.

For the past three months the park police and visitors to Central Park have become accustomed to the spectacle of a young, plainly-dressed girl, black-haired and rosy-cheeked, who walked at will through the shrubbery and lawns, about whom the park squirrels gathered fearlessly and the English sparrows seemed to regard her as their especial friend and protectress. Sometimes, when spoken to by a park policeman and warned off the grass, she would smile upon the law's guardian, break out in song or laughter and go her way, ignoring all injunctions.

As the girl seemed harmless, she was not molested. It was a curious sight to see her as she halted at the edge of a wood and whistled a peculiar combination of shrill notes in response to which dozens of squirrels and swarms of birds would flock to her side. She would feed the animals and birds and they would frisk around her.

At the sale of an important private library at New York this week most of the books sold very low, including some that lately have been bringing fancy prices. The most hotly contested rarity in the collection appears to have been Jay Gould's history of Delaware county, which brought $12.

A CHALLENGE

To the Contra Costa Water Company, Oakland:

Some time ago I had occasion to make a microscopical analysis of the water furnished to the city of Oakland by your company, coming from Lakes Temescal and Chabot.

At your instance I am informed this analysis has been questioned and my reputation placed in a doubtful position.

In order that I may prove to your satisfaction and to that of the general public of the city of Oakland, the absolute correctness of my conclusions that the water supplied by your compauy IS UNFIT FOR HUMAN CONSUMPTION, I now make the following proposition:

I will meet any expert appointed by you and proceed to Lakes Temescal and Chabot, where we will procure samples of water from each lake, under the usual precautions taken relative to any analysis under dispute. Having obtained the samples, we will proceed to some proper place in the city of Oakland, fitted up as a laboratory, to be selected by your expert and myself—your expert to provide the necessary material for his investigation, and I will do likewise; both investigations to be conducted simulataneously and in the presence of each other. And daily upon leaving the operating room we will seal it up with the dual seals of the experts and place a watchman in charge, that there may be no opportunity for fraud or chicanery by anybody.

The expense of these investigations to be mutual, each side to pay their own expert, and any extra expenses to be divided. I will undertake to establish without cavil the absolute correctness of my previous analysis of the waters from Lakes Temescal and Chabot, whereby it was proven without the reason of any doubt to unbiased people that SAID WATERS FROM LAKES TEMESCAL AND CHABOT ARE ABSOLUTELY UNWHOLESOME, UNHEALTHY AND UNFIT FOR HUMAN CONSUMPTION.

In event of your refusing to accept or consider this challenge I shall make a proposition to the authorities of Oakland to name a committee, that I may establish to it the correctness of my previous conclusions regarding the unfitness for human consumption of the water which comes from either Lake Temescal or Chabot.

Respectfully,
THOMAS BOWHILL,
F. R. C. V. S. F. R. P. S. Edinb.

TUESDAY, ... OCTOBER 8, 1895

Now that we learn more about the Montana railroad that was coming down straight to tide water right here in Oakland, we begin to suspect that there are nine parts of fiction to one that has the color of truth. A million or two are not picked up in San Francisco by any adventurer who can get an airing in the newspapers, and the thirty millions that were forthcoming seem to have melted away in an "iridescent" dream.

There is a neat little sarcasm in this paragraph which has been spiced by an exchange: "Judge Albion W. Tourgee has undertaken a crusade against books with uncut leaves, which he pronounces 'a senseless and snobbish fad.' The busy man and the lazy man will join in wishing Judge Tourgee success, but according to Zangwell the novelist, reviewers will oppose the change, as under the present system they save much time by merely reading the leaves that open of themselves. There are books and books, and it would be much better for the reading public if some volumes were published with the pages hermetically sealed."

The New York World assumes that General Harrison has withdrawn as a candidate because he has fallen a victim to the bosses. But he may come to the front in spite of them. In Pennsylvania he encounters the hostility of Quay, who has just captured the Republican party of that State. In New York he will encounter the hostility of Platt, who simply prefers Morgan and such chances as may come to him after Morgan is laid out. In Iowa Clarkson will work for Allison, while in Ohio Foraker will work quietly for McKinley. But it does not follow that there might not be a fusion of these diverse elements and an agreement finally to take up Harrison. While the prospects of the latter are not as bright as they were six months ago, he has not gone under the cloud to be seen no more.

Some of the "impelling forces" that draw people away from the country are shown in a summary of replies recently given to the question addressed to a great number of persons who had occupied farms. Some left because of unprofitable farming, some because it was impossible to obtain good help in the house and on the farm, some because of the superior social and educational advantages of the cities, and some in the hope of more remunerative employment. As one report puts it, "the farmer's wife rebels at longer providing food, washing and shelter for foreign laborers who receive every cent the farmer earns. He cannot live on the basis of the foreigner, who furnishes his wife and daughters with but one calico dress a year. His sons refuse to take the farm as a gift, if they must work it. Heart-broken and discouraged, he moves to town and rents his farm to the foreigner."

Another speaks of the "lack of adequate remuneration for labor and the isolation of the farm home—no provision for satisfying the cravings of the young people for having good social times."

Canal or Railroad?

The Fresno Republican argues that that city will never be just what it ought to be until a canal connects it with the San Joaquin river. For one-tenth of what a canal would cost a double track electric railroad could be constructed and equipped that would have all the facilities for transportation that a canal could have. No satisfactory seaport can ever be made at Fresno. But that city, by means of a double track railroad and some improvements of the San Joaquin river, could have the advantage of that waterway the year round.

San Jose is now moving for the improvement of the Alviso creek so that vessels of large size could enter from the bay and land a short distance up the creek. Then an electric railroad for ten miles or so would put that city in direct communication with a waterway that would insure the cheapest transportation. What San Jose is taking the first steps to do Fresno could do with almost equal results. It is nonsense to talk about a canal to connect Fresno with the river. A railroad once constructed and in satisfactory operation there would be no need of a ditch for standing water. Fresno is developing a great electric power from a mountain stream. It ought to be ample for an electric railroad to the river.

And the Dumb Speak.

Warring Wilkinson, principal of the Deaf and Dumb Blind Institution at Berkeley, leaves for the Eastern States this week. His purpose is to visit three or four of the most notable kindred institutions to learn what progress has been made in oral instruction. There is one notable institution in Pennsylvania, another in Central New York, and a famous one at Northampton, Mass., where the oral system is exclusively taught.

Wonderful reports of progress come from these institutions. All the pupils learn to talk very much as people who have no infirmity of deafness. The art is acquired so thoroughly that the sign language is dropped out of the curriculum. Of course people who talk understandingly have very little use for an arbitrary system of signs. But heretofore the deaf and dumb have in most instances acquired no more than a rudimentary speech. There are two teachers in the institution at Berkeley among a number of others who are deaf mutes. One of these graduated from the University and afterwards took a course at Johns Hopkins University. The other is highly educated and is an instructor in art. Neither of these accomplished teachers can speak a word. They do not try to speak, and could not at this time in their lives profit by oral instruction. And yet it is probable that both of them, if oral instruction had begun exclusively at the age of seven years, would now have just about the same facilities of speech as any other persons.

The new method of oral instruction has been made quite prominent within the last few years. It was carried so far in some of the institutions in Europe that the sign language was either dropped or was given a subordinate place. Finally oral instruction was exclusively given. Such remarkable results were obtained that similar instruction was adopted at a number of schools in this country where results have been obtained quite as satisfactory as in any of the European institutions. Many may yet remember the wonderful results obtained by a female teacher in Pennsylvania (a sister of Mr. Charles Wilkinson) who took dumb pupils at seven years of age and taught them to speak with great facility. She took thirty of these pupils to the World's Fair at Chicago and there gave many interesting exhibitions of their proficiency. Her sad and sudden death in a moment of mental aberration did in some sense accentuate her work.

The method of instruction at Berkeley embraces both systems, viz., the sign language and oral teaching. The aim is to obtain as far as possible all the advantages of both methods. Thus there are pupils entering the institution at such an advanced age that the opportunity for oral instruction has been well nigh lost. They never can gain any great facility of speech. A few words can be spoken and something of lip language can be learned. Then there are younger pupils who have oral instruction and make very good progress in articulation. But most of these are also taught the sign language lest their facilities of speech might not always serve them to the best advantage. Naturally the principal and directors want to know if anything more can be done for these defective pupils. The dumb have been taught to speak as far as seemed practicable and all have been taught the sign language, which all the pupils seem to prefer to speech.

It is reasonably clear now that to get the best results of the oral method it must be followed exclusively with a given number of pupils. That is the basis of instruction in the institutions cited. It is held that speech is before all other methods of communication; and that if pupils are taken early enough speech can be acquired and perfected. It is well known that deaf and dumb children are not speechless on account of any defect of the vocal organs for there are none, but it is because dumb children have no idea of sound, especially as it is employed in articulation. The miracle of instruction is to take a child who has never heard a sound and never will, and learn that child to talk with a good degree of modulation, as if its ears were open to all sounds.

That is substantially what is claimed for oral instruction as it is given at Northampton and other institutions. The sign language is set aside as interfering with what is claimed to be the more perfect system. In many of the largest and most important institutions the double system of instruction is maintained as it is at Berkeley, the latter institution standing confessedly in the first rank of all those which adhere to the dual system. It is probable that if the reports are sustained of the progress made in oral instruction in some of these institutions, some time in the future classes may be formed at the Berkeley institution in which only oral instruction will be given.

The present inquiry is as to whether that method exclusively would be justified by the results that could be obtained. There is no remedy for congenital deafness, nor for that which has been totally lost by disease, although many floating reports have been made to the contrary. But there is such a thing as the almost complete restoration of speech if the work of oral instruction begins at a very early age. This is comparatively a new theory. It is claimed that it is clearly demonstrated at a number of institutions in Europe and in this country.

A Fighting Chance.

For the encouragement of agriculture and other languishing industries in Nevada the directors of the Agricultural Association at Carson, the capital of the State, have offered a premium of $100,000 to have the Corbett-Fitzsimmons prizefight come off in that city. Since the mint was raided by thieves it was not supposed that there was as much money lying round loose in that place. But the thieves and gamblers may be able to scrape that amount together. Nevada at present sustains the position of the poor relation in the family of States. It is the rotten borough, and has often challenged contempt on that account.

Prizefighting having been outlawed in nearly all the States and in the Indian territory, the State Agricultural Society of Nevada has come to the rescue as an exponent of the moral uses of dark things. A bloody and brutal prizefight might be a great help to agriculture by way of fertilizing the soil and encouraging better breeds of cattle. It is true that such an exhibition would not be allowed in the Indian Territory because while the Indians do occasionally kill each other, the type of civilization is sufficiently elevated there to shut out the brutalities of the ring.

Nevada has an elastic statute for the maintenance of "athletic, historic, scientific and literary societies designed to promote the diffusion of useful knowledge." It is a handy law. What is wanted in Nevada is the promotion of useful knowledge. The agricultural society, that ornament of the State, is evidently hungering and thirsting after useful knowledge. It wants also to diffuse it lest a concentration of it in Carson might be too much for one small town to hold. It is now "diffusing" the knowledge to all the world that Nevada might be made the very paradise of outlaws, pugs and all the disreputable elements that ever congregated where a prizefight was held. That is why the Agricultural Association is moving. It is quite unwilling that such an opportunity for distinction should be lost. It has probably paid a premium on prize hogs this very year. It is ready to scratch up another premium for hogs that grovel in other pens. What Nevada appears to be seeking just now is additional reputation. For a long time past it had not much to lose especially in other parts of the country. But the "diffusion" of the knowledge that a hundred thousand dollars would be paid as a premium for a prizefight in the capital city would add immensely to the reputation of that State.

NOTES AND EXCERPTS.

Little Axe and Petie Washington, two Indian policemen were sent to evict a man who settled on a claim in Oklahoma to which he had no title. The squatter's 16-year-old daughter, who is quite handy with a revolver, told the "reds" she would shoot the first man who attempted to dispossess her father of his land, and that settled it. The Indians beat a retreat, and the girl and her father hold the fort.

A footman in an English nobleman's house testified recently that his regular pay was $250 a year. He also testified that his average "tips" amounted to $3,000 a year. The scale was tipped in his favor with phenomenal liberality.

Though not as portly as the President, Miss Rose Cleveland is what might be called stout. She has come out as a great canoeist this season, and in a fashionable gown which harmonizes with her gray hair, she cuts decidedly a fine figure.

Longstreet as he appears today is a tall man somewhat bent, with stooped shoulders, lustreless eyes, halting step and scant white hair. He dresses in loose-fitting black clothes, with no traces of color about him, and he looks not unlike a country preacher.

H. N. Pillsbury, the chess expert, says that the difference between English players and Americans is that the latter are always trying to improve their game, while the former are satisfied with a fair average. This distinction between the English and the Americans has a much wider application than Mr. Pillsbury gives it. Americans are discontented. The English are self-satisfied. Hence our victories.

The homes of few of the world's great men have been as carefully preserved as Goethe's at Weimar. Nothing has been disturbed, and in his sleeping-room, where he died, the same spread covers the bed, and his drinking-cup, sponge and wash-basin are in the same position as he left them. The old man who once in the poet's lifetime repaired his coach still visits it periodically to see if it needs attention.

There are many English aristocrats who stand in sore need of wealthy wives. Last week a son of the late Duke of Roxburghe appeared before the Bankruptcy Court for the fourth time. The Earl of Ancaster is selling his Welsh estate in small lots. Viscount Hill has been obliged to sell his family heirlooms to meet his demands of creditors. There is nothing left certain blue-blooded Englishmen to do but to make a pilgrimage to America.

It was the late Daguerreotypist Hesler, of Chicago, who inspired Longfellow to write "Hiawatha." Mr. Hesler was one of the most eminent of his profession, and in 1851 the London World's Fair awarded him the prize medal for daguerreotypes. One of them, a picture of the Falls of Minnehaha, came into the poet's possession and furnished immediate inspiration for the poem. In testimony of his debt to Mr. Hesler, Longfellow sent his signature and compliments on the flyleaf.

Making Aluminum at Niagara.

The manufacture of aluminum from bauxite by process of electrolysis was given a practical test at Niagara Falls recently, the necessary electrical current being supplied from one of the new dynamos. The process is described as follows: In a large reduction room the pots, in which the oxide of aluminum or alumina, is changed into pure aluminum are arranged in long rows. Each pot is lined with carbon, the lining forming the negative electrode in the process of reduction. Into the pots from above extend rows of copper rods, each terminating in a huge carbon anode, the positive pole of the circuit. In the pot the oxide, in a pulverized state, looking like flour, is placed, the carbon anodes extending through the mass, the current, which is carried by great copper rods through the entire length of the row of pots, is turned on. Then there is nothing to do but to wait until the electricity has completed its work, which requires about twenty-four hours after which the pure aluminum is drawn out and cast into ingots. By the new process the aluminum, which is separated from the ore by the action of the electricity and the fluxes which are used to facilitate melting, accumulates about the negative electrode, which in this case is the carbon-lined bottom of the pot. The tremendous current heats the carbon of both the lining and the anodes to the point of whiteness, and the melting of the ore by this heart is an important factor in the manufacture of the metal. As it is ladled from the pots, it looks like ordinary lead heated to a red heat, but when poured into the moulds it glistens with the whiteness of silver, and the roughly cast ingots thus produced have a luster that silver itself cannot exhibit without polishing. The present capacity of the works of Niagara Falls is about 5,000 pounds of pure aluminum a day, but this will be increased as rapidly as more pots can be set in position, until 10,000 pounds of the pure metal, worth in small quantities 60 cents a pound, is being turned out daily.

The Dullness at Patti's Castle.

One has heard so much of the magnificence of the hospitality dispensed at Craig-y-Nos by the great Patti that it is curious to read the following opinion of one who, some time since, stayed beneath the roof of the castle: "To be entertained by Mme. Patti at Craig-y-Nos doesn't amount to much. You hear a good many folks boasting that they have enjoyed La Diva's hospitality, and read accounts thereof in the papers. If the general public knew how absolutely uninteresting a visit to Mme. Patti's house is, the notoriety seekers would have less to say on the subject. As a matter of fact, you might just as well be in a hotel where you knew nobody.

"You arrive unwelcomed by host and hostess, and you are shown into your room. There you generally stay until mealtime, when you seek the dining-room. Madame Patti generally has breakfast in her own apartments and is frequently absent from luncheon. You see her at dinner-time, but she is inaccessible though she were dining on the stage of Covent Garden while you were in the audience. Of course, you have a few words with her later on, and probably you hear her sing, but as for any familiar intercourse it is quite impossible. Time drags, you feel you have wasted valuable moments and you leave Craig-y-Nos without a gleam of triumph." Doesn't sound cheerful, does it?

The Squirrels and Birds Were Her Friends.

For the past three months the park police and visitors to Central Park have become accustomed to the spectacle of a young, plainly-dressed girl, black-haired and rosy-cheeked, who walked at will through the shrubbery and lawns, about whom the park squirrels gathered fearlessly and the English sparrows seemed to regard her as their especial friend and protectress. Sometimes, when spoken to by a park policeman and warned off the grass, she would smile upon the law's guardian, break out in song or laughter and go her way, ignoring all injunctions.

As the girl seemed harmless, she was not molested. It was a curious sight to see her as she halted at the edge of a wood and whistled a peculiar combination of shrill notes in response to which dozens of squirrels and swarms of birds would flock to her side. She would feed the animals and birds and they would frisk around her.

At the sale of an important private library at New York this week most of the books sold very low, including some that lately have been bringing fancy prices. The most hotly contested party in the collection appears to have been Jay Gould's history of Delaware county, which brought $12.

A CHALLENGE

To the Contra Costa Water Company, Oakland:

Some time ago I had occasion to make a microscopical analysis of the water furnished to the city of Oakland by your company, coming from Lakes Temescal and Chabot.

At your instance I am informed this analysis has been questioned and my reputation placed in a doubtful position.

In order that I may prove to your satisfaction and to that of the general public of the city of Oakland, the absolute correctness of my conclusions that the water supplied by your company IS UNFIT FOR HUMAN CONSUMPTION, I now make the following proposition:

I will meet any expert appointed by you and proceed to Lakes Temescal and Chabot, where we will procure samples of water from each lake, under the usual precautions taken relative to any analysis under dispute. Having obtained the samples, we will proceed to some proper place in the city of Oakland, fitted up as a laboratory, to be selected by your expert and myself—your expert to provide the necessary material for his investigation, and I will do likewise; both investigations to be conducted simultaneously and in the presence of each other. And daily upon leaving the operating room we will seal it up with the dual seals of the experts and place a watchman in charge, that there may be no opportunity for fraud or chicanery by anybody.

The expense of these investigations to be mutual, each side to pay their own expert, and any extra expenses to be divided. I will undertake to establish without cavil the absolute correctness of my previous analysis of the waters from Lakes Temescal and Chabot, whereby it was proven without the reason of any doubt to unbiased people that SAID WATERS FROM LAKES TEMESCAL AND CHABOT ARE ABSOLUTELY UNWHOLESOME, UNHEALTHY AND UNFIT FOR HUMAN CONSUMPTION.

In event of your refusing to accept or consider this challenge I shall make a proposition to the authorities of Oakland to name a committee, that I may establish to it the correctness of my previous conclusions regarding the unfitness for human consumption of the water which comes from either Lake Temescal or Chabot.

Respectfully,
THOMAS BOWHILL,
F. R. C. V. S. F. R. P. S. Edinb.
921 Sutter street, San Francisco.

A CHANCE FOR CRANE.

Fifty Thousand Dollars for a Trip to South Africa.

He Is Only to Play a Month's Engagement at the Cape.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The Herald today says:

A very flattering proposition for a theatrical engagement has been made to William Crane through his manager, Joseph Brooks.

The offer was made by James Belmont, who represents a combination of business men in Cape Town, South Africa, and who want Mr. Crane to go there and play.

The offer made by Mr. Belmont is said to be $50,000 in cash, tickets to Cape Town and return from New York for the entire company, and the living expenses of the company while there.

The engagement is to be for twenty performances, covering something over a month.

It is estimated that it will take about fourteen weeks to make the trip.

The details of the trip have not been discussed at all. It is not even known yet if the company will go by way of London or San Francisco if it goes at all.

In all probability, however, Mr. Crane will accept the offer. It is stipulated that four plays shall be given, all of the plays that are now in Mr. Crane's repertoire.

Three have practically been settled upon. They are "The Senator," "My Son John" and "My Wife's Father."

The company will appear in Cape Town only, where there is a very pretty little theater.

Mr. Belmont says it is not a money making scheme in the least, and that, on the contrary, he and his associates are willing to lose a little on the venture.

Mr. Belmont, although his home is in Cape Town has recently made some very successful deals in the Chicago wheat market.

PLEADING FOR PARDONS.

Delegations Ask Clemency for a Number of Miners.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 8.—Petitions have been presented to Governor Altgeld by a delegation from Peoria and Tazewell counties asking the pardon of ex-Representative John L. Gehr, John Heathcott, Daniel Caddell and Charles Jones, now in Joliet prison for murder in the attack on Little Mines, near Pekin, June 6th, 1894.

Lieut.-Governor Gill and a majority of the members of the Legislature are signers, also Edward Little, owner of the mine, who says Gehr and companions endeavored to protect their property, and that the hostile actions of his brother, Peter Little, caused the conflict.

Presiding Judge Green and State's Attorney Saltonstall filed protests to pardoning. Governor Altgeld took the case under advisement.

CHILDISH CONDUCT.

British Sportsmen Censure the Action of Lord Dunraven.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The Very Rev. C. F. Aked, of Liverpool, who has arrived here for the purpose of delivering sermons and lecturing at various points throughout the country, said, in speaking of the finish at the international yacht races:

"The great mass of thinking people in England censure Lord Dunraven severely for his conduct here as a sportsman. He was undoubtedly beaten in the first race and would have been in the second had it lasted a short while longer. The general feeling is that he acted childishly in a temper, throwing up the race because he was piqued. As a true sportsman he should have accepted the decision of the regatta committee without a murmur."

MARRIED AT CHICAGO.

Adolph C. Miller, an Ex-U. C. Boy Weds Miss Sprague.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Miss Mary Sprague, daughter of Mr. Otho Sprague, of Chicago, and Adolph C. Miller, formerly of San Francisco, were married last evening at the residence of the bride's parents.

Mr. Miller was connected with the University of California as a student and instructor and is now professor of finance at the University of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller will spend the coming year traveling in Europe.

KIDNAPPERS.

Bold Attacks Made in the Very Heart of Chicago.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Peter Meyer, a Western Union telegraph messenger, went to a saloon on "smoky row" in Lemont last evening to deliver a telegram addressed to Emma Brinckman, the young woman who it was said was kidnapped and held a prisoner in one of the "smoky row" resorts.

The proprietor of the saloon denied that such a woman was there.

As Meyer turned to leave the place he was knocked down with a bottle, and before he could pick himself up was kicked from the saloon by the proprietor and bartender.

Considerable anxiety is felt over the absence of John Kemmerlee, who was assaulted at the Chicago & Alton station Sunday evening while waiting to file a dispatch to a Chicago paper. He has not been seen since then.

The Ninth Triennial Session About to Open at Syracuse.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 8.—All the arrangements have been completed for the reception and entertainment of the delegates to the ninth triennial session of the National Church of Congregational churches, which commences tomorrow.

The delegates include many of the leading divines, educators and business men of the country. There will also be delegates from Australia, Canada and Great Britain.

Every Congregational church in the United States is to be represented.

The status of secret and social societies, the question of marriage and divorce and capital and labor, and the religious needs of the army and navy are among the most important questions which will be considered.

Rev. Merrill E. Gates D. D., president of Amherst College, is president of the association.

A SMOKER STARTED IT.

Much Country Laid Waste by the Fire in Dakota.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

ELLENDALE, N. D., Oct. 8.—The great prairie fire which raged throughout this and adjoining counties during the latter part of last week has been extinguished.

It was started west of Frederick by a match which was used to light a cigar and spread rapidly, despite the immediate efforts to extinguish it.

The burned district lays in Brown county, S. D., and Dickey and McIntosh counties, N. D., covering a region nearly 40 miles in length.

A Russian was burned to death while ploughing a fire break around his grain.

A boy was so badly burned that he will die and several others were badly burned. Much hay and grain were destroyed.

ALTGELD WANTS IT.

He Will Seek Renomination as Governor of Illinois.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—A local paper says:

Secretary of State Hinrichsen came to town ostensibly to attend a meeting of the Democratic State Central Committee, which was held last evening.

He seemed to be more concerned, however, in proclaiming that Governor Altgeld is a candidate for re-election than in any other Democratic activity.

Before the meeting, at the meeting and after the meeting of the committee Mr. Hinrichsen had one "little matter" to talk about, one piece of news to reveal, and it was always the same item—the governor is going to run again. He is not only to run, but according to Mr. Hinrichsen, he is going to win.

WANT HIGHER WAGES.

Miners in Illinois Are Going Out in Great Numbers.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 8.—A strike for higher wages has occurred at the three coal mines at Petersburg.

At Barclay the miners' demands have been granted. All shafts in this district except Starn's, Sangamon Trutter and Gray's, Woodside and Springfield cooperative are paying 10 cents.

At Trutter and Gray's the demand was refused.

The state officers of the Miners' union has received word that the Consolidated Coal Company, owning 53 mines in Southern Illinois, have agreed to pay last year's wages.

IN FULL CONTROL.

W. R. Hearst Takes Charge of His New York Paper.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—A morning paper this morning says. William R. Hearst, the California journalist, has purchased the Journal.

Mr. Hearst finished his examination of the books and formally entered on his duties as editor and proprietor last night.

St. Mary's College.

Several of the Brothers who superintend the studies of St. Mary's College were over from San Francisco yesterday inspecting the repairs of the college on New Broadway for the purpose of ascertaining when the building will be ready for occupancy. The interior work is fast approaching completion, and in about six weeks all trace of last year's disastrous fire will have disappeared. It is possible that the Christmas graduating exercises may be held in the rehabilitated college, but regular studies will not be commenced until after the winter holidays.

Queen Victoria as a Spinner.

A Western writer who is not so near to the throne as some others, but who may speak correctly for all that, declares that Queen Victoria has recently taken again to spinning, an accomplishment in which she at one time used to be an adept, and that during her recent stay at Osborn she seems to have interested the Princess of Wales and the latter's daughters therein. Arrangements have just been made for the starting of a spinning class at Sandringham, choice Southdown wool and fine flax having been sent to the Princess' country home for the purpose. It is curious that the Queen has never shown any taste for sewing or embroidery, whereas she is very clever with the knitting kneedles or with crochet work.—Buffalo Express.

ALL READY TO RESPOND.

The North Atlantic Squadron May Be Needed at Cuba.

Affairs at Venezuela, Too, May Be the Cause of a Row.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 8.—A special from Washington, D. C., to the Globe-Democrat says:

The winter plans for the North Atlantic squadron are important and very significant in view of the situation in Cuba and the attitude this country has assumed toward British encroachment in Venezuela.

The North Atlantic squadron is to be greatly strengthened.

Transfers are to be made so as to assemble in that squadron about all the best vessels in the navy, and instead of ceasing their squadron drill for the winter they will continue it in southern waters.

An impressive demonstration of force will thus be made, but it will be under the guise of practice drills.

The excuse for adding vessels to the squadron and going into those waters will be that it is desirable that every one of the new vessels should have practice in squadron drilling and that it is necessary to continue the practice during the winter.

These evolutions, without question, are to be carried on for the prime purpose of having the powerful fleet in the vicinity of the trouble, if trouble occurs, and should occasion arise, as it is feared it may, for something more than display in the Venezuelan or Cuban matters.

A powerful fleet will be within an hour's communication of Washington, and at the same time within twenty-four hours' sailing distance of the probable seat of the trouble.

It is also asserted that the Secretary contemplates holding the South Pacific squadron in the vicinity of Valparaiso, where, in case of need, they could be readily communicated with by cable.

Up to but not after this evening a season ticket to these four excellent "dollar" concerts may be purchased at a pro rata of 25 cents each. While it is not the direct aim of the Young Men's Christian Association to provide an income from these concerts, certainly a handsome net surplus will help to relieve a difficult situation.

CHILDREN IN DANGER.

Cyclists Must Not Carry Them on Their Handle Bars.

The many instances in which bicycle riders are carrying their little ones strapped to the handle bars of their machines has been brought to the notice of Mrs. Sanford secretary of the Humane Society, and it is possible that some arrests may be made on the ground that the practice is exposing a child to danger, contrary to the provisions of the State law.

In San Francisco General McComb has issued an order that no carrying of children on bicycles will be permitted and he has threatened with arrest any who so expose their children. The increasing number of accidents between wheelmen and vehicles, especially street cars, makes the practice, which is growing rapidly, a very dangerous one, and several cases have been reported on Broadway and Washington streets where the father of a child has had to dismount hurriedly to save his child's life. The many crack-holes in the road and the shortness of the blocks in the center of the city have been put forth as arguments why the carrying of babies should be prohibited.

"I am examining the law in regard to the matter," said Mrs. Sanford this morning, and I shall be guided accordingly. I am the agent of the San Francisco society and I shall communicate with General McComb and see just what he has done. I have noticed some instances where women have been riding with their babies on their wheels and it looks very dangerous. If one baby should be killed the whole community would at once denounce the practice. I shall try it if it cannot be stopped without the loss of any little one's life, and as the practice is growing there will surely be an accident before long.

Should there not be anything in the State law that seems to cover the case the City Council will probably be asked to pass an ordinance making the carrying of helpless children on wheels a misdemeanor.

A MINERS' MEETING.

Call to the Members of the Local Organization.

An important meeting of the Alameda County Miners' Association will be held in the council chamber tomorrow night, at which a large attendance of members is expected. A great deal of business is to be considered and, among other things, delegates will be selected to attend the State Miner's convention, which is to be held in San Francisco beginning on the 14th and continuing till the 15th inst. The Alameda County Association has over 100 members, and there is a disposition on the part of many of these to pay a great deal more attention to the objects of the association than they have done in the past. The meeting for tomorrow night is called by President Chappellet.

Sixty thousand complaints from sixty million people have been received at the Postoffice in Washington during the past year. That is a small average of things going wrong. A CHANCE FOR CRANE.

Fifty Thousand Dollars for a Trip to South Africa.

He Is Only to Play a Month's Engagement at the Cape.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The Herald to-day says:

A very flattering proposition for a theatrical engagement has been made to William Crane through his manager, Joseph Brooks.

The offer was made by James Belmont, who represents a combination of business men in Cape Town, South Africa, and who want Mr. Crane to go there and play.

The offer made by Mr. Belmont is said to be $50,000 in cash, tickets to Cape Town and return from New York for the entire company, and the living expenses of the company while there.

The engagement is to be for twenty performances, covering something over a month.

It is estimated that it will take about fourteen weeks to make the trip.

The details of the trip have not been discussed at all. It is not even known yet if the company will go by way of London or San Francisco if it goes at all.

In all probability, however, Mr. Crane will accept the offer. It is stipulated that four plays shall be given, all of the plays that are now in Mr. Crane's repertoire.

Three have practically been settled upon. They are "The Senator," "My Son John" and "My Wife's Father."

The company will appear in Cape Town only, where there is a very pretty little theater.

Mr. Belmont says it is not a money making scheme in the least, and that, on the contrary, he and his associates are willing to lose a little on the venture.

Mr. Belmont, although his home is in Cape Town, has recently made some very successful deals in the Chicago wheat market.

PLEADING FOR PARDONS.

Delegations Ask Clemency for a Number of Miners.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 8.—Petitions have been presented to Governor Altgeld by a delegation from Peoria and Tazewell counties asking the pardon of ex-Representative John L. Gehr, John Heathcott, Daniel Caddell and Charles Jones, now in Joliet prison for murder in the attack on Little Mines, near Pekin, June 6th, 1894.

Lieut.-Governor Gill and a majority of the members of the Legislature are signers, also Edward Little, owner of the mine, who says Gehr and companions endeavored to protect their property, and that the hostile actions of his brother, Peter Little, caused the conflict.

Presiding Judge Green and State's Attorney Saltonstall filed protests to pardoning. Governor Altgeld took the case under advisement.

CHILDISH CONDUCT.

British Sportsmen Censure the Action of Lord Dunraven.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The Very Rev. C. F. Aked, of Liverpool, who has arrived here for the purpose of delivering sermons and lecturing at various points throughout the country, said, in speaking of the finish at the international yacht races:

"The great mass of thinking people in England censure Lord Dunraven severely for his conduct here as a sportsman. He was undoubtedly beaten in the first race and would have been in the second had it lasted a short while longer. The general feeling is that he acted childishly in a temper, throwing up the race because he was piqued. As a true sportsman he should have accepted the decision of the regatta committee without a murmur."

MARRIED AT CHICAGO.

Adolph C. Miller, an Ex-U. C. Boy Weds Miss Sprague.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Miss Mary Sprague, daughter of Mr. Otho Sprague, of Chicago, and Adolph C. Miller, formerly of San Francisco, were married last evening at the residence of the bride's parents.

Mr. Miller was connected with the University of California as a student and instructor and is now professor of finance at the University of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller will spend the coming year traveling in Europe.

KIDNAPPERS.

Bold Attacks Made in the Very Heart of Chicago.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Peter Meyer, a Western Union telegraph messenger, went to a saloon on "smoky row" in Lemont last evening to deliver a telegram addressed to Emma Brinckman, the young woman who it was said was kidnapped and held a prisoner in one of the "smoky row" resorts.

The proprietor of the saloon denied that such a woman was there.

As Meyer turned to leave the place he was knocked down with a bottle, and before he could pick himself up was kicked from the saloon by the proprietor and bartender.

Considerable anxiety is felt over the absence of John Kemmerlee, who was assaulted at the Chicago & Alton station Sunday evening while waiting to file a dispatch to a Chicago paper. He has not been seen since then.

CONGREGATIONALISTS.

The Ninth Triennial Session About to Open at Syracuse.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 8.—All the arrangements have been completed for the reception and entertainment of the delegates to the ninth triennial session of the National Church of Congregational churches, which commences to-morrow.

The delegates include many of the leading divines, educators and business men of the country. There will also be delegates from Australia, Canada and Great Britain.

Every Congregational church in the United States is to be represented.

Rev. Merrill E. Gates, D. D., president of Amherst College, is president of the association.

A SMOKER STARTED IT.

Much Country Laid Waste by the Fire in Dakota.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

ELLENDALE, N. D., Oct. 8.—The great prairie fire which raged throughout this and adjoining countries during the latter part of last week has been extinguished.

It was started west of Frederick by a match which was used to light a cigar and spread rapidly, despite the immediate efforts to extinguish it.

The burned district lays in Brown county, S. D., and Dickley and McIntosh counties, N. D., covering a region nearly 40 miles in length.

A Russian was burned to death while ploughing a fire break around his grain.

A boy was so badly burned that he will die and several others were badly burned. Much hay and grain were destroyed.

ALTGELD WANTS IT.

He Will Seek Renomination as Governor of Illinois.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—A local paper says:

Secretary of State Hinrichsen came to town ostensibly to attend a meeting of the Democratic State Central Committee, which was held last evening.

He seemed to be more concerned, however, in proclaiming that Governor Altgeld is a candidate for re-election than in any other Democratic activity.

Before the meeting, at the meeting and after the meeting of the committee Mr. Hinrichsen had one "little matter" to talk about, one piece of news to reveal, and it was always the same item—the governor is going to run again. He is not only to run, but, according to Mr. Hinrichsen, he is going to win.

WANT HIGHER WAGES.

Miners in Illinois Are Going Out in Great Numbers.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 8.—A strike for higher wages has occurred at the three coal mines at Petersburg.

At Barclay the miners' demands have been granted. All shafts in this district except Starn's, Sangamon, Trutter and Gray's, Woodside and Springfield cooperative are paying 40 cents.

At Trutter and Gray's the demand was refused.

The state officers of the Miners' union has received word that the Consolidated Coal Company, owning 53 mines in Southern Illinois, have agreed to pay last year's wages.

IN FULL CONTROL.

W. R. Hearst Takes Charge of His New York Paper.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—A morning paper this morning says: William R. Hearst, the California journalist, has purchased the Journal.

Mr. Hearst finished his examination of the books and formally entered on his duties as editor and proprietor last night.

St Mary's College.

Several of the Brothers who superintend the studies of St. Mary's College were over from San Francisco yesterday inspecting the repairs of the college on New Broadway for the purpose of ascertaining when the building will be ready for occupancy. The interior work is fast approaching completion, and in about six weeks all trace of last year's disastrous fire will have disappeared. It is possible that the Christmas graduating exercises may be held in the rehabilitated college, but regular studies will not be commenced until after the winter holidays.

Queen Victoria as a Spinner.

A Western writer who is not so near to the throne as some others, but who may speak correctly for all that, declares that Queen Victoria has recently taken again to spinning, an accomplishment in which she at one time used to be an adept, and that during her recent stay at Osborn she seems to have interested the Princess of Wales and the latter's daughters therein. Arrangements have just been made for the starting of a spinning class at Sandringham, choice Southdown wool and fine flax having been sent to the Princess' country home for the purpose. It is curious that the Queen has never shown any taste for sewing or embroidery, whereas she is very clever with the knitting kneedles or with crochet work.—Buffalo Express.

ALL READY TO RESPOND,

The North Atlantic Squadron May Be Needed at Cuba.

Affairs at Venezuela, Too, May Be the Cause of a Row.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 8.—A special from Washington, D. C., to the Globe-Democrat says:

The winter plans for the North Atlantic squadron are important and very significant in view of the situation in Cuba and the attitude this country has assumed toward British encroachment in Venezuela.

The North Atlantic squadron is to be greatly strengthened.

Transfers are to be made so as to assemble in that squadron about all the best vessels in the navy, and instead of ceasing their squadron drill for the winter they will continue it in southern waters.

An impressive demonstration of force will thus be made, but it will be under the guise of practice drills.

The excuse for adding vessels to the squadron and going into those waters will be that it is desirable that every one of the new vessels should have practice in squadron drilling and that it is necessary to continue the practice during the winter.

These evolutions, without question, are to be carried on for the prime purpose of having the powerful fleet in the vicinity of the trouble, if trouble occurs, and should occasion arise, as it is feared it may, for something more than display in the Venezuelan or Cuban matters.

A powerful fleet will be within an hour's communication of Washington, and at the same time within twenty-four hours sailing distance of the probable seat of the trouble.

It is also asserted that the Secretary contemplates holding the South Pacific squadron in the vicinity of Valparaiso, where, in case of need, they could be readily communicated with by cable.

CHILDREN IN DANGER.

Cyclists Must Not Carry Them on Their Handle Bars.

The many instances in which bicycle riders are carrying their little ones strapped to the handle bars of their machines has been brought to the notice of Mrs. Sanford, secretary of the Humane Society, and it is possible that some arrests may be made on the ground that the practice is exposing a child to danger, contrary to the provisions of the State law.

In San Francisco General McComb has issued an order that no carrying of children on bicycles will be permitted and he has threatened with arrest any who so expose their children. The increasing number of accidents between wheelmen and vehicles, especially street cars, makes the practice, which is growing rapidly, a very dangerous one, and several cases have been reported on Broadway and Washington streets where the father of a child has had to dismount hurriedly to save his child's life. The many chuck-holes in the road and the shortness of the blocks in the center of the city have been put forth as arguments why the carrying of babies should be prohibited.

"I am examining the law in regard to the matter," said Mrs. Sanford this morning, and I shall be guided accordingly. I am the agent of the San Francisco society and I shall communicate with General McComb and see just what he has done. I have noticed some instances where women have been riding with their babies on their wheels and it looks very dangerous. If one baby should be killed the whole community would at once denounce the practice. I shall try it if it cannot be stopped without the loss of any little one's life, and as the practice is growing there will surely be an accident before long.

Should there not be anything in the State law that seems to cover the case the City Council will probably be asked to pass an ordinance making the carrying of helpless children on wheels a misdemeanor.

A MINERS' MEETING.

Call to the Members of the Local Organization.

An important meeting of the Alameda County Miners' Association will be held in the council chamber to-morrow night, at which a large attendance of members is expected. A great deal of business is to be considered and, among other things, delegates will be selected to attend the State Miner's convention, which is to be held in San Francisco beginning on the 14th and continuing till the 16th inst. The Alameda County Association has over 190 members, and there is a disposition on the part of many of these to pay a great deal more attention to the objects of the association than they have done in the past. The meeting for tomorrow night is called by President Chappellet.

Sixty thousand complaints from sixty million people have been received at the Postoffice in Washington during the past year. That is a small average of things going wrong. It is curious that exactly the same number of postmasters, 769 died in the United States during the fiscal year lately ended, as during the preceeding year.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

County division has been discussed here for years, just as we discuss the probabilities of the earth at some time becoming dead, like the moon, but the matter is not considered as a living issue and nothing at present gives evidence that it will be for some time to come. The Examiner also represents San Leandro as favoring, next to itself, any place but Hayward for the prospective county seat. This is mere imagination San Leandro is not in the field for the county seat, its geographical location precluding such an idea; neither has it any objection to having the county seat located at Hayward. On the contrary it would be better for San Leandro, in the event of a division of the county, that Hayward should be the capital. San Leandro and Hayward are credited with a mutual jealousy that we do not believe exists. Only fools are subject to these feelings of petty local jealousy and we do not believe that either San Leandro or Hayward is largely populated by narrow-minded people.—San Leandro Standard.

Investigations by members of the State Bureau of Highways have shown that Santa Clara county has the best roads in the State with Alameda a good second. The mountain county of Alpine, with a road fund of only $1100 a year, has roads that are a credit to its road overseers and put to shame many of the large, populous counties. If Santa Clara county manages to maintain the finest road system in the State there is no reason Alameda should not share this distinction with it. The natural conditions prevailing in that county do not give it any advantage over this county, but intelligent effort has been directed towards making its roads what they are. Road work there is done by competent men in a scientific manner. The looseness which characterizes road work in so many counties does not prevail there, for if it did the roads would not be any better than those of other counties.—Hayward Review.

Messrs. Guttenberg, Brandt & Roth all of Sacramento, arrived here today noon to examine the street car automatic indicator invented by C. E Larabee of Oakland and introduced in the Stockton street car system as an experiment. The gentlmen were accompanied on the trip over the road by W. Goodfriend, who is financially interested in the invention The intention is to form a joint stock company to introduce the device elsewhere The apparatus will probably be manufactured in this city.—Stockton Mail.

The company which is building an electric road from Oakland to Livermore valley is having an easy time in securing right-of-way. The owners of the rich farms in the valley are coming forward with generous offers, and thus the problem of the road has been greatly simplified.—Santa Cruz Sentinel. Yes, the people along the route are not obstructionists by any means, they are thoroughly alive to their own interests and are not backward in assisting a worthy enterprise.—Livermore Herald.

We have it from a reliable source that if Senator Eart of Oakland does not seek a re-election and ex-Mayor Pardee will not allow his name to go before the convention Mr. J B. Richardson, a prominent attorney and partner of Judge Nye, will be a candidate. From what we can learn that gentleman would make a most excellent representative in the upper house of the legislature.—Livermore Herald.

Something has been said and written on the subject of division of Alameda county lately, and recently the Examiner considered the matter worthy of about a column of its valuable space. That some of the statements contained therein had no foundation in fact apparently cut no figure. In the future Alameda county will no doubt be divided, the city of Oakland and contiguous territory uniting to form one municipality; but there is no indication that such a result will be brought about at once. Of course when the question comes up Hayward will be a candidate for the county seat, but the selection of a seat of government is a secondary matter to the main question of the division of the county; and there is, therefore, no occasion to get excited over the matter at this time.—Haywards Review.

Mrs. Mabel Holmes-Mills, Oakland's champion bloomer girl, who was recently married to a San Jose lawyer by contract, has been sued for money due on diamonds she had purchased.—Santa Cruz Sentinel.

THREATENING TO BOLT.

Much Dissatisfaction Among Conservative Hebrew Church-Goers.

Strenuous Opposition Continues to Meet the Movements of the Reformers.

The controversy at the First Hebrew Congregational church has not diminished in its intensity with the annual election of officers There are two factions in the church, the conservative and the one favoring reform. The former wish to retain the time-honored customs and ceremonies, while the latter wish to keep pace with modern progression and institute reform.

From time immemorial it has been the custom in Hebrew worship to have the Rabbi face the altar while praying and for the prayers to be in the Hebrew tongue Music at the feasts was also prohibited.

But now one faction headed by Dr. Friedlander wish a change. They say that the prayers should partly be in English, and that the priest should at times face the people, as other ministers do. Music they say is the highest form of worship and is in no sense irreverent.

The innovations shock the older members who look upon the violation of the old rites as gross heresy

Ill feeling runs high and many sharp speeches have been indulged in by both factions. The conservatives party have gone so far as to quote Rabbi Friedlander as using unbecoming language in the pulpit. This charge was promptly and emphatically denied by the minister and his friends and so the hostilities raged until they culminated in the annual election.

The reform party was the strongest and succeeded in electing a majority in the board of trustees. The reform party even went so far as to try to have women admitted into the congregation. In this however they failed, the reform being too sweeping even for those who were willing to have the prayers in English. This party now claims that everything is running smoothly and that ter new members were elected last week.

The opposing force says that the innovations detract from the beauty and solemnity of the worship and if they are continued they will leave the church and seek some other place of worship.

Both Food and Drink.

Nothing can interfere with the popularity of the Oakland Chowder House, kept by Charley Appeldorn on Washington street immediately north of the entrance to the Newland House at the corner of Seventh street. It is crowded day and night The finest wine and beer sell for five cents a glass and there is an excellent lunch all day.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

County division has been discussed here for years, just as we discuss the probabilities of the earth at some time becoming dead, like the moon, but the matter is not considered as a living issue and nothing at present gives evidence that it will be for some time to come. The Examiner also represents San Leandro as favoring, next to itself, any place but Hayward for the prospective county seat. This is mere imagination. San Leandro is not in the field for the county seat, its geographical location precluding such an idea; neither has it any objection to having the county seat located at Hayward. On the contrary it would be better for San Leandro, in the event of a division of the county, that Hayward should be the capital. San Leandro and Hayward are credited with a mutual jealousy that we do not believe exists. Only fools are subject to these feelings of petty local jealousy and we do not believe that either San Leandro or Hayward is largely populated by narrow-minded people.—San Leandro Standard.

Investigations by members of the State Bureau of Highways have shown that Santa Clara county has the best roads in the State, with Alameda a good second. The mountain county of Alpine, with a road fund of only $1100 a year, has roads that are a credit to its road overseers and put to shame many of the large, populous counties. If Santa Clara county manages to maintain the finest road system in the State there is no reason Alameda should not share this distinction with it. The natural conditions prevailing in that county do not give it any advantage over this county, but intelligent effort has been directed towards making its roads what they are. Road work there is done by competent men in a scientific manner. The looseness which characterizes road work in so many counties does not prevail there, for if it did the roads would not be any better than those of other counties.—Hayward Review.

Messrs. Guttenberg, Brandt & Roth, all of Sacramento, arrived here today noon to examine the street car automatic indicator invented by C. E. Larabee of Oakland and introduced in the Stockton street car system as an experiment. The gentlmen were accompanied on the trip over the road by W. Goodfriend, who is financially interested in the invention. The intention is to form a joint stock company to introduce the device elsewhere. The apparatus will probably be manufactured in this city.—Stockton Mail.

The company which is building an electric road from Oakland to Livermore valley is having an easy time in securing right-of-way. The owners of the rich farms in the valley are coming forward with generous offers, and thus the problem of the road has been greatly simplified.—Santa Cruz Sentinel. Yes, the people along the route are not obstructionists by any means, they are thoroughly alive to their own interests and are not backward in assisting a worthy enterprise.—Livermore Herald.

We have it from a reliable source that if Senator Earl of Oakland does not seek a re-election and ex-Mayor Pardee will not allow his name to go before the convention Mr. J. B. Richardson, a prominent attorney and partner of Judge Nye, will be a candidate. From what we can learn that gentleman would make a most excellent representative in the upper house of the legislature.—Livermore Herald.

Something has been said and written on the subject of division of Alameda county lately, and recently the Examiner considered the matter worthy of about a column of its valuable space. That some of the statements contained therein had no foundation in fact apparently cut no figure. In the future Alameda county will no doubt be divided, the city of Oakland and contiguous territory uniting to form one municipality; but there is no indication that such a result will be brought about at once. Of course when the question comes up Hayward will be a candidate for the county seat, but the selection of a seat of government is a secondary matter to the main question of the division of the county; and there is, therefore, no occasion to get excited over the matter at this time.—Haywards Review.

Mrs. Mabel Holmes-Mills, Oakland's champion bloomer girl, who was recently married to a San Jose lawyer by contract, has been sued for money due on diamonds she had purchased.—Santa Cruz Sentinel.

The Young Men's Christian Association of this city has provided a splendid array of education advantages for its members, and any respectable young man may become a member. Beginning October 18th the evening educational classes will be inaugurated in the following branches: Bookkeeping, penmanship, shorthand, business, law, arithmatic, elocution, vocal music, mechanical and architectural drawing, German, mandolin, guitar and electricity. The class in electricity will be taught by J. E. Strachan, a graduate of the State university, and will be under the special patronage of Prof. Cory of the electrical engineering department of the university. Suitable apparatus will be provided for experiments and instruction. Competent instruction will be provided for each class. The opening exercises take place Friday evening, October 18th, when the general public is invited to attend. Young men are invited to call at the building, Twelfth and Clay street, and learn particulars.

THREATENING TO BOLT.

Much Dissatisfaction Among Conservative Hebrew Church-Goers.

Strenuous Opposition Continues to Meet the Movements of the Reformers.

The controversy at the First Hebrew Congregational church has not diminished in its intensity with the annual election of officers. There are two factions in the church, the conservative and the one favoring reform. The former wish to retain the time-honored customs and ceremonies, while the latter wish to keep pace with modern progression and institute reform.

From time immemorial it has been the custom in Hebrew worship to have the Rabbi face the altar while praying and for the prayers to be in the Hebrew tongue. Music at the feasts was also prohibited.

But now one faction headed by Dr. Friedlander wish a change. They say that the prayers should partly be in English, and that the priest should at times face the people, as other ministers do. Music they say is the highest form of worship and is in no sense irreverent.

The innovations shock the older members who look upon the violation of the old rites as gross heresy.

Ill feeling runs high and many sharp speeches have been indulged in by both factions. The conservative party have gone so far as to quote Rabbi Friedlander as using unbecoming language in the pulpit. This charge was promptly and emphatically denied by the minister and his friends and so the hostilities raged until they culminated in the annual election.

The reform party was the strongest and succeeded in electing a majority in the board of trustees. The reform party even went so far as to try to have women admitted into the congregation. In this however they failed, the reform being too sweeping even for those who were willing to have the prayers in English. This party now claims that everything is running smoothly and that ten new members were elected last week.

The opposing force says that the innovations detract from the beauty and solemnity of the worship and if they are continued they will leave the church and seek some other place of worship.

Both Food and Drink.

Nothing can interfere with the popularity of the Oakland Chowder House, kept by Charley Appeldorn on Washington street immediately north of the entrance to the Newland House at the corner of Seventh street. It is crowded day and night. The finest wine and beer sell for five cents a glass and there is an excellent lunch all day.

"The Magistrate" Meets With Much Approval at the Macdonough.

Bright Shows Brought to the Coast for the Leading Theaters.

The Coghlan-Stockwell Company presented Pinero's "The Magistrate" before a large house at the Macdonough last night.

"The Magistrate," originally produced by Augustin Daly, is one of the most popular comedies on the stage today. There is a laugh in every line. Mr. Stockwell carries off the impersonation of the Magistrate to perfection. His droll, quaint humor makes him a favorite with all the audiences before which he plays and he has a certain freshness of manner that is always with him. He plays the role with his usual quietude where the temptation is to be pronounced and is altogether exceedingly successful.

Miss Rose Coghlan, than whom no better actress appears upon the English-speaking stage at the present time, is at her best in the character of Mrs. Posket, and her brilliant costumes and handsome presence serve to add perfection to what seems to be already perfect.

Miss Margaret Craven is an actress of exceptional ability. This will, in all probability, be her last appearance in America, before her departure for Europe.

Miss Maude Winter is the possessor of beauty and talent and is an ornament to the cast.

Miss Coghlan appeared in a number of new and beautiful costumes.

There will be only one more performance.

Next Monday Henry E. Dixey will appear for one night only. He will present his interesting monologue, interspersed with select vaudeville. Seats are now ready.

THE BALDWIN.

The Palmer Company commenced its second week of "Trilby" to a crowded house last night at the Baldwin. The magnificent production is one of the greatest artistic efforts of the American stage today. It surpasses anything that has been witnessed on a California stage for many months. The Baldwin is not spacious enough to accommodate those who desire to witness the play.

THE COLUMBIA.

Tonight the Columbia will be the center of attraction for many hundreds of San Francisco theater goers. The Bostonians, with their entire repertoire will commence a short season. All the favorite members of this superb organization will again appear. The opening opera will be "Robin Hood," with all its tuneful airs and dainty music. In the company are Jessie Bartlett Davis, Henry Clay Barnabee, William H. McDonald, Helen Bertram, Eugene Cowles, Harold Blake, Josephine Bartlett, George Frothingham and others as well known. The chorus will be a feature of the productions.

MOROSCO'S.

Milton Noble commenced his third week at Morosco's last evening in "Bertha, the Sewing Machine Girl," a startling drama picturing a sad side of life in the great metropolis of the nation. The dramatization was done by the popular author-actor, who has won added laurels during his present engagement.

THE TIVOLI.

"La Traviata," Verdi's wonderful operatic creation, was the bill last evening at the Tivoli. The opera was sung to a packed house. Ida Valerga and Laura Millard will alternate during the week as Violetta. The next opera will be "Il Trovatore."

THE ORPHEUM.

The four Schrode Brothers gave a marvelous entertainment at the Orpheum last night. They are new features on a programme already crowded with bright and clever novelties. The team, however, eclipse anything in the acrobatic line that has been witnessed in a San Francisco theater for many weeks. Murphy and Mack do a very funny character sketch and altogether the bill is exceptionall good.

THE ALCAZAR.

Leonard Grover Jr. has demonstrated his ability to please the public in a manner that is satisfactory both to his patrons and himself. The bright comedy, "My Son-in-law," has been seen before, but it loses none of its flavor. The attractive features were well handled last evenig and the big audience signified its approval.

ANGRY CYCLISTS.

Reno Rules That Are Arousing a Fierce Storm of Indignation.

It has remained for the commissioners of Washoe county to propose the most superbly absurd set of ordinances regarding bicycles that was ever concocted in the brain of man. The ideas are so ridiculous that it is difficult to believe that the ordinances are not intended as a mammoth joke, but we are assured that the commissioners are in "dead earnest." Just listen to this:

Section 49. Every male person who shall practice the art of learning to ride a bicycle on the streets of Reno shall first obtain a license to do so.

The amount of the license is fixed at $10 per quarter for practicing on Virginia street or Commercial Row; $5 per quarter for practicing on the back streets.

Why do they not require a license from the "green" firemen on a locomotive? He might accidentally heave a stick of wood or a shovelful of coal over the tender and kill a passerby, but he does not often do so; neither does a "practicing" cyclist commit many murderous deeds.

But the crowning absurdity is the following section:

"Any female person clad in the garb or costume commonly know as 'bloomers' riding a bicycle within the limits of the town of Reno shall first obtain a license so to do, and shall pay therefor the sum of $10 per quarter."

We shall next hear that these jocular gentlemen will ordain that the woman who pays a tax on her watch will have to take out a license if she should desire to carry that useful piece of jewelry when she is attired in a Mother Hubbard wrapper.

Or, a man who owns a coach and pair will be compelled to appear in conventional full dress whenever he wishes to take a pleasure drive.

Are the male tennis players of Reno permitted to cross the town in their tennis flannels?

Will the young ladies be allowed to wear undressed kid gloves?

What is the limit of power, or has a commissioner full sway in his county? If he has unqualified power, we thank our lucky stars that we do not live in Washoe county.

The Reno cyclists should register a mighty and unanimous "kick" against the proposed ordinance.—Reno Morning News.

WELL PLEASED AUDIENCES.

"The Magistrate" Meets With Much Approval at the Macdonough.

Bright Shows Brought to the Coast for the Leading Theaters.

The Coghlan-Stockwell Company presented Pinero's "The Magistrate" before a large house at the Macdonough last night.

"The Magistrate," originally produced by Augustin Daly, is one of the most popular comedies on the stage today. There is a laugh in every line. Mr. Stockwell carries off the impersonation of the Magistrate to perfection. His droll, quaint humor makes him a favorite with all the audiences before which he plays and he has a certain freshness of manner that is always with him. He plays the role with his usual quietude where the temptation is to be pronounced and is altogether exceedingly successful.

Miss Rose Coghlan, than whom no better actress appears upon the English-speaking stage at the present time, is at her best in the character of Mrs. Posket, and her brilliant costumes and handsome presence serve to add perfection to what seems to be already perfect.

Miss Margaret Craven is an actress of exceptional ability. This will, in all probability be her last appearance in America, before her departure for Europe.

Miss Maude Winter is the possessor of beauty and talent and is an ornament to the cast

Miss Coghlan appeared in a number of new and beautiful costumes.

There will be only one more performance.

Next Monday Henry E. Dixey will appear for one night only. He will present his interesting monologue, interspersed with select vaudeville. Seats are now ready.

THE BALDWIN.

The Palmer Company commenced its second week of "Trilby" to a crowded house last night at the Baldwin. The magnificent production is one of the greatest artistic efforts of the American stage today. It surpasses anything that has been witnessed on a California stage for many months. The Baldwin is not spacious enough to accommodate those who desire to witness the play.

THE COLUMBIA.

Tonight the Columbia will be the center of attraction for many hundreds of San Francisco theater goers. The Bostonians, with their entire repertoire will commence a short season. All the favorite members of this superb organization will again appear. The opening opera will be "Robin Hood," with all its tuneful airs and dainty music. In the company are Jessie Bartlett Davis, Henry Clay Barnabee, William H. McDonald, Helen Bertram, Eugene Cowles, Harold Blake, Josephine Bartlett, George Fothingham and others as well known. The chorus will be a feature of the productions.

MOROSCO'S.

Milton Noble commenced his third week at Morosco's last evening in "Bertha, the Sewing Machine Girl," a startling drama picturing a sad side of life in the great metropolis of the nation. The dramatization was done by the popular author-actor, who has won added laurels during his present engagement.

THE TIVOLI.

'La Traviata," Verdi's wonderful operatic creation, was the bill last evening at the Tivoli. The opera was sung to a packed house. Ida Valerga and Laura Millard will alternate during the week as Violetta. The next opera will be "Il Trovatore."

THE ORPHEUM.

The four Schrode Brothers gave a marvelous entertainment at the Orpheum last night. They are new features on a programme already crowded with bright and clever novelties. The team, however, eclipse anything in the acrobatic line that has been witnessed in a San Francisco theater for many weeks. Murphy and Mack do a very funny character sketch and altogether the bill is exceptionall good.

THE ALCAZAR.

Leonard Grover Jr. has demonstrated his ability to please the public in a manner that is satisfactory both to his patrons and himself. The bright comedy, "My Son-in-law," has been seen before, but it loses none of its flavor. The attractive features were well handled last evenig and the big audience signified its approval.

ANGRY CYCLISTS.

Reno Rules That Are Arousing a Fierce Storm of Indignation.

It has remained for the commissioners of Washoe county to propose the most superbly absurd set of ordinances regarding bicycles that was ever concocted in the brain of man. The ideas are so ridiculous that it is difficult to believe that the ordinances are not intended as a mammoth joke, but we are assured that the commissioners are in "dead earnest." Just listen to this:

Section 19. Every male person who shall practice the art of learning to ride a bicycle on the streets of Reno shall first obtain a license to do so.

The amount of the license is fixed at $10 per quarter for practicing on Virginia street or Commercial Row, $5 per quarter for practicing on the back streets.

Why do they not require a license from the "green" firemen on a locomotive? He might accidentally heave a stick of wood or a shovelful of coal over the tender and kill a passerby, but he does not often do so; neither does a "practicing" cyclist commit many murderous deeds.

But the crowning absurdity is the following section:

"Any female person clad in the garb or costume commonly know as 'bloomers' riding a bicycle within the limits of the town of Reno shall first obtain a license so to do, and shall pay therefor the sum of $10 per quarter."

We shall next hear that these jocular gentlemen will ordain that the woman who pays a tax on her watch will have to take out a license if she should desire to carry that useful piece of jewelry when she is attired in a Mother Hubbard wrapper.

Or, a man who owns a coach and pair will be compelled to appear in conventional full dress whenever he wishes to take a pleasure drive.

Are the male tennis players of Reno permitted to cross the town in their tennis flannels?

Will the young ladies be allowed to wear undressed kid gloves?

What is the limit of power, or has a commissioner full sway in his county? If he has unqualified power, we thank our lucky stars that we do not live in Washoe county.

The Reno cyclists should register a mighty and unanimous "kick" against the proposed ordinance.—Reno Morning News.

DAVIE VETOES IT.

The Tax Levy Ordinance Now Confronted With a Hard Fight.

UGLY COMPLICATIONS AWAIT.

The Mayor Thinks That the Calculations Are in Error.

IT WILL COME UP TONIGHT.

Some Sarcastic Comments on the Governing of the City.

The star municipal conundrum of the world was in need of being propounded at the City Hall today but up to now no political Napoleon had been found who has the least hope of solving it. Yesterday was a holiday and presumably the city officials enjoyed themselves. This morning the official head ached. Work was repulsive and everybody went to war against his neighbor.

The first gun was fired in the mayor's office. In fact all the first guns of recent City Hall battles have been fired there and the final ones—have not yet been discharged. The first thing that met the mayor's eye this morning was a requisition for 10,000 feet of lumber. The mayor read the demand and smiled. He rushed into the city engineer's office but Mr. Wilson was not there. It was only two minutes after eight and the engineer does not arrive so early. When he did come the mayor demanded to know to what possible use so much lumber could be put in a city so near perfection as Oakland. Mr. Wilson told him—and his reply was like a red rag to a bull. Crosswalks.

Crosswalks yelled the mayor. Do you not know that it is illegal to lay crosswalks at the city's expense. Do you not know that a state law provides that the district benefited by street improvements must be assessed to such defi[...]. Do you not know—

I know you are— said the engineer but the appearance of a man settling the measurements of a sewer pipe ended the little talk.

Then the mayor went into his office again and took up Councilman Manuel's message to the Council as read by that gentleman last Saturday night. Manuel never wrote a single word of that message, said His Honor. It is Parker's language. Parker's usual string of errors, and I'll bet the original had Parker's signature to it. After a few more sotto voce sentences the mayor paused for breath.

How do I know it was Parker who wrote that message? For the same reason that I know Manuel did not even read it before he read it to the Council. Here is my proof. One sentence is as follows: If I am correctly informed the mayor a few months ago advocated the issuance of two million dollars in bonds for public improvement. Now look at the absurdity of this. Manuel was present at the Council at the meeting at which my message was read and he commented on it at the time. Now he would never have spoken about being credibly informed if he had written the message, for he heard what I said himself. Again there is only one man that ever glossed over all his public mistakes by the phrase, I am credibly informed, and that man is Mayor Parker's. Pah.

During all this time the mayor had amused himself by dipping his pen in the ink bottle. He appeared to be laboring under great self restraint. It was not the effect of the holiday because the mayor was at his office as usual yesterday. A minute later it was all explained.

In came Deputy City Clerk Holland with the tax levy ordinance.

He placed it carefully on the mayor's desk as though afraid it might explode and then beat a hasty retreat. Expert Kaufman [...] retired for a few moments. So did Stuart McMullan and the Tribune man. When the expert went back into the room Mayor Davie said: George, take that vetoed ordinance back to the city clerk. Something else was said but it cut no figure in the official proceeding of vetoing that ordinance and can be omitted.

At last said the mayor, now that it is vetoed, and they can amuse themselves by thinking how they can get over that little difficulty. One dollar eighteen—preposterous! One dollar eighteen—horrible atrocious robbery. There is one salient point in this levy added the mayor, that the Council has overlooked. They persist in saying that the general fund will be only $58,000. That is not so and shows great ignorance on their part. That $58,000 is only the amount of the general fund. It is only the amount raised by direct taxation. The fund is increased by ten per cent of all the monies collected from licenses and this means an additional $1[...]00 and is provided for by ordinance and yet not a single one of our [...] has said a word about it. Manuel's letter persists in talking about $58,000 and simply shows he is talking through his hat.

THE NEXT MOVE.

The tax ordinance will be brought up at tonight's meeting of the City Council and an attempt will be made to pass it over the mayor's veto. It is certain that not more than seven votes can be procured to slip out the ordinance and consequently the veto will stick. Then will commence one of the best exhibitions of stubbornness and kicking yet seen out[...].

School Superintendent McClymonds was the next visitor to the mayor's office. Mr. McClymonds had a grudge against the mayor and his Scotch blood would not cool until it was satisfied. Yesterday the mayor ordered the school department coal to be weighed and the superintendent was not at all pleased at hearing orders given on a public holiday especially affecting the school department. So this morning Mr. McClymonds remembered that there was a hole in the roof of a school in North Oakland and that a requisition to repair it had been made on the mayor several weeks ago and had not been returned. The superintendent informed the mayor of the fact and then felt better. Mr. McClymonds is not one of the gentlemen who take their hats off when they enter the mayor's office.

The whole business is a farce finally said the mayor in despair. Parker and his crowd wanted a reform in Board of Works and they remind me of the man who burned the barn to kill the rats. I think I'll write a message as mayor to the Board of Works advising them how to carry on the city government. After it is read Mr. Wilson can move that it be placed on file. Mr. Tetsol can fall in line and I will decline to vote on the ground that I wrote the communication myself.

RAN AGROUND.

A River Steamer Goes on the Bar Just Below Cincinnati.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 8.—The steamer B. S. [...] left this city yesterday and grounded at Culmun's bar, six miles down the river.

The steamer plies between this city and Madison, Ind., and was heavily loaded with passengers for Madison and intermediate points.

The steamer was badly wrecked in trying to pull off the bar but no lives were lost.

No boat was in harbor at the time of the accident and the passengers had to remain at the bar until a late hour.

In the Swim.

Prof. Fred H. Killick gave an illustrated lecture on the art of swimming at the Piedmont baths last evening. In his illustrations he was assisted by Ed Herrick, the boy diver, Geo. Ingersoll, Arthur McDonald, Joan O'Berg, C. Cummings, L. Jacobson and A. Vekander.

A CREED OF MANLINESS.

Rev. Dr. Rader on Conditions That We Must Meet.

He Makes Another Earnest Appeal in Behalf of Sunday Closing.

The attendance at the session of the Prohibition conference in Hamilton hall last night did not fill the apartment but it was larger than that of the afternoon at the same place.

Rev. Dr. Kummer acted as chairman. Mrs. Rose French delivered a speech in which she said among other things that she does not believe the Lord can relieve the sufferings of this world as long as the liquor traffic is allowed to exist on earth.

Rev. Mr. Rader in whose honor the demonstration was given said that while he is not wholly in sympathy with the ideas of the Prohibitionists, he is heartily in sympathy with the temperance worker. His address was based upon the idea of Labor and the Liquor Traffic.

We are passing through a civic revival he said. The liquor brings to this reform a very significant discontent. It has great possibilities and is capable of great evils.

Labor thinks—hence if we look back of it we find the thought springs from a hundred years of education in the little red school house.

I wish that they would appreciate the fact that they are American citizens and should exercise their rights at the ballot box and vote on the right side.

I believe in a religion of manliness, so does the working man. They believe in a religion that they can see, feel and eat. They have to. So do I. We both believe in common sense every day religion and not that of the stipple variety. We want Christianity that we can depend upon, not those like the flea who you can never put your hand on when you want to.

Dr. Willard Parker, the eminent New York physician, said that the liquor traffic is responsible for thirty per cent of the pauperism and ten per cent of all deaths. Apply that to New York city and it means that last year the liquor traffic is responsible for the birth of scores of idiots, 400 lunatics and for sending 75,000 men and women to jail, pauperizing 10,000 families and causing 1,000 deaths.

The laboring men of the United States consume an average of a hundred dollars worth of drink each year. This amount would buy fuel and fire for every workingman in America. Many a man has swallowed a farm worth $50 an acre. A glass of gin contains an installment of a ten-acre lot. The working people of New York city spend for liquor more than $50,000 a day or $1,500,000 a month.

Sunday closing is asked for in Oakland on the strength of these facts, not because the Lord's day has been observed a day of rest and worship for nearly 2,000 years but because of social justice in the moral and industrial interests of workingmen.

If the saloon can be closed in New York and Philadelphia they can be closed in Oakland.

The conference closed with the singing of America.

THE SILVER STRUGGLE.

Senator Warren Says That the Republicans Must Stand Together.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 8.—United States Senator Francis E. Warren who has returned from Washington says he believes the only hope for silver is in a fight within the Republican party lines.

Questioned as to what the Republican party of Wyoming would probably do if the national organization declared against the white metal he said that there was little use of any one or several States antagonizing the national organization on any subject whatever.

Asked to what he himself would do in case his party definitely arrived itself against silver the Senator said that he thought that he could do more good for silver within his party ranks than he could do without them.

Senator Warren was elected to succeed Senator Carey by the Republican party of Wyoming solely on the issue that Mr. Warren was an aggressive silver man while Mr. Carey was equally aggressive as a gold advocate.

LOOKING FOR SUNRISE.

A Schooner Whose Absence Is Creating Much Alarm.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—The schooner Sunrise which left Alpena for Chicago three weeks ago has not been heard from since that time and there are many inquiries daily around the lumber market from people who are interested in it or who have relatives abroad.

The Sunrise passed the Straits of Mackinac long before the gale of a week ago and should have been in port within a week after that time.

Schooners that left Alpena after the Sunrise did are all right.

The schooner was commanded by Captain Duncan Buchanan who is known as a skilful mariner.

SMUGGLING SCHOONERS.

A Fleet of Pirates Are Plying in the Vicinity of St. Johns.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Oct. 8.—The government is taking steps to prosecute the smugglers whose traffic extends half round the islands.

The steamer Iona was despatched to Placentia Bay to seize a number of schooners whose men are implicated in the smuggling and against whom the customs department has sufficient evidence to secure a conviction.

The board of revenue is having a controversy with the government press over the proper course to be pursued toward persons charged with smuggling.

The first gun was fired in the mayor's office, in fact, all the first guns of recent City Hall battles have been fired there and the final ones—have not yet been discharged. The first thing that met the mayor's eye this morning was a requisition for 10,000 feet of lumber. The mayor read the demand and smiled. He rushed into the city engineer's office, but Mr. Wilson was not there. It was only two minutes after eight and the engineer does not arrive so early. When he did come the mayor demanded to know to what possible use so much lumber could be put in a city so near perfection as Oakland. Mr. Wilson replied—and his reply was like a red rag to a bull, "Crosswalks."

"Crosswalks," cried the mayor; "Do you not know that it is illegal to lay crosswalks at the city's expense? Do you not know that a state law provides that the district benefitted by street improvements must be assessed for such betterments? Do you not know—?"

"I know you are—" said the engineer, but the appearance of a man wanting the measurements of a sewer pipe ended the little talk.

Then the mayor went into his office again and took up Councilman Manuel's message to the Council as read by that gentleman last Saturday night. "Manuel never wrote a single word of that message," said His Honor. "It is Pardee's language, Pardee's usual string of errors, and I'll bet the original had Pardee's signature to it." After a few more sotto voice sentences, the mayor paused for breath.

"How do I know it was Pardee who wrote that message? For the same reason that I know Manuel did not even read it before he read it to the Council. Here is my proof. One sentence is as follows: 'If I am credibly informed the mayor, a few months ago advocated the issuance of two million dollars in bonds for public improvemnets.' Now look at the absurdity of this. Manuel was president of the Council at the meeting at which my message was read and he commented on it at the time. Now he would never have spoken about being credibly informed if he had written that message, for he heard what I said himself. Again there is only one man that ever glossed over all his possible mistakes by the phrase, 'If I am credibly informed,' and that man is Mayor Pardee. Bah."

During all this time the mayor had amused himself by dipping his pen in the ink bottle. He appeared to be laboring under great self restraint. It was not the effect of the holiday because the mayor was at his office as usual yesterday. A minute later it was all explained.

In came Deputy City Clerk Holland with the tax levy ordinance.

He placed it carefully on the mayor's desk as though afraid it might explode and then beat a hasty retreat. Expert Kaufman judiciously retired for a few moments. So did Stuart McMullan and the Tribune man. When the expert went back into the room Mayor Davie said: "George, take that vetoed ordinance back to the city clerk." Something else was said, but it cut no figure in the official proceeding of vetoing that ordinance and can be omitted.

"At last," said the mayor, "now that it is vetoed, and they can amuse themselves by thinking how they can get over that little difficulty. One dollar eighteen—preposterous! One dollar eighteen—horrible, atrocious robbery! There is one salient point in this levy," added the mayor, "that the Council has overlooked. They persist in saying that the general fund will be only $58,00. That is not so and shows great ignorance on their part. That $58,00 is only the amount of the general fund, is only the amount raised by direct taxation. The fund is increased by ten per cent of all the monies collected from licenses and this means an additional $12,00 and is provided for by ordinance, and yet not a single one of our amateur financiers has said a word about it. Manuel's letter persists in talking about $58,00 and simply shows he is talking through his hat."

THE NEXT MOVE.

The tax ordinance will be brought up at tonight's meeting of the City Council and an attempt will be made to pass it over the mayor's veto. It is certain that not more than seven votes can be procured to support the ordinance and consequently the veto will stick. Then will commence one of the best exhibitions of stubbornness and kicking ever seen outside of a circus.

School Superintendent McClymonds was the next visitor to the mayor's office. McClymonds had a grudge against the mayor and his Scotch blood would not cool until it was satisfied. Yesterday, the mayor ordered the school department coal to be weighed and the superintendent was not at all pleased at hearing orders given on a public holiday, especially affecting the school department. So this morning Mr. McClymonds remembered that there was a hole in the roof of a school in North Oakland and that a requisition to repair it had been made on the mayor several weeks ago and had not been returned. The superintendent informed the mayor of the fact and then felt better. Mr. McClymonds is not one of the gentlemen who take their hats off when they enter the mayor's office.

"The whole business is a farce," finally said the mayor in despair. "Pardee and his crowd wanted to reform the Board of Works and they remind me of the man who burned the barn to kill the rats. I think I'll write a message as mayor to the Board of Works advising them how to carry on the city government. After it is read, Mr. Wilson can move that it be placed on file, Mr. Pelrsol can fall in line and I will decline to vote on the ground that I wrote the communication myself."

RAN AGROUND.

A River Steamer Goes on the Bar Just Below Cincinnati.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 8.—The steamer B. S. Rhea left this city yesterday and grounded at Culmun's bar, six miles down the river.

The steamer plies between this city and Madison, Ind., and was heavily loaded with passengers for Madison and intermediate points.

The steamer was badly wrecked in trying to pull off the bar, but no lives were lost.

No boat was in harbor at the time of the accident and the passengers had to remain at the bar until a late hour.

In the Swim.

Prof. Fred H. Killick gave an illustrated lecture on the art of swimming at the Piedmont baths last evening. In his illustrations he was assisted by Ed. Horlick, the boy diver, Geo. Ingersoll, Arthur McDonald, Jonn O'Berg, C. Cummings, E. Jacobson and A. Vekander.

A CREED OF MANLINESS.

Rev. Dr. Rader on Conditions That We Must Meet.

He Makes Another Earnest Appeal in Behalf of Sunday Closing.

The attendance at the session of the Prohibition conference in Hamilton hall last night did not fill the apartment, but it was larger than that of the afternoon at the same place.

Rev. Dr. Kummer acted as chairman.

Mrs. Rose French delivered a speech, in which she said, among other things, that she does not believe the Lord can relieve the sufferings of this world as long as the liquor traffic is allowed to exist on earth.

Rev. Mr. Rader, in whose honor the demonstration was given, said that while he is not wholly in sympathy with the ideas of the Prohibitionists, he is heartily in sympathy with the temperance worker. His address was based upon the idea of "Labor and the Liquor Traffic."

"We are passing through a civic revival," he said. "The laborer brings to this reform a very significant discontent. It has great possibilities and is capable of great evils.

"Labor thinks—hence if we look back of it we find that the thought springs from a hundred years of education in the little red school house.

"I wish that they would appreciate the fact that they are American citizens and should exercise their rights at the ballot box and vote on the right side.

"I believe in a religion of manliness, so does the working man. They believe in a religion that they can see, feel and eat if they have to. So do I. We both believe in common sense, every day religion, and not that of the soap-bubble variety. We want Christians that we can depend upon; not those like the flea, who you can never put your hand on when you want to.

"Dr. Willard Parker, the eminent New York physician, said that the liquor traffic is responsible for thirty per cent of the pauperism and ten per cent of all deaths. Apply that to New York city and it means that last year the liquor traffic is responsible for the birth of scores of idiots, 400 lunatics and for sending 76,000 men and women to jail, pauperizing 10,000 families and causing 4,000 deaths.

"The laboring men of the United States consume an average of a hundred dollars' worth of drink each year. This amount would buy fuel and fire for every workingman in America. Many a man has swallowed a farm worth $50 an acre. A glass of ale contains the sediment of a ten-acre lot. The working people of New York city spend for liquor more than $50,000 a day, or $1,500,000 a month.

Sunday closing is asked for in Oakland on the strength of these facts, not because the Lord's day has been observed a day of rest and worship for nearly 2,000 years, but because of social justice in the moral and industrial interests of workingmen.

"If the saloon can be closed in New York and Philadelphia, they can be closed in Oakland."

The conference closed with the singing of "America."

THE SILVER STRUGGLE.

Senator Warren Says That the Republicans Must Stand Together.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 8.—United States Senator Francis E. Warren, who has returned from Washington, says he believes the only hope for silver is in a fight within the Republican party lines.

Questioned as to what the Republican party of Wyoming would probably do if the national organization declared against the white metal, he said that there was little use of any one or several States antagonizing the national organization on any subject whatever.

Asked to what he himself would do in case his party definitely arrayed itself against silver, the Senator said that he thought that he could do more good for silver within his party ranks than he could do without them.

Senator Warren was elected to succeed Senator Carey by the Republican party of Wyoming solely on the issue that Mr. Warren was an aggressive silver man, while Mr. Carey was equally aggressive as a gold advocate.

LOOKING FOR SUNRISE.

A Schooner Whose Absence Is Creating Much Alarm.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—The schooner Sunrise, which left Alpena for Chicago three weeks ago, has not been heard from since that time, and there are many inquiries daily around the lumber market from people who are interested in it, or who have relatives abroad.

The Sunrise passed the Straits of Mackinac long before the gale of a week ago, and should have been in port within a week after that time.

Schooners that left Alpena after the Sunrise did are all right.

The schooner was commanded by Captain Duncan Buchanan, who is known as a skilful mariner.

SMUGGLING SCHOONERS.

A Fleet of Pirates Are Plying in the Vicinity of St. Johns.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Oct. 8.—The government is taking steps to prosecute the smugglers whose traffic extends half round the islands.

The steamer Iona was despatched to Placentia Bay to seize a number of schooners whose men are implicated in the smuggling and against whom the customs department has sufficient evidence to secure a conviction.

The board of revenue is having a controversy with the government press over the proper course to be pursued toward persons charged with smuggling.

It is said that Ouida never shakes hands. She declares it to be the most vulgar form of salutation. As soon as she enters a room she makes for a seat. Once seated she will not move until she takes her leave. Anyone who wishes to meet her must play Mohamet to her mountain. No matter who it be, she never rises or changes her position.
